

West Craven Highlights News From Along The Banks Of The Neuse

VOLUME 12 NO. 33

AUGUST 24, 1989

PHONE 244-0780 OR 946-: 144 VANCEBORO, NORTH CAROLINA (UPSP 412.110)

Campbell Soups Up State's D

By Mo Krochmal orts Editor

RALEIGH — Lest year, as a redshirt freshman at North Car-olina State, Vanceboro's Jesse Campbell became a star with his uncanny ability to make big plays defensively. Five times in Atlantic Coast Con-Five times in Atlantic Coast Con-ference games, Campbell came up with key interceptions. At the end of the year, the press was touting Campbell as a potential first-round draft pick in the NFL — two years before he would officially become eligible for the draft. Campbell finished the season as the Wolfrack's leading tackler and the Wolfpack's leading tackler and led the team in five of eight defenled the team in five of eight defen-sive categories. Heady stuff for a fella who made his mark as a standout rusher at West Craven High School. In his se-nior year, Campbell rushed for more than 1,400 yards and scored 24 touchdowns. He also starred at line-backer, getting in some 100 tackles and — picking off two interceptions en route to being named an all-state performer. performer.

"Did people wonder when we put him on defense?" Buddy Green, his position coach asked at a press con-ference to kickoff the 1989 football Yea coach, people wondered a little at the start of the last season. But Campbell convinced them.

He raised some evebrows when he raised some eyebrows when he made a diving interception in the end zone to preserve State's 14-6 win over Wake Forest on a rainy Sa-turday in Raleigh. He earned ACC defensive-back-of-the-week honors for that — in just the second week of the second Folks started believing when Jesse pulled a football out of the air and ran it back 67 yards for a touch-down in State's 14-6 win on Georgia Tech. The television replays were convincing. He was named the ACC's rookie-of-the-week for that son with another end-zone interception. He pulled off a rare double, being named to the All-ACC squad and the ACC Rookie of the Year. How does he plan to follow that? "By getting better," Campbell and

Then, in the Peach Bowl game against Iowa, Jesse capped his sea-son with another end-zone

To improve, Jesse worked out hard this summer. His high school coach, Clay Jordan, said Jesse was at his door every day at 5:30 in the evening to get the keys to the weight room at the school. The keys were See CAMPBELL, Page 5

Vanceboro Wolfpacker

Wanceboro Wolfpacker West Craven High School greduste and Venceboro resident Jease Campbell (top) was named the At-lantic Coast Conference rooks of the year last year and semed sil-ACC honors, a rare double award. Campbell made a name for himself with hardnosed and timely defen-elve plays like this tackle against Virginia last year (bottom). He goes into the 1989 season as a second-year starter at North Carolina State.

promptly returned at 9:30. The four-hour workout sessions came after a full day of construction work. Campbell said he worked at Fuller Construction helping build a department store in New Bern. About the middle of the summer, Campbell returned to Raleigh for summer school and more lifting. He said his success hadn't changed the way people interacted changed the way people interacted with him - those who knew him well.

To people who know me. I'm still Jesse," he said. "To others, I kind of Jesse, he said. To others, I kind of a town hero. They come up to me and tell me how proud they are of me." Doesn't that get tiring? -"You can't get tired of that," he says with a smile. Campbell said he is aware that he can be a positive role model for

How does he plan to follow that? "By getting better," Campbell said he is aware that ne "By getting better," Campbell said. "I can be a positive role model for youngsters. "A lot of kids look up to me," he 'Not of kids look up to me," he said. "When I go home, I try to give them a good image. I try to talk to the bad ones and tell them that they the bad ones and tell them way" don't have to be that way." Campbell said he expects oppos-

Mayor Seeks An 11th Term In Vanceboro

25 CENTS

By Greg Stroud Staff Writer

The Town of Vanceboro has been erved by Maor Jimmie Morris for served by Maor Jimmie Morris for over twenty years and it seems as if the trend will continue in the next two years as Morris prepares for his eleventh two-year term. This year, Vanceboro will hold its town elections on November 7. The deadline for filing for election was August 4 and as of that date, only the mayor and the five incumbent Board of Aldermen had filed for election. lection.

