

CAMPUS NOTES

Judging from the plans that are being made for the Underclassmen dance, it seems certain that the night of February the eighteenth will be a gala occasion. Committees have been appointed as follows: Honey Peck, Mary Kistler, Sara Nair, and Gray Woodard, Decorations; Toddy Boykin, Becky Lockwood, Fiquet Pate, and Sue Joyner, Orchestra; Virginia Manning, Peggy Wright, Sara Sutton, and Octavia McRae, Refreshments; and Wycliff Allen, Mary White, Mary Alice Hoover, and Susan Baker, Bids. In addition to the two bids allowed to every girl, town boys will be invited.

At the monthly meeting of the Y. P. S. L. Gray Woodard presented a program which included two songs, "A Christmas Song" (O Holy Night) and "The Lord Is My Light," sung by Miss Wilburta Horn, accompanied by Miss Ruth Scott, and an inspiring talk by the Rev. Kenneth Cameron.

GYM NOTES

It is high time that the ping-pong tournament is finished. With so many good players there should be some interesting matches.

In the rhythm classes there is a race on to see who can make the best scrapbook of rhythm pictures. It'll be a fast race, for scrapbooks are easy and fun to make.

* * *

All people who can swim are urged to come to Advanced Swimming from five to six on Tuesdays. There is a chance for the Sigma's and Mu's really to show some team spirit by passing off their swimming tests and practicing for the swimming meet. It is astonishing how these few extra points will pull up the team's score.

Basketball started in class last week and will be put into extra-curricular activities soon.

* * *

Tumbling started in class on Thursday from five to six. All girls who are new to the sport of tumbling should come next time and join the fun.

* * *

Final score in the kickball games: The Sigma's second team beat the Mu's in a close game, 4 to 3. The Mu's first team won over the Sigma's, 18 to 0.

NOTE: There is a schedule of gym work on the bulletin board so that no one can have an excuse for not coming regularly.

LIBRARY DATA

Seventeen members of the class in library book selection from the School of Library Science at the University of North Carolina spent a little over an hour in our library last Tuesday afternoon. They came principally to learn our methods of book selection and were accompanied by their instructor, Miss Alice Louise LeFevre.

A large shipment of books bought with some more of our Carnegie money has just come in. They are now being stamped and readied for the shelves. So look for them any day now! Just a glance today showed some good ones!

ALUMNÆ NEWS

Christmas and news! Several girls who were here last year arrived in time for the Christmas Pageant and for the party afterwards. Surprised and excited, we welcomed: Patsy Jones, Ann Shook, Louise Jordan, Sylvia Cullum, Doris Goerch, Mary Anne Koonce, Alexa McCall, Sallie MacNider, and Mrs. Willis Farmer (Metta Philips). During the party we received a telegram from Mary Louise Riddick, the President of Saint Mary's Student Body last year, wishing a Merry Christmas to everyone, and her regrets because she was unable to be here with us.

News from the holidays! The marriage of Miss Betty Scott, Graham, N. C., to Mr. William McKensie, Rockingham, N. C., took place at her home in Graham on the afternoon of December 27. Miss Tootsie Martin was the maid-of-honor, and Misses Clara Bond Anderson and Virginia Worth acted as two of the bridesmaids. Miss Letty Gaither was also present.

Congratulations to Kay Fleming! Kay, who graduated from Saint Mary's in '37 and who is now a Senior at Carolina, has recently made the "Who's Who" for outstanding college students.

On January 3, Ann Lynch, '38, and Mildred Pittenger, '37, were here for a short visit. While here, Ann, who was quite an outstanding art student last year, posed for one of Miss Harris' afternoon classes. Regrettably, the class will have to finish without their model.

Becky Norman and Mary Galt Williamson stopped by on January 4, just before returning to school after the holidays (Randolph-Macon).

Lib Parham, '37, who has been visiting her uncle in Raleigh, came out to Saint Mary's January 5.

Saturday night, January 7, Olive Cruikshank arrived from Carolina to spend the week-end with her mother. She brought as her guests Connie Thigpen, "Tinger" Virginia Bower, '37, and two other friends.

TOWN GIRLS GAB

Effects of the holidays have worn off and the day students are back at school, more anxious than ever to begin studying for those semester exams which take place in a few weeks. It's going to be difficult to settle down for the academic grind after loafing for a while.

About the first Saint Mary's extra-curricular activity which the town girls participated in was the final play-off between the Sigma's and Mu's for the kickball tournament. We saw Ann Christian, who, by the way, is certainly good for catching flies, Dixie French, Emily Schenck, Hixie Davis, Carol Swart and Sue Berry.

From scattered remarks heard around the day student's room, there will be many of the local gals out for basketball practice. Miss Harvey is mighty popular with the girls and she is going to see a lot of them this year.

Miss Davis sent the day students a very nice note, thanking them for the gift for Christmas. She has been awfully thoughtful about inviting the town girls to lunch and all, so that they might get better acquainted with the boarders.

We're proud of Sheppy Quintard for her recent admission to the Order of the Circle. The most outstanding girls of the school are always members of this organization and for one of our Raleigh girls to receive an invitation, it's really quite an honor. Congratulations, Sheppy!
