If you are looking for today's best home buy, let the Gold Medallion help you

In so many ways the Gold Medallion is a symbol of value. Value that is measured in dollars. And value that is measured in human comfort, convenience, pleasure, peace of mind. A symbol of values that are seen, and other values that are hidden from the casual house hunter's eye.

Values such as flameless electric heat that is so even, clean, draft-free. Matchless electric cooking and water heating, too.

The value of full housepower wiring. Plenty of outlets where you need them to use all of your electric servants, now and in the future, and an electric system that is big enough to deliver plenty of power to run them.

The value of full insulation that helps you two ways.

It keeps heat inside in winter, lets you air condition more economically in summer.

In a Gold Medallion home you'll need just one source of energy—flameless electricity. CP&L's rate for all-electric homes has been reduced four times since 1960. Matchless electric living is a bigger bargain than ever.

Whether you are looking for a big house, a middle-size house or a small one, let the Gold Medallion help you find a full measure of value.

Nicest housewarming ever  ...it's flameless!
