Marine Wins Saint Mary's Pin-Up Contest

Sailor and Soldier Are Runners-Up; Civilians Are Also Winners in Picture Contest

Saint Mary's "Pin-Up Boy" was chosen Wednesday, October 18, by three impartial judges who wish to remain unknown. About one hundred and twenty-eight entries were made in the contest, and approximately two-thirds of these pictures were of service men. The "Pin-Up Boy" is Cpl. F. Wallace Gage, Jr., U. S. M. C. The handsomest serviceman is Howard Egbert Herring, Jr., A. S. V-12 U. S. N. R., and the cutest serviceman is Pfc. George Dibrell Young. The most attractive military snapshot is of a group of fighter pilots including Ens. Russell Roth, U. S. N. R. Thomas Arrington Avera, Jr., and Joel Mitchell were chosen the cutest and handsomest civilians from their pictures, and the most attractive civilian snapshot is of David Collin Barnes, Jr., who is now a private in the Army. The winner in the "little brothers" group is Arch Gay, Jr.

PIN-UP BOY

Cpl. Gage's picture was entered by Carolyn Holland. He is from Clayton, Missouri, which is near St. Louis, and Lina met him last year at her sister's wedding when he was stationed at New River. He is now in the Philippine war zone and has been overseas since last December. The picture was taken some time last year. "Wally" is 6 feet 1 inch tall and has wavy brown hair (but it's a crew cut) and brown eyes. He attended Vanderbilt University and intends to go back there after the war. He is 22, likes Scotch and Soda, hates jitterbugging, and is, according to Lina, the smooth type.

HANDSOMEST SERVICE MAN

Apprentice Seaman Herring's picture was entered by Teence Davis. He is from Wilson, Teence's home town, and she has known him all her life. He is now in Med. School at Duke where he is a K.A. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall, and has blond hair and gray-green eyes. The picture was also taken last year, and he is 19 now. Teence says that he is a snooty, conceited glamor boy, but the fact that he hasn't written lately may have something to do with this viewpoint. He doesn't like jitterbugging either, and is "a good date."

CUTEST SERVICE MAN

Kitty Quintard entered Pfc. Young's picture. He is from St. Augustine, Florida, and attended the University of the South at Sewanee (See P. 3, Col. 4)

Nelson Sabin Presents Vocal Concert Here

Robert Whitney Accompanies Singer At the Piano

Nelson Sabin, the distinguished American Baritone, accompanied by Robert Whitney, pianist, presented a concert Tuesday night, October 17, in Saint Mary's auditorium for the students, faculty, and visitors.

Mr. Sabin made his operatic debut in Chicago and has since then made tours throughout Canada, Central and South America, as well as this country. For many years he has been outstanding in his field on radio and has recently been guest artist on both the Maxwell House Coffee Program and the Colgate Hour. Mr. Sabin and Mr. Whitney are now on tour of southern and eastern colleges.

SELECTIONS

Mr. Sabin sang four groups of songs which were French, German (translated into English), Negro Spirituals and modern. The familiar Serenade (Stänchen) by Franz Schubert and Lullaby (Wiegenlied) by Johannes Brahms were among the favorite selections. His encore was Slave by Gunst. Mr. Sabin told of his intention to sing some music by Russell Broughton, whom he considers one of America's outstanding composers, but regretted that he was unable to do so because the music had not reached him in time. Mr. Sabin plans to present these songs later on in his tour.

Mr. Whitney presented two groups of piano compositions and gave as his encore Waltz in A Major by Michel Livitsky.

A Letter From New Guinea

"Hi Angel,

"The sun came up this morning—and, for the first time in ages, I felt close to you. Then I got a letter from you this afternoon.

"I know you hate to go back to four walls and books, but please take my advice and enjoy it to the fullest because, in spite of all the plans made for the future, and all the dreams that we want to come true, there will never again be a time so carefree and happy as the time you have before you right now.

"Far be it from me to advise the neglect of duties for pleasures because if it were not for the bitter then the sweet would lose its appeal. Even though lots of people think of me as an easy-going, happy-go-lucky, ne'er-do-well, they don't know that the secret of successful life is not money, and the comforts and luxuries that money can bring, but the ability to enjoy the simple things of life, and the realization that one's life has been full. Being in a place like this, where there is nothing certain, I can look back and see that I have really enjoyed living—even the mishaps I might have had from time to time, were living, living the way freedom-loving people should live. Living, not for yesterday, not for tomorrow, but just doing what the day brings, and living it as it might be the last day.

"In a place like this one cannot very well get away from the reality of life, nor can one forget the things left unfinished and wish for an opportunity to clear up unfinished business and hope tomorrow will present the opportunity.

"The sun is going down now, over a deep blue hill, just like the one behind the lake. I feel that if I turned my head, I would find you sitting here beside me . . ."
