

Rev. Mr. Hobgood Delivers Sermon On Youth Sunday

Cynthia McCaw, S. Mell Smith Conduct Morning Service

To commemorate national "Youth Sunday" in Episcopal churches, the Rev. Mr. Clarence E. Hobgood, State College Episcopal chaplain, delivered a sermon Oct. 20 on the role of youth in church activities. Cynthia McCaw and Sarah Mell Smith conducted the morning service.

All over the nation young people were directing church services as a part of the celebration. Here at Saint Mary's Cynthia McCaw, Woman's Auxiliary president, opened the service with the General Thanksgiving and prayers. Sarah Mell Smith, Y.W.C.A. president, read the morning lessons and led the congregation in the Psalm.

Mr. Hobgood, who is a graduate of Wake Forest and the Yale Divinity School, served in the Army Air Corps for two years in the China-Burma-India theater and was presented with the Bronze Star. After studying at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., this past spring, Mr. Hobgood was ordained to the Diaconate at Saint Stephen's Church, Oxford, Oct. 2. He is now the Episcopal student chaplain at State College and is also assisting the Rev. Mr. James M. Dick at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Raleigh.

Saint Mary's Girls Attend Y.M.C.A. Dance At State College

The Y.M.C.A. of North Carolina State College sponsored an informal dance Saturday night, Oct. 26, in Thompson Gymnasium from 8:30 p. m. to midnight. Attending the dance were students of Saint Mary's, Peace, Meredith, and N. C. State. The dance was under the direction of Joe Houston, chairman of the social committee of the Y.M.C.A.

Records furnished music for the evening. Punch and cookies were served.

Doctor's Daughters Give Supper At Hut

The Doctors' Daughters' Club under the direction of Mrs. L. B. Naylor, resident nurse, gave a supper party at the Hut, Wednesday night, Oct. 30. About 35 people were present, including the members, Dr. and Mrs. Richard G. Stone, Mrs. Naylor, Mrs. Nannie H. Marriott, and Miss Mabel Morrison.

Raleigh Merchants Honor New Students With Big Carnival

A party for the new students of the schools and colleges of Raleigh was given by the Raleigh Merchants' Association on Oct. 24 in the Memorial Auditorium. Approximately 50 Saint Mary's students attended with Misses Ann Arthur, Martha Allen Wilkinson, and Anna Graham as chaperones.

Special busses took the girls to the auditorium. Festivities, including games, contests, prizes, dancing, and refreshments began at 8:00. Al Millman and his orchestra furnished music.

Sally Ann Borthwick, Winston-Salem, representing Saint Mary's School on the program, sang "In Love In Vain."

Do You Like Poetry?

MUSIC I HEARD

Music I heard with you was more than music,
And bread I broke with you was more than bread.
Now that I am without you all is desolate,
All that was once so beautiful is dead.

Your hands once touched this table and this silver,
And I have seen your fingers hold this glass.
These things do not remember you, beloved:
And yet your touch upon them will not pass.

For it was in my heart you moved among them,
And blessed them with your hands and with your eyes.
And in my heart they will remember always:
They knew you once, O beautiful and wise!

CONRAD AIKEN.

Just mention K. A.'s to Luck Flanders and she'll start off on a sales talk that just won't wait. It seems as if she's just a little bit prejudiced.

The big State Fair has come and gone, but Nancy Riddleberger is still complaining about those rough rides. Ask her about that black-eye! Too, Jo Anne Darden even admits that she completely fleeced her date . . . but she didn't go on any of "those covered rides."

Saint Mary's was well represented among the State sponsors at the Wake Forest game. Gene Hines and Sis Silver looked mighty good.

Not many of the new girls are as excited about going home for the first time as are Marion Guess and Carolyn Hunter. Any special reason, girls?

You wouldn't really think Saint

I AM THE WIND

I am the wind that wavers,
You are the certain land;
I am the shadow that passes
Over the sand.
I am the leaf that quivers,
You the unshaken tree;
You are the stars that are steadfast,
I am the sea.

You are the light eternal—
Like a torch I shall die;
You are the surge of deep music,
I but a cry!

ZOE AKINS.

BATTLE The Fear

I do not fear to die
'Neath the open sky,
To meet death in the fight
Face to face, upright.

But when at last we creep
Into a hole to sleep,
I tremble, cold with dread,
Lest I wake up dead.

WILFRID WILSON GIBSON.

Mary's students were so eager about the students at State, but did you notice how many more names were added to the Saturday night dance list after the notice "State boys will attend" was added?

Since the interest at Saint Mary's is turning toward football, the editors of this column would like to announce the Saint Mary's lineup for the Carolina-Florida game:

Senior Dance Set For Dec. 14 in Gymnasium

Blundon, Yorke, Lanier, Ros Are Chairmen of Committees

"The Night Before Christmas" will be the theme of the traditional senior dance in the gymnasium, Dec. 14.

Arrangements are still incomplete; however, Betsy Blundon, Charleston, W. Va., is in charge of the invitations; Martha Blundon, York, Concord, is making arrangements for the orchestra; Ann Lanier, Danville, Va., heads the refreshment committee; and the decorations are under the charge of Gene Rose, Henderson.

"State of the Union" Presented in Raleigh By Little Theater

Raleigh's Little Theater presents its first performance of the season, State of the Union, Monday night, Oct. 21.

Two newcomers to the group, Lorena Gaddy and Howard Masmeimer, headed the cast.

Theme of the play was the presidential campaign of the dashing publican, Grant Mathews, a newcomer to politics who was constantly torn between the political methods of his honest wife Mary and those of his political boss, Jim Conover.

The last scene of the play, the most stirring of all, completely captivated the audience. Realistic scenery was an additional good feature.

If State of the Union is a fair sample of the plays to follow, the season should be even better than usual.

Correction, Please!

To clarify a possible misunderstanding of the article published in the last issue of the BELLES about the "Every-Member" Canvass, we print the following statement by William C. Guess, treasurer of Saint Mary's chapel:

"The amount pledged by students and faculty in the 'Every-Member' Canvass was about $1,420.00. After the usual expenses for the church program, church maintenance, reserve, and local expenses have been met, there should be a surplus of several hundred dollars. This will be added to a fund that has been accumulating during the last few years, and ultimately it is hoped that this fund will be large enough to provide for desired improvements in the chapel."

It was incorrectly stated in the last issue of the BELLES that Mrs. Theodore Partrick was faculty adviser to the legislative body. Mrs. Partrick is a faculty member of the legislative body and is new to that organization this year. The legislative body is composed of faculty and student representatives and has no adviser.