Morris is proud of his time in of-Morris is proud of his time in of-fice. Among the accomplishments he and the boards under him have attained include the installation and operation of a municipal water and sever system, the building of a new town hall, the purchasing of a fire truck, allowing the town to be rated for insurance just to name a rated for insurance, just to name a few. Morris said he was also thankful the town was able to get grants for the medical center and have been able to pave all but two small sec-tions of streets within the town limits. Over the past two to three years, the town was able to have the first replacement elementary school to be built in Craven County using funds allocated by the state for school construction. Morris also cites the location of the first Fortune 500 manufacturers in Vanceboro, Parker-Hannifin, during his terms of office. Morris still has a unfulfilled vision for Vanceboro. Said Morris, "I would like now to see the town administration and elected officials work toward locating more businesses in our commun-ity. In order for this to be accom-plished, it is very important that the people of Vanceboro and surround-ing communities support our local merchants so that other businesses will want to locat here businesses will want to locate here." Morris cited several franchises Morris Cited several trainings that had expressed interest in Van-ceboro provide they could find peo-ple to run the operations and suffi-cient interest and support in the community.

See ELECTION, Page 5

Church Celebrates Pastor's First Year

By Greg Stroud Staff Writer

The Vanceboro Christian Church celebrated the end of the first year of service of Rev. Dan Hall on August 12 with a gust 13 with a guest speaker, covered-dish dinner and a singing group for entertainment.

Hall, 26, is a native of Charlotte He did his undergraduate work at Montreat-Anderson College and Greensboro College where he re-ceived a bachelor of arts degree in religion. Hall continued his minis-teriot brief and the here here lead religion. Hall continued his minis-terial training at Bethany Theologi-cal Seminary. During the past year while at Vanceboro Christian Church, Hall completed his docto-rate through the Great Commission Theological Seminary. Hall said he became a Christian five days before his 16th birthday on March 26, 1979. When he want to Nee any before any total mining of the sent to college, he knew he wanted to go into Christian work, but did not or-iginally think he would end up in the pastoral ministry. His goal in undergraduate study was to go into some gree of Christian advestion some area of Christian education. Hall began Christian work in 1982 and has been a fulltime minister for two years. Previously Hall spent one year as the pastor of Stokesdale Christian Church in Stokesdale. When asked how he felt about his

When asked now ne test about the first year at Vanceboro Christian Church, Hall said, "There have been many challenges in this first year. It has been a building year in which we have accomplished many things. We started a nursery and implemented the Children's Church program, be-gan a Young Adult Sunday School class, formed a junior youth group, and completed much work on the church grounds. We finished construction on several rooms, created a new library, and put aluminum siding on the windows." Hall said attendance had in-eased and the church has gained creased and the church has gained 15 new members. "Personally it has been a matur-ing year," said Hall. He said he felt much more settled now. "I enjoy being part of the com-munity and a member of Vanceboro Christian Church. I feel very much a part of Vancebore" part of Vanceboro. The celebration held Sunday fea-

See CHURCH, Page 5

Players Prepare For Shows At Dominic's Italian Restaurant

Dominic's Italian Restaurant is Dominic's Italian Restaurant is hosting the season opener of Ca-beret Players Inc.'s touring produc-tion of the dramatic comedy "Seas-cape with Sharks and Dancer" in dinner theater. "Seascape" opens the acting com-pany's five show, 1989-90 season with a three-week run at Dominics' near New Bern, the company's home base.

