

Saint Mary's Junior Class Elects Dance Marshalls For Coming Year

Elect Boesser, McCulloch, Robinson, Cheatham, and Hines

Saint Mary's junior class has elected five dance marshalls. They are "Buncy" Robinson, Pat Boesser, Margaret Cheatham, and Ann McCulloch.

"Buncy" Robinson, of Concord, is on the Stage Coach staff and is a Sigma.

Pat Boesser, of Winston-Salem, is a Sigma cheerleader and a member of the Glee Club, the Canterbury Club and the choir.

Margaret Cheatham is a member of the Canterbury Club and the Granddaughters' Club, she is on the BELLES and the Stage Coach staffs, and she is a Sigma. Margaret is from Henderson.

Ruth Hines, of Greenwood, S. C., is a Sigma and a member of the Glee Club. This is her first year at Saint Mary's.

Ann McCulloch, a Bluefield, West Va., girl, is a member of the Glee Club and the YWCA. She is on the Stage Coach staff and is a Mu.

Mr. Hughes Establishes SMS Student Vestry

Mr. Hughes has organized a Student Vestry at Saint Mary's which is to be a representative group of eight girls whose aim will be to see to it that the moral and religious life at Saint Mary's grows in quality and strength.

The purpose of establishing a Student Vestry at Saint Mary's is that it may serve as a channel through which students can make known to the chaplain things which they think would better the moral and spiritual growth and welfare of the student body.

The Student Vestry will try to develop a religious atmosphere in the dormitories and a reverent atmosphere in the chapel. Constructive criticisms that would make the chapel and prayers mean more to the students, topics of sermons felt needed, more participation of the students in leading the services in chapel, more visiting clergymen, and many other topics may come before the Student Vestry.

The one big purpose in establishing a Student Vestry at Saint Mary's is to make the religious life of the school become more genuine and real and at the same time to enable the chaplain to mean more to the students in his position as their religious leader and adviser.

If you have a friend worth loving, Love him. Yes, and let him know That you love him, ere life's evening Tinge his brows with sunset glow. Why should good works ne'er be said Of a friend—'til he is dead?

From the point of view of morals, life seems to be divided into two periods. In the first, we indulge; in the second, we preach.—WILL DURANT.

People Everywhere Observe UN Week

Dr. Wallace Talks in Assembly On Past, Present, Future of UN

During the past week people all over the world have been observing United Nations Week. The observance of this week is especially important this year in order to call the attention of the world to the work of the United Nations.

The main focal point of this week was United Nations Day, October 24. This date marked the fifth anniversary of the day when the United Nations Charter came into force as a world law.

In observance of this anniversary Dr. Lillian Parker Wallace, head of the history department at Meredith College, spoke in assembly on the United Nations. Dr. Wallace told of the past accomplishments of the United Nations, its present work, and its objectives for the future. She brought out the fact that the United Nations has its defects as well as its good points and compared this world government group to a raft, which, although unwieldy, is very hard to sink.

Dr. Wallace concluded her talk with some suggestions as to how the common people can let their will be known to their leaders. The most important thing is to be sure that the government in Washington knows that the people want leadership in this time of crisis and that they dislike any hint of "playing politics."

SMS Introduces Faculty Members To School's Friends At Reception

Flower Arrangements and New Chandeliers Ornament Parlor

The faculty and staff at Saint Mary's were at home to their friends and to friends of the school in the parlor from 4:30 until 6:00 Thursday, October 26. Mrs. Stoney, the donor of the chandeliers in the parlor, was the invited guest of honor but was unable to be present. There were, however, approximately 250 guests.

Receiving at the front door were Mr. and Mrs. Guess, Miss Brown, and Miss Tucker. Mrs. Partrick and Miss Ellington presented the guests to the receiving line.

Composing the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. Stone, the Rt. Rev. and Mrs. Penick, Miss M. D. Jones, Miss Lindsey, Dr. and Mrs. Browne and Miss Boineau.

Mrs. Parker, Miss Morris, Dr. Julia Harris of Meredith College, Miss Lillian Thompson, and Mrs. C. A. P. Moore poured tea.

Engaged in serving were Margaret Anne Sasser, Carolyn Welsh, Margaret Cheatham, Sonoko Yamamoto, Virginia Hall, Jeanie Smith, Mary Agnes Jones, Faith Lassiter, and Patsy Daniels. The servers in the study hall were Connie Shanklin and Nancy Haltom.

The tea table was decorated with a silver candelabra, a silver service at either end, and a silver bowl filled with mixed flowers.

Lavender chrysanthemums and deep wine cosmos added to the attractiveness of the front hall and palms brightened the rear of the hall. In the study hall were yellow chrysanthemums. The consoles in the parlor were decked with white chrysanthemums and white dahlias. Handsome pink dahlias were placed in front of the mirror and mixed flowers on the coffee tables.

Russian tea, dainty sandwiches, cookies, cupcakes, mints and assorted nuts were served as refreshments to the guests.

CAMPUS NOTES

Caroline Roberson from Columbia, South Carolina, has left school because of illness. Caroline has mononucleosis. She is in the freshman class.

Nedra Gilmore was the only alumna who visited Saint Mary's during the past two weeks.

The faculty has begun the sale of Christmas cards. The money they make on these cards will go for different drives and missions during the year.

All the girls were very glad to see their old friends and pastors who came to the trustee meeting October 24. Among the members were Mr. Pinckney, director of Kanuga, and Bishop Thomas Wright, Bishop of East Carolina.

Miss Davis Attends Convention at UNC

Members Hear Paul Green Speak and See Playmakers

Miss Florence C. Davis attended the twenty-eighth annual Directors' Conference of the Carolina Dramatic Association in Chapel Hill October 21.

It was announced at the business meeting that the Drama Festival will be held in Chapel Hill April 4, 5, 6, and 7.

Speakers during the day's program included playwright Paul Green, who spoke on "Drama and Citizenship" and Mrs. Stamey of the Raleigh Children's Theatre. There was also a panel discussion on "Speech Training in North Carolina." Speaking in this discussion were Dr. J. Highsmith of Raleigh, Mr. C. Edison of Rocky Mount, Mr. Earl Winn of Chapel Hill, and Miss Charlotte Searles of Greensboro College.

In the evening the members of the Association attended the play "The Madwoman of Chaillot," which was presented by the Carolina Playmakers.

Saint Mary's Observes Annual Posture Week

Members of the Letter Club will sponsor the traditional Posture Week Monday through Friday of next week. Each hall will choose two representatives, a Sigma and a Mu, to represent the hall in the posture queen contest. On Tuesday the Letter Club will present in assembly a program entitled "On To Victory With Good Posture." Before the assembly program on Thursday, judges will eliminate girls from the various halls and choose the representatives of good posture who will go before the assembly on Thursday. At this time the student body will vote on "Miss Posture Queen of 1950." During the week, members of the Letter Club will observe posture and elect a "Miss Slump." They will pin an "I'm a Slump" tag on any girl they see not observing posture week.

"Miss Posture Queen" of the year '49 was Louise Milliken. By obtaining the honor, Louise gained points for the Mu team and also points which might help her to become a member of the Letter Club.
