Tangerines Are Traditional for Xmas Holidays

Fresh tangerines are traditionally part of the holiday festivities. And the U. S. Consumer and Marketing Service says there's plenty around for stuffing stockings and for just plain good eating.

When shopping for tangerines, your best sign of fresh, mature, good-flavored fruit is a deep yellow or orange color and a bright luster. Because of the typically loose nature of the tangerine skin, they frequently won't feel firm to the touch.

Avoid pale yellow or greenish tangerines, which are likely to be lacking in flavor (although small green areas on otherwise high-colored fruits are not bad). Also avoid tangerines with cut or punctured skins or very soft spots—signs of decay, which spreads rapidly.

When refrigerating tangerines, keep them covered.

MAY DEEP AND ABIDING JOY BE HIS GIFT TO YOU AND YOUR FAMILY THIS CHRISTMAS.
