High Winds Hit Vanceboro Area

Weyerhaeuser

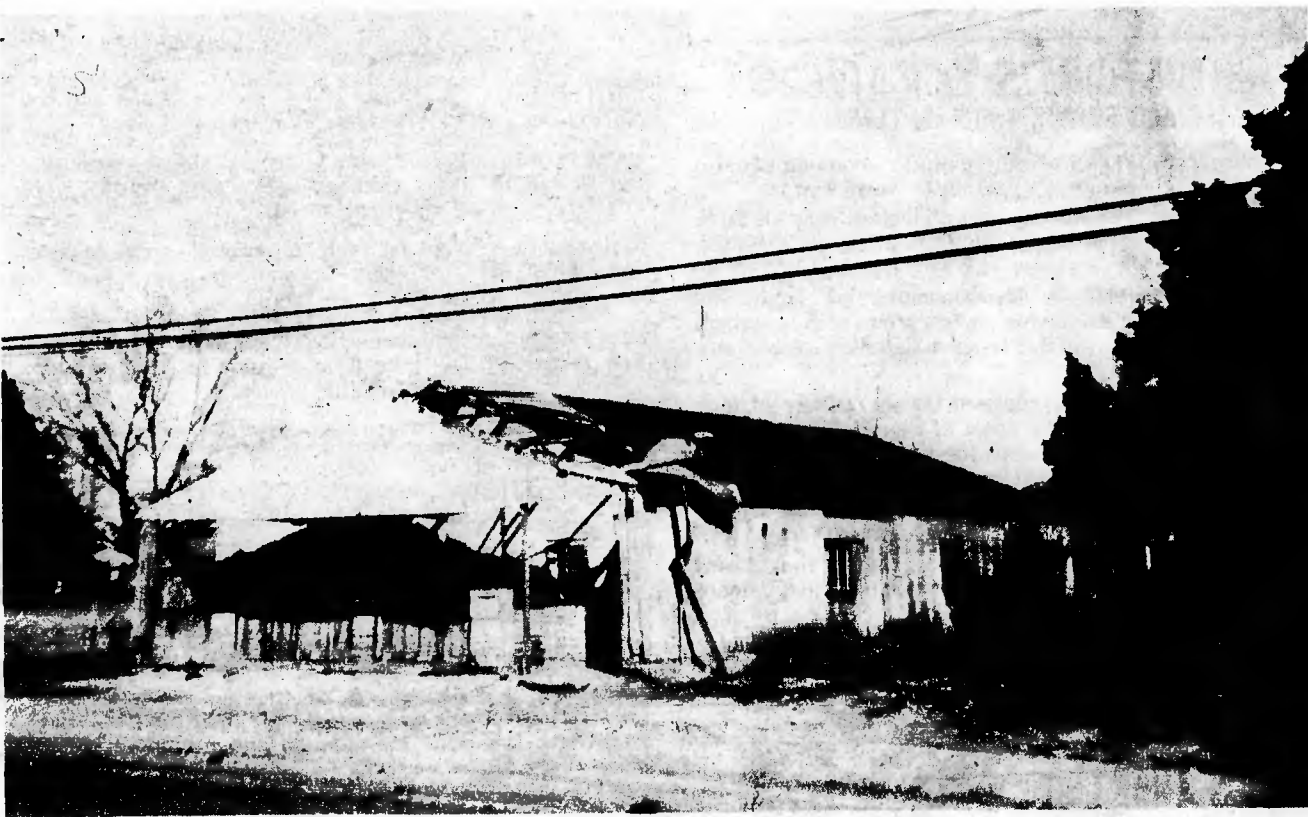

Receives Aviation Award

WASHINGTON, N. C. — Weyerhaeuser Company recently received three aviation safety awards. The National Business Aircraft Association elected to recognize the company with an award for having flown over 11 million consecutive aircraft miles without accident involving damage to property or injury to persons. This record included mileage flown by both airplanes and helicopters.

In recognizing the key role played by aircraft maintenance in accomplishing this outstanding safety record, the NBAA chose to present the Weyerhaeuser Company maintenance personnel with an additional safety award.

In addition to the two awards by the National Business Aircraft Association, the Helicopter Association of America gave recognition to the company's outstanding safety record in flying approximately 30,000 hours in helicopters without accident.

High winds caused extensive damage in the Vanceboro area last week. Mr. Kay Stewart watched as the wind ripped sheets of tin from the roof of the garage where he worked for over 50 years. Damage was estimated at over $200.

High winds knocked this sign down in front of Peterson's Phillips 66 Service Station on Main Street.

Employees at the Vanceboro, N.C. Plant of New Bern Oil & Fertilizer Company arrived at work last Friday to find the elevator leg which carries grain to the tank, leaning due to a broken guy line support caused by heavy winds. Manager William Haddock estimated the damage at over $10,000.
