

The NEW BERN MIRROR

PUBLISHED WEEKLY
IN THE HEART OF
WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA
NE-Craven Library
311 E. Front St.
New Bern, NC 28560

VOLUME 10

NEW BERN, N. C., FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1967

NUMBER 11

Thumb through the names in New Bern's telephone directory, and you'll find Carpenters, Painters and Masons to help you build a House. It can be Wood, Block or a Brickhouse, and if your sense of humor calls for it, you can even have a Laughinghouse.

There is Land to erect it on, and you have your choice of Hills and Meadows for the location, or a Field with a Lane running through it. You probably don't want such a spot, but you can choose a Marsh if you so desire.

In the event you're planning a large estate, the telephone directory will furnish you Brooks, and since Brooks should include fish you can have either Herring or Bass, or both.

This sounds like a pretty good Deal. Of course, you'll want a Garden and a Gardner, unless you want to try your hand at it. You'll have to shell out a lot of money, but there are plenty of Banks in the directory, and to protect your investment you'll need a reliable insurance carrier.

A House needs walls and halls, if it is going to be an honest to goodness mansion, but don't worry, they're in the phone book. Don't overlook the need for a cook in the kitchen, and speaking of the kitchen, you can't do without a sink.

Make sure that the Cook you hire is a good Baker, especially when it comes to Berry pies, including Cherry. It will help too if she can start your Day off right with a perfect cup of coffee.

Maybe you don't like coffee. In that event, contact one of the Brewers in the directory, and order a Case to satisfy your thirst. Incidentally, keep your kitchen clean, or you'll see a Roach bob up much too frequently.

You'll want an open fireplace, so you can watch Sparks fly up the chimney when there is Snow, and flames Dance on glowing logs. With a home this inviting, friends are apt to ring your bell often. If they don't come calling, get yourself a Parrott for company.

Treat him kindly, so he won't register his disgust by going into a Huff. You can avoid this kind of unpleasantness by keeping things on an even Keel. If worse comes to worse, give the Parrott a Belt or two from that Case you ordered from the Brewer. This will bring him out of his shell.

