

Hearts And Souls Go Into Our Trunks

When the trunks arrive on the halls, various Saint Mary's belles can be seen packing their cherished possessions. Here are a few of the most outstanding:

Margaret Cheatham . . . Grady. Tresca Bowles . . . Home Ec. patterns. Jean Glover . . . Three and a half bottles of Marshand's. Ann Nelson . . . Bird books. A. J. Owens . . . A package of lemon drops. Louise Milliken . . . Her magic touch. Caroline Bisaner . . . Platinum polish. Anne Harless . . . A pair of scissors that "cut the fool." Timmie Timmons . . . Her civic music ticket. Anna Redding . . . That shiny new pin. Mary Lee LaFar . . . a geometry book. Sue Trant . . . a bottle of anti-freeze. Shepherd Rustin . . . Anticipation of Nags Head. Sally Dalton . . . The rec room key.

Susan Shepherd . . . One lost week end at Wrightsville. Becky Wall . . . Dancing shoes. Catherine Morrison . . . Her sweet and winning ways. Sue Ann Sadler . . . Three flights of stairs. Pat Boesser . . . That long hair. King Risley . . . Strawberries, shortcake, whipped cream. Gwen Grizzard . . . "R. T.'s" date slips. Sally Hackney . . . Energy. Tonia Rowe . . . A pair of Mary Jane pumps. Pat Dize . . . A Toni Home Permanent. Ruth Hines . . . One favorite letter. Emily Patton . . . Mr. Peery's picture. Helen Sanders . . . A never-to-be-forgotten trip to New Jersey. Judy Murdock . . . State, Duke, and Davidson. Nancy Dawson . . . A flattering picture from the Junior-Senior.

Saint Sallies

STUFF AND NONSENSE—Ann Benton's current theme song is Cuddle Up a Little Closer. . . Likeable Lois Perry is still likeable, especially with the Phi Gams at Carolina. . . Ann Lee snowed and was snowed recently. . . Ruth Hines is spending a lot of money on special delivery stamps, (Perhaps, she's boosting the service men's morale). "A good man is hard to find" . . . no truer words were ever spoken, but some people have all the luck—just ask Margaret Cheatham and Claire Harris.

PINNED UP AND PINNED DOWN—Anna Redding is sporting an S.A.E. pin; whereas Beverly Rutter is the proud possessor of a S.P.E. pin. Caroline Bisaner surprised us all with a lovely diamond. Looking into the crystal ball we see that Lou Richardson, Harriet Tew, and "Spooner" Harrison have adapted themselves to married life. Anna Redding is devoting her summer to picking up "pitts" on the beach at Nags Head. Speaking of Nags Head, Sally Dalton, Susan Shepherd, Ann Nelson, Pat Tankard, and Shep Rustin are anticipating an "extacious" time on the KA house party. . .

HAVE YOU HEARD?—Carmen Gardiner has been demoted to the junior English class at Needham Broughton. . . That sympathetic

Senior Plans For Next Year Are Various, Entertaining

Our graduating (?) seniors have cooked up various plans for next year that sound both interesting and entertaining. Nicky Nicoll and Margaret Anne Sasser plan to continue school at Sophia Newcomb. Dot Crawford and Barbara Dixon will journey over to the blue grass state to attend Kentucky. "Rosie" Scovil and Joan McCutcheon will continue the wonderful education they have received at Saint Mary's at a most appropriate place—Dix Hill. Alice May was considering the John Herron Art Institute, but certain connections in the South are so strong that she doesn't want to leave. As "Kit" Armistead raised her glass of Four Roses she said, "I am going wild! Bottoms up." Mary Sutton, Louise Milliken, Mary Tom Battle, Jean Poland, Tonia Rowe, Nancy Woodruff, "Buttercup" McGuirk, Carolyn Welch, Virginia Hall, Mimi Lynch and Laura Davis plan to attend a school that no one would ever think of attending—Carolina. Betty Cheek puffed on her cigarette and sleepily said, "I'm going to get out of here." Margaret Gaston and "Becky" Moose will add knowledge to their minds at R.P.I. The walls of dear old Salem call Charlotte McGlaughon and Frances Williams.

Seniors Receive Special Presents

Some of our outgoing seniors are looking forward to graduation not only because they are graduating but also because they are receiving special gifts for the great occasion. It would be impossible to tell of all the gifts; therefore, this list will be limited to just a few. . . Sandra Sims . . . carbohydrates, minerals, and fats. Dot Crawford . . . a pair of stilts. Jean Gould . . . a personally autographed picture of Joan Fontaine. Alice May . . . freedom.

Franky Allen . . . a fresh pack of chewing gum. Bimbo Parshley . . . a yellow cab (Cadillac). Grace Gordon . . . a mission to Lower Slobbovia. Louise Milliken . . . a new package of campus slips. Ann Nicoll . . . a much-needed haircut. Peggy Hooker . . . a new bookcase for her coke bottles. Mary Tom Battle . . . another Chemistry book. Frances Williams . . . a key to the DEKE house. Mazie Strickland . . . a trip to Cary. Tonia Rowe . . . a lollipop. Virginia Hall . . . a package of stamps. Kit Armistead . . . three caskets.

Laura Chapman . . . How To Win Friends and Influence People. Caroline Cobey . . . a case of vodka. Becky Moose . . . money to pay her biology tutor. Mickey Shannon . . . a longer bedspread. Martha DeHart . . . "The Jones Laughing Record" to keep her company. Al White . . . U. S. Presidential campaign. Mary Sue Strupe . . . a calm trip to Davidson. Margaret Dunn . . . an automatic sock knitter. