DOROTHY MAYNOR PRESENTS BRILLIANT VOCAL CONCERT

Audience Greatly Enjoys Magnificent Performance

Dorothy Maynor, famous Negro singer, presented a magnificent con-cert at the Raleigh Memorial Auditorium on Saturday evening, November 3, at eight p.m.

The first section of the program consisted of two contrasting compositions by Handel, Gismunda's aria from Ottone, and Rodelinda's aria from Rodelinda.

In the next group of selections were Chant De Foregon by Milhaud, a very "different sounding" piece with a captivating melody, and Mandoline, Les Berceaux, and Fleur Jêtée, all by Fauré.

In the next part of the program were two selections from Brahms, Auf Dem Schiffe and Feldeinsamkeit, and two from Strauss, Standchen, one of his most beautiful compositions, and Winterliebe. For an encore, the performer sang Brahms' Lullaby.

Il est doux, il est bon by Massenet made up the fifth part. This very tuneful selection was beautifully rendered. Dorothy Maynor sang Avé Marie as an encore.

The well-known Songs My Mother Taught Me by Dvorak came next

ELEVEN NEW GIRLS ARE INVITED TO BECOME SOCIETY MEMBERS

Sigma Lambda's and E. A. P's Hold Joint Meeting

The E. A. P. and Sigma Lambda Literary Societies have invited eleven new girls to become members. This membership was based on short stories, poetry, essays, or plays sub-mitted which were judged by the members of the two societies and their faculty advisers, C. A. P. Moore and Miss Margaret Duckett. The new members are: Charlotte Hoffman, Harriet Gurley, Mary Willis Sledge, Lucy French, Myra Welch, and Margaret Cummings for the E. A. P.'s; Dabney Little, Eliza-beth Silver, Gene Rose, Logan Vaught, and Peggy Swindell for the Sigma Lambda's.

The new members were asked to attend a joint meeting of the two societies on Tuesday night, November 6. At this meeting short stories were read and discussed.

Initiation will be held within the next two weeks.

Borge Cuts Up

She Resigns as Assembly Chairman and Mu President

Carolyn DesChamps, of Spartanburg, South Carolina, was elected vice-president of the student body October 30, to succeed Susan Ash-burn Bedsole of Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Before coming to Saint Mary's, Carolyn graduated from Spartan-burg High School where she was editor of the school annual, a member of the Beta Club, and a member of the hall council. At Saint Mary's she has been very outstanding. She is a member of the Y.W.C.A., Publications Staff, Letter Club, French Club, Hall Council, Altar Guild, Political Science Club, and Art Club. Last year at Saint Mary's she made all-star hockey team and volleyball team and was the badminton champion of the year. She was elected president of the Mu's and chairman of assembly but her recent election forces her to give up these two offices.

When asked what she said upon hearing the news, Carolyn replied, "I was speechless, but happy."

JUNIORS STAGE HALLOWE'EN JAMBOREE IN GYMNASIUM

Quintuplets Win First Prize; Carmen Miranda's, Second

The junior class gave a Hallowe'en party for the rest of the school on Friday night, November The party was held in the gym at eight-thirty, and quite a va-riety of ghosts, witches, pirates, gypsies, and other traditional Hallowe'en-ites appeared.

The Dionne Quintuplets took first prize in the costume parade. Jane Campbell, Kathryn Fulton, Sally Lee, Helen Mardre, and Dolly Redwine were the Quints, escorted by Mama Dabney Little and Papa Poncie Dawson. Two lively monkeys made their appearance, accompanied by an organgrinder. The trio turned out to be Miss Tucker and Miss Morrison as the monkeys and Mrs. Broughton as the organ-grinder. All of the costumes showed originality, for instance, the Three Blind Mice and the Walking Tree Trunks.

For the entertainment of their guests, the Juniors had prepared booths for apple-bobbing, weight-guessing, penny-pitching, fortunetelling, plus the added thrill of a (See P. 3, Col. 2)

Danish-born Victor Borge, pianist accompanied by his concert orchestra, presented an unusual program at the Memorial Auditorium October 30. Saint Mary's students who did not attend the humorous, yet beautiful concert, missed a perform-ance that received well-deserved praise. Upon entering the auditorium, we received a program which "was subject to change"; that's what it said at the bottom of the page. In-stantly we knew that we were in After for an enjoyable evening. for an enjoyable evening. After reading the program more thorough-ly, we wondered if Borge had writ-ten it himself for, halfway down the page was printed, "Brahms Lul-laby by guess who?" and "Polo-naise (Yes, the popular one!)." This was rather confusing at first, but it did not make a bit of differbut it did not make a bit of difference because after the concert began with Addinzell's lovely Warsaw Concerto, Borge threw away the program and played what he wanted and what the audience wanted.

Most of us have heard Victor (let's call him that for short) on the radio. You know how funny he is, but he was three times funnier in person, especially when he asked the audience if they liked good music. Naturally, they answered yes; whereupon, he threw a sheet of mu-sic into their faces. Then he sat down to play the Minute Waltz by Chopin, a piece that "his sister had taught him when he was young." In the middle, he stopped, got up, shrugged his shoulders, and sighed, "Oh, well, she was only my halfsister !" A little later, he sat on the piano keys to make the notes come out louder, and he fell flat on his face when he missed striking a key that wasn't there.

After cutting up, to everybody's delight, Victor and the orchestra played some beautiful music, music that the audience knew and loved. Among the selections were: Waltz in C Sharp Minor, Grieg's Concerto, a combination of Strauss and Schubert's compositions which was called Blue Serenade by Strubert, Begin the Beguine, Clair de Lune, Rhap-sody in Blue, Dixie, Stardust, Ole Man River, Boogie Woogie, and Liebestraum.

Raleigh enjoyed Victor Borge and his orchestra simply because they let their hair down. Perhaps if more artists acted naturally, they and their concerts would be received with more enthusiasm.
