THANKS, AND GOOD-BYE

For the Belles the new year will begin with the next issue as Ann Jones takes over the job of editor for May. The staff will remain as usual, and Mary Glen, Emma Katie, and Charlotte will continue their work, but slowly the Belles will be changing into new hands.

A lot of work by a lot of people has gone into making the Belles appear every other Friday, and these people deserve our appreciation:

The writing staff, for getting that article in week after week; for writing and rewriting; for chasing people all over school for those endless details; for just being in the Publications Room every Monday night.

Mary Glen Slater, for her faithfulness and competence in checking and rechecking everything; for her help in those Thursday afternoon sieges in shaping the Belles into the semblance of a newspaper; for furnishing headlines and moral support.

Emma Katie Guion and the circulation staff for having the Belles delivered to your room, and Charlotte Hoffman for mailing them out each issue.

Mr. Moore, and all the other faculty members who have helped the Belles; and the printers, who have been so helpful and obliging.

The student body, who have read the Belles, contributed the news, and offered helpful suggestions.

We've had the usual headaches, but it's been fun. Good luck, Ann. Thanks, and good-bye.

NO DECISION YET

Great Britain and Russia have sharply disagreed in the United Nations security council over Spain. Poland presented Spain as a Nazi-inspired menace to peace, and was joined by Russia, France, and Mexico in favoring a break in diplomatic relations. The U. S.,

Britain, the Netherlands, and Brazil opposed the Polish charge that Spain is a potential threat to France and a menace to the world. The Australian delegate asked that a five-man sub-committee investigate the Spanish situation and report to the council by May 17.

After two sessions of debate on Spain, the council adjourned without reaching any decision. Poland, Russia, France, and Mexico are shown favoring a diplomatic break with Franco. The Netherlands, Britain, and Brazil are against such a move. The United States and China are uncommitted; Australia favors investigation; and Egypt is thus far unheard. Poland needs seven affirmative votes out of the eleven to carry her motion.

Russia clearly intends to try to force the U. N. to break diplomatic relations with Franco Spain, but indications are that a majority of the United Nations will insist that they have no right to

Here at Saint Mary's Cynthia is a member of the Choir, Circulation Staff of the Belles, Art Club, Sigma Phi Alpha, and is a Sigma Cheerleader. All year she has been very active on the Council of the Auxiliary, and she is very experienced and capable of being the new president.

She will be advised next year by the new members of the Council who were elected recently, Judy Taylor, Martha Hinkle, and Myrtle Alston.

Cynthia said that she had great plans for the Auxiliary next year and hoped the year would be a successful one.

Saints' Sallies

Easter brought a beautiful sun day, flowers, candy, new hats, visitors. Biggest news of the week, though, is Edith Hamilton's pin . . . an' it's from a Duke Delt. Other big news is from who attended PiKa functions week-end, including a dinner party, steak fry, and ball. Marilyn, Thome, Gene, Margaret, Peg Misheimer, Cama, Mary Helen, Ma and “Tut” Barbee say the PiKa gave them a grand time. Last urday and Sunday “the Navy” here to see Ann Prothro, Charlotte Hoffman, and Beverly Hancock.

Demp and Betty Adkerson seem to have taken a great interest in the Zetes at Carolina . . . we seen “him,” Bee, and he's Oks “Weddy” hasn't been doing better either . . . “he” was here last week-end, too.

“Cindy” hasn't stopped smiling yet. We saw him drive up and well, you know the rest . . . ! Boaz has that wistful look in eyes. Could it be time for Carolina sailor to come home again?

Nancy O'Keeffe's collecting mammals (not the live kind). Just other day she got a bear and a from that friend in Asheville; G says she wouldn't be surprised Nancy started collecting wool. And speaking of collections, have you seen Woolie Boyle's rabbits?

Saint Mary's was well represented over at the Phi Gam houseparty other week-end—Mary Glen, Amie Betsy Evans, Shirley, Dot Leak, Spot took in the festivities. Beasley attended a Zete party, Mil went to see HIM. Betty Gwyn went to Duke to the Pan-H dances; so did Jane Thomas Charlotte Buchanan. And we're on the subject of week-end have you heard about the one taking place this week-end at Allison's in Statesville? She's bringing DesChamps, Wee, Pard, and with her, and big things have been planned.

With the junior-senior just around the corner, the familiar cries being heard—“What are you going to wear?—I haven't got a date yet. Do you have any stags?” Lulu Bet's real ('scuse, Mr. Moore) 'cause he is not coming on account of its being his first dance in years and says he's afraid to miss SMS his first attempt. Wee says that she's got the most exciting date of all, and Myrtle agrees that it's pretty nice. And Amie's looking forward to it too after that call from Chicago. Know everyone's going to have a wonderful time.

Priscilla Ford is happy these days. Her sailor is stationed in Georgia and that's not so-o-o-o away.

We hear that Joanne's week-end houseparty was a big success; Jane Luck, Gene and Martha Dean seemed to have had a wonderful time.

Nancy, Sande, and Camp were seen with dates from Carolina last Saturday.

Jane Lewis had a mix-up about her flowers Sunday, but everything is straightened out now.

Gary Ellis seems to have a devoted admirer at Carolina.
