MIRROR MORSELS

There is no adequate defense, except stupidity, against the impact of a new idea.--Percy Williams Bradgman.

There is no readier way for a man to bring his own worth into question than by endeavoring to detract from the worth of other men.--John Tillotson.

We have nothing to fear when Love is at the helm of thought, but everything to enjoy on earth and in heaven.--Mary Baker Eddy.

God has given us tongue that we may say something pleasant to our fellow men.--Heinrich Heine.

It is ideas, not vested interests, which are dangerous for good or evil.--John Maynard Keynes.

The men who are really busiest have the most leisure for everything.--James Payn.

The soul, secured in her existence, smiles at the drawn dagger, and defies its point.--Joseph Addison.
