

Hans Rothe Speaks On Shakespeare

"Shakespeare was able to influence profoundly, as no other author could, the whole of central European culture," stated Hans Rothe, visiting lecturer in the department of Dramatic Art at the University of North Carolina, who spoke on The Influence of Shakespeare on the European Continent, in Saint Mary's auditorium February 6.

Leading translator of Shakespeare and historian of the stage, Rothe has studied at the Universities of Edinburgh, Munich, Leipzig, Berlin, and Rostock. He was formerly art director of the Deutsches Theater in Berlin, but left the country when he disagreed with Fascist Decrees concerning the theater.

Mr. Rothe traced the influence of Shakespearean drama on the European nations, with emphasis on Germany, the country which "fell hardest for Shakespeare. He, more than any other author, made the German stage."

In his discussion of translations, he declared that "No work can ever be rendered in its original value by a translation, as a translator gives his version as he understands the work." Rothe's own approach is less from the romantic point of view and more from the standpoint of the theaterman.

Mr. Rothe advised students to approach Shakespeare, not with the idea that they must worship his work as a classic, but with the realistic view that he is a man who really has something to say.

At The Theaters

(February 14-27)

AMBASSADOR

- 14 Tycoon. J. Wayne, L. Day.
15-17 Her Husband's Affairs. F. Tone.
18-21 I Walk Alone. E. Scott.
22-24 Night Song. D. Andrews.
25-28 Voice of the Turtle. R. Reagan.

PALACE

- 14 Man From Music Mountain. G. Autry.
Tracy Meets Gruesome. B. Karloff.
15-19 Tycoon. J. Wayne, L. Day.
20-21 Black Market Babies. R. Morgan.
Rio Grande Raiders. Sunset Carson.
22-24 I Walk Alone. E. Scott.
25-26 Night Song. D. Andrews.
27 Girl to the Big House. G. Roberts.

STATE

- 14 Blondie's Anniversary. P. Singleton, A. Lake.
15-18 T-Men. D. O'Keefe.
19-21 Tobacco Road. G. Tierney.
22-24 Fun on a Weck-End. P. Lane, E. Bracken.
25-26 Beat the Band. F. Langford, G. Krupa.
27-28 The Knockout. L. Earl.

WAKE

- 14 The Invisible Man. C. Raines.
The Invisible Man Returns. C. Raines.
15-16 The Perils of Pauline. B. Hutton.
17 Sea of Grass. S. Tracy, K. Hepburn.
18 Cynthia. C. Taylor.
19 The Yearling. G. Peck, J. Wyman.
20-21 Butch Minds the Baby. V. Bruce.
22-25 Desert Fury. E. Scott, Crawford.

Mu's Defeat Sigma's In Basketball Game

In a practice basketball game in which every member of both squads saw action the Mu's defeated the Sigma's 37 to 20 Monday night.

The first quarter ended with the Mu cagers leading 10 to 6. At this point the substitutions began, and neither team did much scoring in the second canto.

Led by the accurate shooting of Nellie Truslow and Aurelia Fulton, the Mu's scored 23 points in the second half. Rose Taylor and Nannie Moore were high scorers for the Sigma's.

Crippled by the loss of their captains—Lucinda Edwards, Mu, and Dot Teague, Sigma, who were in the infirmary—both teams were below their usual standards.

Because this was a practice game, it will not affect either team's record. The tournament, which will decide the basketball championship of Saint Mary's, will be played at a later date.

Dr. and Mrs. Stone, Jane Bell Attend Meetings In Winston-Salem

Dr. and Mrs. Stone and Miss Jane Bell visited in Winston-Salem February 9 to attend a meeting of the Winston-Salem chapter of the Saint Mary's Alumna Association.

Wednesday afternoon there was a meeting at the home of Mrs. James A. Gray, mother of Cristina Gray, '46, who is now at Salem College.

Saint Mary's girls who attend Salem College entertained Wednesday night with a dinner party at the Forsyth Country Club.

Thursday Dr. and Mrs. Stone and Miss Bell were guests of Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler, president of Salem College, Mrs. Rondthaler, and the former Saint Mary's girls for lunch at the school.

- 24 Romance of Rosy Ridge. V. Johnson.
25 Undercover Masie. A. Southern.
26 The Hucksters. C. Gable, D. Kerr.
27-28 Let Us Live. H. Fonda, M. O'Sullivan.

