When New Bern's Norman Swindell takes to the field against Maine in the Tangerine classic, the East Carolina captain will be performing in his third college bowl game. No one can do better than that. North Carolina State is counting on Kinston's Tommy Watkins to give the Wolfpack basketballers much needed strength for the Atlantic Coast campaign. As a Red Devil in years past, Watkins caused the NBHS Bears considerable grief. Local fans have no trouble recalling Michigan State's Gene Washington. Gene scared University of North Carolina supporters in 1964, after the Tar Heels piled up a 21-0 lead. His pass catching narrowed the final margin to 21-15, if memory serves us correctly.

Graduation will remove twenty of this season's All-Northeastern gridgers from the High school scene. Returning for continued stardom will be Dennis Reese, an end, and Mike Baker, center, both of Kinston Red Devils.

Incidentally, there were few squawks when Greenville's Phantoms placed six players on the loop honor outfit. The Greenies were loaded with talent, but there'll be plenty of holes to plug next September.

Answering the mail: Probasketball dates back to 1898, when Philadelphia, Camden and Trenton formed a National League. . .Graham McNamee was the first commentator to broadcast a New Year bowl game. He aired the 1927 Rose Bowl contest between Stanford and Alabama, and it was the first coast to coast program of any type.

Boxing's low ebb was emphasized locally by lack of interest in the Cassius Clay-Floyd Patterson fight. Can you imagine apathy of this sort ever occurring in the good old days when Dempsey, Louis and Marciano gave the cash customers something of value?

Give Clay credit for one worthwhile achievement. He got rid of Sonny Liston.

lina's traffic fatalities for a period one-sixth that long.

This editor covered his first hurricane in 1933, and the big blow snuffed out 22 lives along the North Carolina coast. No less than 21 of the vicious storms occurred that year, setting a record that still stands.

No one knows for sure the strongest winds ever generated by a hurricane, but experts, basing their estimate on damage done, place the velocity as high as 200 miles.

In one hour, an average hurricane releases energy equal to the electric power generated in the United States during an entire year.
