Story Hour

The New Bern-Craven County Public Library will have a Christmas Bedtime Story Hour for children, Thursday night, December 20, at 7:00 p.m. There will be Christmas movies and Christmas stories. Cookies and milk will also be served! Children preschool through sixth grades are invited to attend. For more information, call the public library at 638-2127 on 400 Johnson Street, New Bern.

Vanceboro Christmas Story Time

There will be a Christmas Story Time for children at the Vanceboro-Craven County Public Library on Wednesday, December 19 at 4 p.m.

The movies, "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" and "Jack Frost" will be shown. The Christmas Story, "Christmas Time", by Gail Gibbons will be read.

All children preschool through sixth grades are invited to attend.

Sr. Citizens

United Tri-County Senior Citizens', Inc. will sponsor its annual pre-Christmas Program and Dinner for the Tri-County (Craven, Jones and Pamlico) Senior Citizens. The program will begin at 11 a.m. on Thursday, December 20th, 1984 at the George Street Senior Citizen Center, New Bern, North Carolina. Senior Citizens will receive a hot ham dinner with the trimmings. Santa Claus will pass fruit bags to all senior citizens. You are cordially invited to attend the program. Please call us at 638-3800 for reservations.

CALL THE CLASSIFIEDS

YOUR NEW ENERGY LOAD SAVER.

If you've been looking for a new, manufactured home, you may be looking at a great idea. One that could save you money, and become a great investment.

But be careful. For just as with conventional homes, energy inefficiency can turn your investment into a costly one.

CP&L's Common Sense Program makes sense for all kinds of homes, manufactured homes included. Common Sense Manufactured Homes qualify for a 5% discount from CP&L. And while homes that meet Common Sense standards may cost a bit more, you'll come out ahead with monthly energy savings for years to come.

So call CP&L before you buy. If you're shopping for a manufactured home, we can help you save a load.
