IN NEW BERN TODAY

New Bern teen agers can render a real service to our city by learning the answers to questions most often asked by tourists. We are often approached for information by out of towners, as you well know. A survey by travel experts shows that these are the usual queries, so let's try to be well versed on these subjects:

1. How did your town get its name?
  2. What is the population of your town?
  3. Where is the Chamber of Commerce located?
  4. Where is your postoffice?
  5. Are there colleges in your area? Where located?
  6. Where is the library? What historical points are to be seen here?
  7. Where is an attractive place for a picnic?
  8. What is the altitude of your area?
  9. Can I go fishing and swimming here? Where?
  10. We can only stay here a day or so, what do you recommend to see or do?
  11. Do you have any service clubs? Which ones?
  12. Are there any detours or road hazards on the highways leaving here?
  13. What flowers can I get some pictures of now?
  14. Where can we go to play golf while we're here?
  15. Where will I find tourist information?
  16. Are there any parks or resort areas nearby? What are accommodations?
  17. What churches do you have here?
  18. Where can I find a good hotel or motor court?
  19. Where can I get some food in a good, clean, restaurant?
  20. Where can I find a doctor? Hospital?
- Let's know the answers when we're asked.

United States of America." Such a treaty of peace was never signed.

The bills carried a wide variety of illustration. Yours may have pictured Confederate President Jefferson Davis, Vice-President Alexander H. Stephens, or a couple of cabinet members, Judah P. Benjamin and R. M. T. Hunter. And it's also possible that the engraving features a likeness of George Washington, Andrew Jackson, John C. Calhoun, Ceres (goddess of vegetation), some other mythological character, or a cotton field.

Following the War Between the States, there were thousands of Confederate "Blue Backs" scattered in home and businesses around New Bern. How many remain in existence is anybody's guess. Because they were plentiful, and worthless, many of them were discarded during the bitter Reconstruction days, and others were simply misplaced and lost with the passing of years.

If there's a moral to this, it's the inevitable fact that almost everything becomes valuable when kept long enough to become a scarce item. For example, countless old letters have been thrown away here that carried stamps and considered priceless today. Maybe you didn't toss them in the trash during a housecleaning session, but if you didn't, your parents or