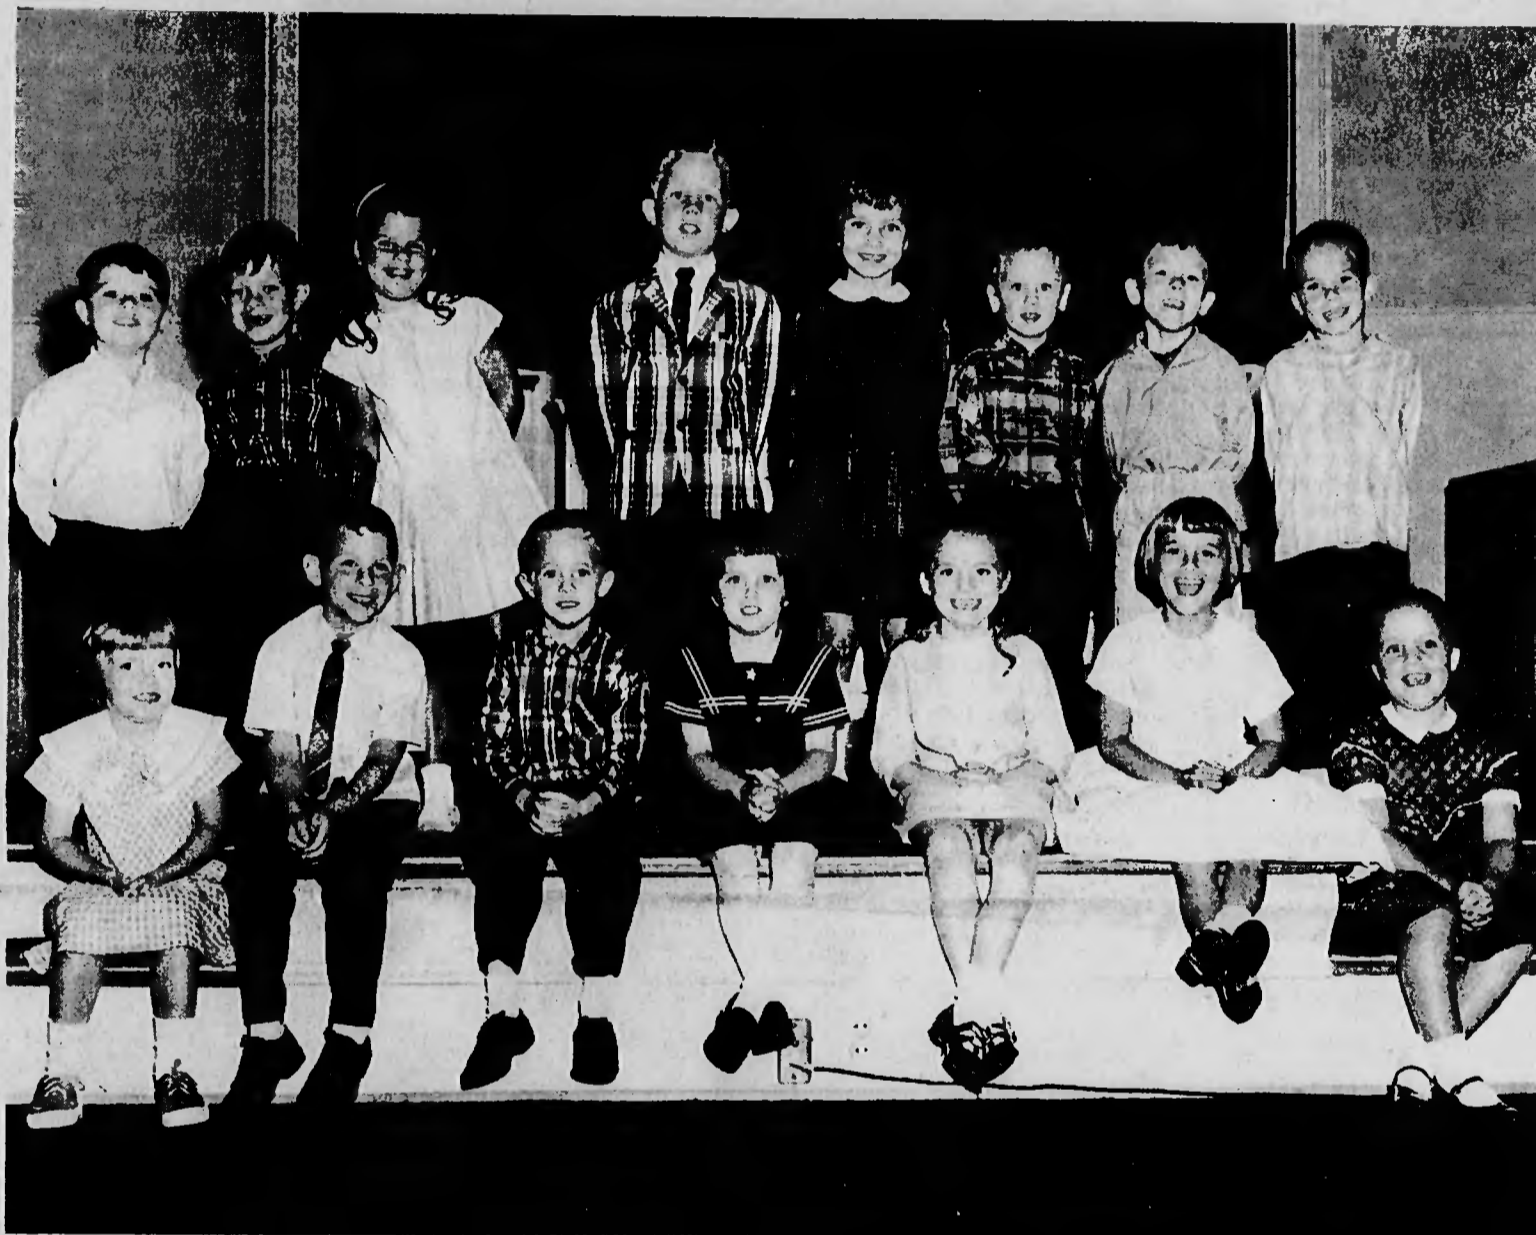

On the other Hand, if friends do swarm your place, you may want to open up a Canteen, and have admission by Card only. Otherwise, it might make quite a Dent in your pocketbook.

No matter what kind of House you build, we hope you live like a King. We wish for you a Lamb in your Meadows, a Rose in your Garden, a Martin in your small bird box, and an Eagle in your big one.

If yours is to be a honeymoon House, may your better half remain your Valentine long after the Rice thrown at your wedding has crumbled to dust. All this we wish for you, right out of the New Bern telephone directory.

New Bern's squirrels, especially this year's new crop, seem to have been befuddled by

(Continued on page 2)

SUNNY GATHERING—Youngsters who attended the New Bern Christian Day School at Ruth's Chapel Free Will Baptist Church this year were a cheerful lot. John R. Baxter, veteran New Bern photographer, quickly discovered this the moment he arrived to snap their class picture. If you love the smiles of happy children, and who doesn't, you'll get a bang out of studying the expressions seen here. Mrs. Louise Terry is the teacher, and a good one. Ruth's Chapel, for those who may not know, is located on Oaks Road. The modern brick edifice, built a number of years ago to replace a smaller one of frame construction that stood in Woodrow Place, was inspired by the enthusiasm of the congregation's youthful pastor, the Rev. A. L. (Bud) Hines. Bud, and that's what everybody calls him, is one of New Bern's most active ministers. His church has demonstrated its ability to make projects succeed, and the Christian Day School is an excellent example. Front row, left to right, Pamela Purifoy, Keith Hines, Leroy Moore, Donna Hawkins, Amy Lawrence, Lisa Thomas and Kim Carawon. Back row, left to right, Ricky Toler, Tommy White, Beverly Collins, Dale Hedman, Melinda Rowe, Randy Collins, Stephen Dixon and Craig Martin.

Again We Remind You:

PLEASE DRIVE CAREFULLY WHILE KIDS IN TOWN AND COUNTRY

ARE ENJOYING SUMMER VACATION