COLONY

- 14 Easy Come Easy Go. B. Fitzgerald, S. Tufts.
15-17 Wild Harvest. A. Ladd, D. Lamour.
18-19 Song of Love. R. Walker, K. Hepburn.
20-21 Dear Ruth. J. Caulfield, W. Holden.
22-26 Ninotchka. G. Garbo, M. Douglas.
27-28 My Favorite Brunette. D. Lamour, B. Hope.

VARSITY

- 14-15 My Wild Irish Rose. D. Morgan, A. King.
16-17 Brute Force. B. Lancaster, H. Cronyn.
18-19 That Hagan Girl. S. Temple, R. Reagan.
20 Beast With Five Fingers. R. Alda.
21-23 The Roosevelt Story. E. Flynn, I. Lupino.
24 Escape Me Never.
25-26 The Unsuspected. J. Caulfield, C. Raines.
27 All Cartoon and Comedy Program.

Students Reveal Beliefs in Racial Equality in Regard to Education

Since the problem of racial equality has been discussed so much the past few years, the question was put before some Saint Mary's students: "Do you think Negroes should be allowed to attend state supported white universities?"

Barbara Miller: No, because of my own prejudices and because of those instilled in me by my upbringing. However, I do believe in offering Negroes schools where they may prepare for any field they wish to enter.

Chris Price: Given the same chance, many Negroes have equalled and occasionally surpassed white people in mentality and ability. For this reason, I believe that every opportunity and advantage given the whites should be given to them. Features and dark skins should be no cri-

Four From SMS Attend Episcopal Conference

Anne Burnette, Harriet Rutherford, Susan Joyner, and Martha Zachary, members of the Woman's Auxiliary, attended the first meeting of the eleventh annual Episcopal Conference for College Students, which was held February 6-8, at the Church of the Good Shepherd and Christ Church in Raleigh.

The subject of the conference was "The Challenge of Christianity." Conference leaders were The Rev. George Henry of Christ Church, Charlotte, and Bishop Penick, Raleigh.

WA SELLS BLAZERS

The Auxiliary is sponsoring the sale of Saint Mary's blazers. These blazers are exactly like last year's. Aurelia Fulton has order blanks which will be sent as soon as possible.

Rev. John Heuss Speaks To Senior Bible Classes

The Rev. John Heuss, chairman of the Department of Christian Education of the Episcopal Church U.S.A., spoke to the Rev. Mr. Hughes' senior Bible classes recently.

Giving the background and reasons for Christian faith, he pointed out how modern Christians have strayed from observing the things that should be so dear to them. He challenged girls to gain here the things which are so necessary for the world outside to know and to go forth and teach other peoples.

A flustered student, arriving several minutes late to one of Miss Digges' classes, gave as her excuse that she "had been talking to Martha Dabney, I mean Miss Jones!" Miss Digges replied with one of her customary witticisms, "Quite sure you weren't conversing with Richard?"

terion for judging the mind. Only a definitely inferior mind deserves inferior treatment, and the fact that many Negroes have never been educated at all does not mean necessarily that they are stupid.

Rose Potter: I believe that Negroes should be allowed to attend white graduate schools if they are mentally capable, but not universities. However, I definitely believe that they should be given separate dormitories.

Preston Wescoat: I believe that Negroes should be allowed to go to state supported white universities because they are our equals and should be given the same rights. They should be given their own dormitories and social privileges, but aside from this, I see no harm in their having the same advantages we have. Most people have the impression that all Negroes are of the lower, uneducated sort. However, the Negroes who have the intelligence and ambition to attend college are as good as we are.

Florence Ruffin: No. I think they should attend private institutions of their own. Because they are of a different race, they are bound to think differently from the whites. Conflicts are inevitable, and I think it's unwise to subject them to such. The whites' superiority will possibly become even more evident.

Ebo Nelson: Yes. They are entitled to an education the same as anyone else. If they want to attend a state university, I see no reason why they shouldn't. I do believe that they should be given separate dormitories, however.

Sandy Buck: No. I think the Negroes and whites should attend separate universities. I realize that the Negroes are not quite so well off as we and are not able to have the benefit of the best teachers. Therefore, I believe the State should help support their teachers in order for them to have every possible privilege. If this is done, they have equal rights, and segregation is not necessary.

Lucille Best: No. I think that the State should provide for Negroes, but in schools of their own where there will be no segregation. Negroes are not expected to mix socially with the whites, and intermingling in schools is a step toward it.

Phyllis Costner: Yes. So long as they do not intermingle socially with the whites, I do not see why Negroes should be barred from entering white universities if they desire to go. More educated Negroes are needed to improve the Negro race.

Mary Bryan Cummings: No. I do not think that Negroes ought to attend white schools of any kind. Such a procedure would lead only to mixed relationships and intermarriages.