Graduation time is arriving for many young people throughout North Carolina. The senior Class of West Craven High School is looking forward to the great march on Friday night at 8:00 p. m. This week will probably seem long to them after being in school for twelve years. Most of them have high hopes to make a new start in life.

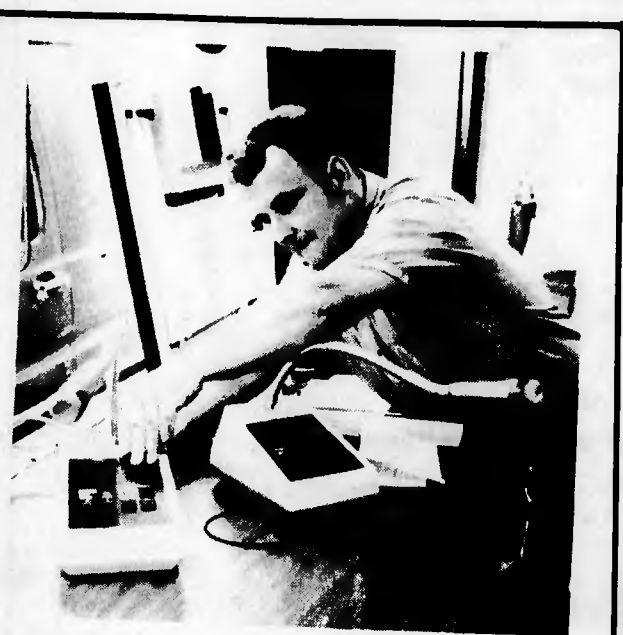

Such possibilities include jobs, college, Army, Navy, marriage, and all areas of seeking a fortune. These students come from many communities of Craven County and much credit is due to parents and teachers who helped them reach that avaricious goal. Hats off to all the graduates!

Sorry, the news did not reach the press in time last week, and the holiday was just in time for a break in the regular routine of business.

Keep on reading--there was lots of news from our neighbors.

FINAL TOUCHES—Installer Tom Kropp of Ayden does a testing 1-2-3 on the latest in drive-up window microphones installed at the new Wachovia Bank building in Vanceboro. The audio switcher allows a teller to talk with customers in either lane. Bank Official James E. Pepper says the ribbon cutting is planned for June 21st with Open House following on June 23rd.

Reception Given

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Edwards of Rt. 2, Vanceboro were given a reception in honor of their 25th Wedding Anniversary, May 29, 1982 by their children at the Juniper Chapel Fellowship Hall.

Hostesses were Mrs. Chris (Sarah) Matthews, Mrs. Greg (Sandra) Latham and Miss Paula Michelle Edwards.

The refreshment table was covered with a pink and white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. At one end of the table was a three-tiered wedding cake topped with the numerical 25.

Refreshments of mints, pecans, poly wogs, sugar-plum balls, potato chips with dip, wedding cake and fruit punch were served.

The couple was presented a shower of gifts by the many guests and hostesses.

Squeaky Floors Can Be Repaired

By CHRIS TIEDEMANN
N. C. State University

Squeaky floors in your home may be caused by sagging joists, which have become crooked after drying completely.

But, according to Dr. Glenda Herman, extension housing specialist at North Carolina State University, there are several solutions to this problem.

Two solutions involving the joists are to place 1 x 4 inch strips snugly against the bottom of the subfloor, nailed to the floor joists or to use wooden wedges driven between the subfloor and the top of the floor joists.

"A third solution may be the use of screws which are driven from the bottom side of the floor or crawl space through the subfloor into the finished floor," Dr. Herman says. This is possible only where the underside of the floor is accessible.

Another common procedure for correcting squeaking is to drive a nail through the face of the flooring into the subfloor, preferably into the floor joist. Drive the nail near the tongue edge of the flooring strip, then set and fill the hole.
