Graham Scott Band To Play for Dance Given by Yearbook

Stage Coach Semi-Formal Affair to be Nov. 9 in Gymnasium

A semi-formal dance sponsored by the STAGE COACH will highlight Saturday, Nov. 9, from 8:30 until 11:50 p.m. Graham Scott and his eight-piece orchestra, of the University of North Carolina, will furnish the music in Saint Mary's gymnasium.

Bids have arrived and will be on sale by Gene Rose, the members of the dance committee, and the dance marshals. Each girl may invite one date and two stags.

The first dance to be sponsored by a Saint Mary's yearbook, proceeds from the event will finance the 1947 STAGE COACH. Because of its size, this annual is costing more than usual, and since a great deal of the school's money has been spent on improvements, the STAGE COACH staff is itself attempting to raise the money for the annual, explained Gene Rose, Henderson, editor.

The affair will be a card dance with ten no-breaks and three extras, if time permits. Dance marshals will officiate.

The following dance committee will serve: Betsy Evans, Enfield, decorations; Martha Best Yorke, Concord, lead-out; Betty Ann Cooper, Greensboro, orchestra arrangements; Edith Allison, Statesville, refreshments; Sylvia Green, Williamston, bids.

In the lead-out will be the members of the dance committee: Betsy Evans, Martha Best Yorke, Betty Ann Cooper, Edith Allison, and Sylvia Green; Adelaide Linehan, business manager of STAGE COACH; the three publications' editors: Gene Rose, STAGE COACH; Martha Conger, Edenton, BULLETIN; Ann Frupp Jones, Summerville, S. C., BELLES.

Prevent 'Flu'

Influenza vaccinations, to help ward off possible "flu" epidemics this winter, will be available to those students who want them, Mrs. L. B. Naylor, resident nurse, announced recently. All parents will be sent letter forms which give permission for students to be vaccinated. All students are urged to take it as soon as possible.

Creating an immunity in 90 out of 100 cases, the vaccine has been widely used and hailed as highly successful by the Army. It has a negligible toxic reaction, if any at all, on the person vaccinated.

PLAY DAY SOON TO BE SPONSORED IN RALEIGH

Saint Mary's and Meredith to Be Joint Hostesses to Visitors

Saint Mary's and Meredith colleges will be joint hostesses to girls from colleges all over the state at a state-wide inter-collegiate play day Saturday, Nov. 16, from 2 to 5 p. m. This is the first time the event has been held in Raleigh.

The scheduled contests include tennis, swimming, volleyball, and possibly badminton to be held on Saint Mary's campus, and hockey, archery, and badminton at Meredith.

Registration will be at Meredith. At 4:30 a reception will honor all visiting teams.

Jean Grith, president of the Meredith Athletic Association, is general chairman. Miss Peterson, head of the Physical Education Department at Meredith, and Mrs. W. C. Guess, Saint Mary's, are faculty advisors.

The following committees have been appointed to help with the arrangements:

Steering Committee: Sylvia Green, Williamston, chairman, and Betty Anne Cooper, Greensboro, from Saint Mary's; Gloria Mayer and Martha Davidson, from Meredith.

Invitations and Program Committee: Jean Strickland, Wilson, and Mary Nelson Smithwick, Louisburg, from Saint Mary's.

Finance Committee: Virginia Smith, Ridley Park, Pa., and Mary Lou Pratt, Sumter, S. C., from Saint Mary's.

Missionary Entertains Students

She is gray-haired and very charming, with a wonderful sense of humor. Her name? Elizabeth Estes Turner, one of the most interesting assembly speakers Saint Mary's has ever heard.

Miss Turner, a missionary, after working in China for twelve years is now with the Student Volunteer Movement in this country. She chuckled, "I just switch around from place to place, visiting college campuses all over the country."