me hase

Starring in the comedy is Emily Litchfield, the title character from the acting company's production of "Agnes of God" last season. In a com-Agnes of God last season. In a com-panion role, Cabaret Players is in-troducing Micheal Giachetti as he makes his theatrical debut. Set in a beach bungalow, the show features Giachetti as Ben, the young man who lives there and who has just pulled a lost young woman, Tracy (played by Litchfield), from the ocean. He thought she was drowning, but she says she was merely "dancing with the sharks", according to director Leslie John Soon she finds herself trapped in his life and torn between her need to come to rest somewhere and her cer-tainty that all human relationships tainty that an human relationships eventually turn into nightmares. The show is, according to Lee, an officeat, wonderful love story told humorously but with a dramatic twist. The true-to-life script does contain some adult language. "Seascape" is scheduled for production with a September 8 opening at Dominics' Cabaret Room (sep-erate from the main dining room, which will remain open) and plays there Friday and Saturday nights September 8, 9,15,16,22 and 25. Dominics' chef Darrell Powers is Dominics' chef Darrell Powers is preparing a gourmet five-course dinner served en course during the show. The menu consists of a sea-food pastry puff appetizer, Scratch-etelli for for the soup, Capelli d' Angeli con Granchio (angel hair pasta with crab) for the pasta, a choice of Arrosto Farcito Agli Spi-naci (stuffed roast veal with spi-nach)or Quaglie al Vetta (quail with golden ralsin) for the entree, and chocolate mousse for dessert.

Tickets for the dinner and show are $25. The Cabaret room is open for beverage service at 6:30 p.m. fol-lowed by dinner and then curtain at about 8:15. Prepaid cash or credit card reservations may be made by calling 244-0735. The restaurant is located 10 miles north of New Bern on US 17. Next, the show moves to Cabaret Players' newest patrons, the Trawl Door in Oriental and the Galley Stack Restaurant.

The show was cast after highly the snow was cast atter highly successful season auditions that drew a dozen experienced actors from Greenville, Jacksonville, Morehead City, Beaufort and New

See CABARET, Page 5

Eagles Look Sharp During Scrimmage

By Greg Stroud Staff Writer

While a scrimmage game has no winners or losers, the West Craven Eagles showed an impressive sense of control during the first half of last night's home scrimmage against non-conference East Carteret. West Craven entered the end zone four times while East Carteret visited it once.

In the second half, the Mariners made remarkable defensive im-provements and did not allow the bell near the end zone. Neither did West Craven. West Craven's Kip Bryan played an outstanding game, scoring one touchdown on a pass reception and one on an interception. Junior Lee Becton, a Washington

Junior Lee Decton, a wasnington Daily News all-area selection last year, scored West Craven's first touchdown, rambling 16 yards. Craig Coward also ran the ball into the end zone for West Craven.

"It was like any scrimmage. We had bright spots and not so-bright spots. Offensively, we're not en-tirely new. We did some things real well," said West Craven coach Clay Jordan.

"Our major concern with our de-fense was that a lot of last year's players did not come back. We did real well, considering. Overall, I was real pleased with everyone's Performance." Probably the most impressive play of the game was made by East Carteret's Terry Johnson on the first play of the scrimmage. Johnson took a handoff and ran the ball more took a nandom and ran the ball more than 40 yards for a touchdown. "I was very proud of our guys. They came back well after a hor-rendous first half," said East Car-teret coach Tom Frazier.

They showed nervousness dur-ing the first half. They couldn't exe-cute, couldn't block. They couldn't

See EAGLES, Page 5

Gold medalists

Susan Jewell and Tyrone Moore both received first-place medals in contests at the Future Homemakers of America annual national contest held this year in Ana heim, Calif. Miss Jewell is a rising sophomore and Moore is a graduate of West Craven High School. Miss Jewell competed in the job application and interview event and Moore participated in food service contests.

Becton, Eagles No Fluke

By Mike Voss

Tomorrow night Lee Becton sets out to prove his success last season out to prove his success last season on the gridiron was not a fluke. Last year as a sophomore, the West Craven High School running back lead the Coastal Conference in rushing as he picked up 1,197 yards and rushed for 10 touchdowns. He and rushed for 10 touchdowns. He averaged 7.4 yards a carry on his way to being being named a member of the Washington Daily News All-Area Team. Becton was also men-tioned in the USA Today prep honor roll. Becton also snared two passes for touchdowns and four-two point conversion conversions.

Becton was late for pre-season practice this year. But he had a pretty good excuse. He was in

See BECTON, Page 5