

That night in Greensboro at the Woman's College Miss Horn sang a group of eight songs by Jan Phillip Schinhan under the sponsorship of the Euterpe Club. Miss Horn also sang at Duke at a dinner of the Symposium on Woman and Contemporary Life. In connection with this same Symposium, she also sang in the Duke Chapel on Palm Sunday, her selection being Hear Ye Israel from Mendelssohn's Elijah. Saturday the first of April Miss Horn will be a judge of the preliminary voice contest of the National Federation of Women's Clubs at the High School.

The Raleigh String Quartet, accompanied by Miss Mary Ruth Haig, will play the Piano Quintet by Cesar Franck at Meredith College the fourth of April. They will also give a performance at Saint Mary's the tenth.

Saint Mary's girls formed a large part of the audience that greeted the appearance of Nelson Eddy on the stage of the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium on March 24. The handsome blond singer presented a program composed of German, French, Italian, and English songs, and ended with Ah Sweet Mystery of Life as his last encore.

FIRST VICE PRESIDENT ELECTED

Before Spring Holidays when Sara Bell, Helen Kendrick, and Elizabeth Tucker were nominees for the first vice president of next year's student body, Elizabeth won the election and was applauded in the dining room the night after Mary Helen Rodman's triumph. "Tibby," succeeding Sarah Sawyer as first vice president, will be in charge of the Orientation of the New Girls next year, and will also be chairman of the Constitution Committee.

CAMPUS NOTES

Dr. Wells, Professor of Botany at State College, presented, on Monday night, a lecture, illustrated with slides, on "The Curiosities of North Carolina." These curiosities consist of a wide diversity of beautiful plants and trees found in Western North Carolina and on the coastal plain. Dr. Wells emphasized the fact that North Carolina has many types of vegetation and told interesting stories concerning various plants. Of particular interest to the audience were the incidents of his original discoveries.

The order of services for Holy Week and Easter Day have been announced by Mr. Kloman as follows:

During Holy Week, twilight services will be held on Monday, Tuesday, and Good Friday evenings immediately after dinner. The regular chapel services will be held on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday mornings. On Wednesday afternoon at 5:45, the Reverend David Yates, of Durham, will speak in Saint Mary's Chapel. On Maundy Thursday there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 9:00 p.m., commemorating the night in which Jesus instituted our Lord's Supper. On Good Friday there will be a chapel service at 10:00 a.m. On Easter Day there will be three services: (1) A celebration of the Holy Communion at 8:00 a.m. at which all students are requested to wear white; (2) church service at 11:00 a.m.; and (3) chapel service at 5:30 p.m.

The Reverend Reginald Mallot, a native of North Carolina but who now has Grace Church and St. Peter's Church in Baltimore, was the visiting minister at Saint Mary's Chapel last Wednesday evening.

This Wednesday the guest minister will be the Very Reverend Elwood Haines, Dean of the Cathedral at Louisville, Kentucky.

TOWN GIRLS' GAB

Spring vacation is a thing of the past now and the day students are settling down to a little serious concentration on studies.

Two day students who are interested in athletics at Saint Mary's were elected captains of the Sigma and Mu basketball teams: Hixie Mae Davis and Ann Christian; and both girls played in the tournament between the two societies. We also saw Virginia Lee Wooten, Betty Sexton, Sue Berry, and other Raleigh girls on the list of first string players.

Local belles are vitally interested in plans for the May Day exercises. From remarks gathered among the girls, they all wish to take part in some phase of the pageant. And three of our loveliest day students were selected to be in the May Court. Congratulations to Frances Moore, Julia Vinson, and Dixie French!

The radio presentation of "Patience" by the Glee Club was very outstanding recently. The apparent quality and training of the girls' voices was commented upon by the students who listened to the broadcast. Mary Watson Prince and Katherine Goold were two of the town girls in the group.

It was pleasant to learn of the Dramatic Club's success in Chapel Hill. Mary Elizabeth Nash took part in the production.

ALUMNÆ NEWS

Connie Fagan visited Saint Mary's on March 11.

Also, before Spring Holidays, on March 6, Sallie MacNider and Caroline Miller were here bustling around to see everyone.

Louise Partrick spent her holidays from Sweet Briar with her mother in Raleigh.

Hunt Hardinge and Betsy Thomas were in a fashion show at the Maryland Institute the week of March 21-25, modeling dresses of their own design.

Margaret Crenshaw, Ann Dawson, and Becky Norman were here on March 23. Margaret also spent last week-end with us (March 25-27).

Ellen Taylor visited Saint Mary's March 24-26. She acted as crucifer Sunday.

On Friday, March 24, Jean Miller, Grant Jones, and Ann Burnett stopped by for the afternoon. Unable to stay, they went on to Chapel Hill to spend the night with Louise Jordan, Jean's roommate last year. But they were back for a visit and lunch Saturday morning.

GONG IV

MR. WILLIAM C. GUESS

[This is the fourth in a series of sketches intended to familiarize the student body with members of the faculty.]

Mr. Guess is from Sanford, N. C. At least that is where he was born, but the claim is disputed by Raleigh
