Frankie Allen, Maid-of-Honor, and Court Will Attend Queen

Saint Mary's 1949 May Day Pageant group, under the supervision of the physical education department, will present its annual performance tomorrow afternoon, May 7, at 3:30 on the front campus. The theme will be a repetition of the 1939 May Day Pageant, A Dance Representation of Milton's L'Allegro. Immediately following the presentation there will be a Coca-Cola party honoring the 1939 May Court, to which all alumnae are invited.

Mrs. William C. Guess will again direct one of Saint Mary's outstanding May Day festivals.

QUEEN KATY AND COURT

The program will feature the crowning of the May Queen, Katy Evans of Murfreesboro, who will represent Mirth. Her maid of honor, Mary Frances Allen of Statesville, will represent Liberty. The nymphs of the court will be Betty Bowles, Statesville; Catherine Campbell, Lynchburg, Va.; Betsy Carter, Pinehurst; Rachel Cozart, Fuquay Springs; Mary DuBose, Columbia, S. C.; Jean Craft Jenkins, Hartwell, Ga.; Irene McNulty, Columbia, S. C.; Mary Marshall Ragland, Raleigh; Betty Winfree, Lynchburg, Va.; and Betsy Wood, Edenton.

MELANCHOLY BESIEGES L'ALLEGRO

In the pageant, L'Allegro (the Merry Man), besieged by Melancholy with her "shrieks and sights unholy," has lost his happiness, but rollicking "Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles" banish the gloomy goddess and her train before the arrival of Mirth and her handmaid Liberty. To win L'Allegro completely away from her rival, Mirth charms him with a day of song and dance.

The morning lark flies by in joyful freedom. The cock, followed by his jealous dames, struts proudly from his roost. Milkmaids go gossiping to their morning task. In the afternoon, young and old meet on the green for the Maypole and other holiday dances. But the shadows begin to lengthen and soon the villagers gather to tell stories and sing ballads. Gradually they fall asleep, L'Allegro with them, to dream of royal pomp and revelry, thus bringing to a close L'Allegro's day of happiness.

GLEE CLUB WILL ACCOMPANY

The Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Geraldine Cate, will sing selections from Handel's musical setting of L'Allegro. Mrs. George Corby, Mrs. L. S. Winton, and Mrs. Rod Amundson, all of Raleigh, will be the pianists, and Mrs. Emerson Atkinson of Raleigh will be violinist.

Quips and Cranks who will be in tomorrow's pageant are, left to right, Alice Jones, Ann Cahoon, Ann Johnson, Martha Wallace, Phyllis Costner, Jackie Murray, and Leah Rigsbee.
