Chandler, Effie Russell Wood, Elizabeth Simpson Brown, Alice Skinner Lane, Johnnie Daly McCoy, Helmut Treschan, Johnny Kilpatrick, James Civils, Ann Cox Register, Harvey "Cricket" Heath, Jr., Bruce C. Carawon, Burney Hawkins, and Bill Moore. Those not in attendance were L.C. Conway, Nat DeBruhl, Joyce Hagan Harris, and Nancy Register Wooten. One member of the class is deceased, Richard Calharen.

Becky Chandler acted as master of ceremonies. After a delicious evening meal, she took them on a journey through their school years recalling some of the incidents that happened. One of the students recalled that she got her first "B" in the seventh grade and cried for a week. Another piped up and said "I got my first "B" in the seventh grade and my whole family was happy for a week."

The students are now settled in Florida, South Carolina, Raleigh, N.C., Wilmington, N.C., New Bern, N.C., Cove City and Vanceboro, N.C.

Thanks goes to all who were instrumental in getting the 25th Reunion of Jasper's 1959 Senior Class together and a special thanks to Burney Hawkins, Harry Heath, and Walter Register for getting up at 4 a.m. and cooking a pig for the occasion.

Margaret Smith Brown, assistant editor, looks over the yearbook she helped prepare in 1959.

Classmates reminisce the good old days at Jasper High.

Operation Artreach

OPERATION ARTREACH will return again this summer. The popular summer program, sponsored by the Craven Arts Council & Gallery and the city of New Bern and the Craven County Recreation Department, features an artist at the County Day Camps throughout the county.

Our artist, Will Henson, will visit the sites giving workshops in drama, music and mime. Will, a college student, has been active with the New Bern Civic Theatre for the past several years.

The presence of an artist at these sites will give a lot of children not normally exposed to this type of activity a chance to develop their creativity.

"OPERATION ARTREACH is partially funded by a Grassroots Grant from the North Carolina Arts Council and administered by the Craven Arts Council and Gallery.

The following sites will be visited:

July 17: from 12:30-2:30 at Vanceboro Community Center.

July 19: 12:30-2:30 at James City Community Center.

July 23 - 12:30-2:30 at Riverdale - Bethel Church.

July 25 - 12:30-2:30 at Pembroke Community Center.
