Noting The Carolina Tar Heels

CHAPEL HILL, NC—North Carolina's basketball team will have an unusual treat during the upcoming holidays—two Christmas Days in the same year.

The Tar Heels, 5-0 after last Saturday night's 79-73 victory at Wake Forest, are off to Japan this week for games against Wichita State and Arizona State in the Suntory Ball. Those games are scheduled for Dec. 21 and 23 in Osaka and Tokyo.

After spending Christmas Day in Tokyo, the Carolina team will then leave Japan at 10 p.m. for Honolulu. The Tar Heels will arrive in Hawaii at 9 a.m.—on Christmas Day! The time change thus gives Carolina two Christmases.

In Honolulu, the Tar Heels will face Hawaii Pacific in the Hawaii Pacific Invitational Tournament with Arizona and Missouri playing in the other opening-round game.

THE SUNTORY MATCHUPS

Carolina will play Wichita State and Arizona State in the Suntory Ball in Japan this week.

The Tar Heels will face the Shockers at Osaka's Jo Hall at 7 p.m. Friday. That's 5 a.m. in North Carolina. Then on Sunday, it's Carolina versus Arizona State at Aoyama University Hall in Tokyo. That game is scheduled for 12:30 p.m., which would be 10:30 p.m. on Saturday back in Chapel Hill.

Despite the 14-hour time difference both games will be broadcast live on the Tar Heel Sports Network.

Wichita State, a pre-season Top 30 team, features 6-8 forward Xavier McDaniel. McDaniel led the nation in rebounding as a sophomore two years ago with a 14.4 average. He was third nationally last season with a 13.1 mark and also averaged 20.6 points a game.

Arizona State finished fifth in the Pac-10 last year and returns three fine sophomore guards from that team. The Sun Devils have also been helped by the addition of six newcomers, including 6-10 junior college transfer Jon Taylor and 6-7 freshman Chris Sandle.

BACK TO HONOLULU

When North Carolina takes part in the Hawaii Pacific Invitational later this month at Honolulu, the Tar Heels will be making their fourth appearance in Hawaii since 1972.

On their earlier trips Carolina won the Rainbow Classic in 1972, 1977 and 1982.

MICHAEL AND SAM WERE THE BEST

Michael Jordan and Sam Perkins, University of North Carolina All-Americans last year, have been named Sportsmen of the Year by ABAUSA, the governing body of amateur basketball in the United States.

Jordan and Perkins were co-captains of last summer's U.S. Olympic Team which swept the Gold Medal in Los Angeles. Jordan was twice National Player of the Year in his three years at Carolina. After getting advice from Tar Heel Coach Dean Smith, he gave up his final year of eligibility and is now one of the biggest stars in the NBA.

Perkins was a three-time first-team All America at Carolina. He is the leading rebounder and second-leading scorer in school history.

The announcement of their selection was made by the U.S. Olympic Committee. Cheryl Miller of Southern California was named Sportswoman of the Year in Basketball.