Miss Turner's home in the United States is St. Albans, W. Va.; her home in China is Hwaiyuan. She attended West Virginia University, the Biblical Seminary in New York, and the Yenching College of Chinese Studies. After studying Chinese for a year in Peking, Miss Turner took up her work as a rural evangelist. She is very anxious to return to this work because, as she says, "I love the Chinese, and I'm quite an expert now in the use of chopsticks!"

When we asked Miss Turner how

Juniors To Entertain School At Halloween Party Tonight

Jitterbug Contest Will Be Feature of Evening

A Halloween party, given by the junior class tonight from 8 until 9:45 p. m. in the gymnasium, will entertain the faculty and students of Saint Mary's. Fortune-telling and apple-bobbing will be traditional entertainments and a jitterbug contest will be a highlight of the evening.

Nancy Hannah, Greenville, and Sally Ann Borthwick, Winston-Salem, will sing; Joan Hassler, Thomasville, will entertain with imitations. Jean Strickland, Wilson, and Elizabeth Myatt, Goldsboro, have prepared an original skit.

Various booths will be set up in the gymnasium for amusement. Their particular thrills are still secret, but the entertainment committee promises a surprise in each.

A prize will be given for the most original costume. There will be refreshments—in abundance, Josephine Hoyt, Washington, and Anita Buck, Jacksonville Beach, Fla., chairmen of the refreshment committee, announced.

Logan Vaught To Edit Handbook For Coming Year

Logan Vaught, Winston-Salem, was elected handbook editor in the annual election Oct. 23. Nominations were announced in assembly Oct. 22. Other nominees were: Margaret Moore, Roanoke, Va.; Lila Spilman, Statesville; Laura Lee Stickle, Lynchburg, Va.

This is Logan's third year at Saint Mary's. She is a junior and a Sigma. Logan is also vice-president of the Dramatics club and a member of the Sigma Lambda literary society, all three publications' staffs, and the Granddaughters' club.

Mrs. O. K. Joyner Joins Faculty To Replace Mrs. Wilder

To replace Mrs. Lynn Wilder, who has resigned from the faculty of Saint Mary's to join her husband in New York city, Mrs. O. K. Joyner, former dramatics teacher at Needham Broughton high school, Raleigh, has joined the staff of Saint Mary's English department. She will teach junior and senior English courses.

Yehudi Menuhin Will Open Civic Concert Nov. 4

Program for Coming Season Announced

Yehudi Menuhin, one of the world's foremost violinists, will open the 1946-1947 season of Civic Music concerts with a performance at Raleigh Memorial Auditorium, Monday, Nov. 4. Doors will be opened at 7:00 p.m. and the concert will begin at 8:00 p.m.

The program of civic concerts for the coming season has been announced as follows:

Wednesday, Nov. 20, Jean Dickenson, often referred to as "the nightingale of the airways," and Jan Peerce, one of the leading tenors of the Metropolitan Opera, in a joint recital.

Tuesday, Jan. 14, William Kapell, pianist.

Tuesday, Jan. 28, Blanch Thebom, mezzo-soprano.

Tuesday, Mar. 11, Martha Graham, acknowledged as one of the greatest modern dancers.

Monday, Mar. 31, Ezio Pinza, Metropolitan opera star, basso.

Thursday, Apr. 17, the New York Philharmonic Orchestra under the baton of Leopold Stokowski.

she liked teaching the Chinese students, she replied, "I enjoy it very much because the Chinese are eager to learn, and are crazy for anything American. Then, too, they don't have much opportunity to see beauty and enjoy it when it is shown to them."

Miss Turner told us gaily that her hobby is people, but her pet peeve is indifference in people. Her favorite sport is, oddly enough, riding the Staten Island ferry in New York, and her favorite person (who, she says, is "going around the world" with the missionaries) is the main character of the current Broadway play, Harvey—a large white rabbit!

She summed up beautifully her life's ambitions by saying, "If you do not value a thing yourself, do not share it with others. If Christianity is of no value to us, we need not share it, but if it means anything in our lives, we must share it."
