Scouts Enjoy Camporee

Several thousand Boy Scouts from East Carolina Council and leaders gathered at Camp Bonner North for a weekend of camping, cooking, knot tying, and competition. The weather was perfect for a weekend of competition.

Friday afternoon, Keith Cannon, a former Eagle Scout, took the Leadership Corps, Stacy Lee, Michael Hodges, and Jerry Morris to camp to prepare the camp site for Troop 58. They prepared the gateway, raised the big tent and made preparation for the arrival of the troop.

Upon arrival the patrols were inspected for correct uniforms and this started their weekend of point collecting toward a blue ribbon. Both patrols spent all day Saturday making the trip to the area activity fields to perform in the contests which would give them more points toward the blue ribbon. Both patrols earned a blue ribbon. Blazing Arrow Patrol included the following: Keith Morris, P. L.; Allen Thomas, Eddie Jordan, Kendall Gaskins, Edward Hoell; and Crow Patrol was represented by Stacey Patterson, P. L.; Doug Lee, Jay Gaskins, and Brad White.

Clyde Hodges, Richard Bowers, and Wayne Taylor were the Leaders for Troop 58 during the Camporee.

West Craven DECA Represented in Asheville

Last weekend West Craven Distributive Education was represented at State Leadership Conference in Asheville by Shelton Smith and Denise Morgan. Both of these students were voting delegates. Their job was to help elect state officers for the 1982-83 school year.

During the weekend the students were busy taking written tests, taking performance tests, attending briefing meetings, dances, and just doing a bit of sightseeing.

The students gained much experience at the conference. They made new friends and will remember all the exciting times that go with of this type. They will also remember the disappointment of losing and the thrill of being a winner of a contest. It was all experienced at last weekend's DECA State Leadership Conference.

Mr. Richard Cannon is the advisor for the West Craven High DECA Chapter. He has been assisted recently by Miss Jandra Crawford, student teacher from East Carolina University.
