Bowen and Nickki Sexton. His offense and defensive goals are simple.

"On offense, we'll get it and go — under control," he says. "On defense, we'll put as much pressure on the ball as possible."

SWAN QUARTER — Perhaps Jim Bennington, the first-year girls' head coach of the Mattamuskeet girls, echoes the sentiments of the three other football coaches who are coaching girls' hoop squads this year in the TBC.

"They're teaching me patience," Bennington says. Bennington says he loves coaching basketball and has found the biggest thrill is seeing an idea sink in.

"I love to teach the fundamentals," he says. "I see them look at something and say 'I can't do that' and then an hour later, they're doing it."

"We don't want silly turnovers to hurt us," he says. "We want to fast break on offense, if possible. We want to beat the defense down the floor as we want to play under control and not throw the ball around."

"Defensively, we're going to work on rebounding. We don't want opponents getting second and third shots. We're learning new things, like the man-to-man defense. We won't play it a lot this year but we will in years to come. We're going to pressure the ball — even out of the zone defense."
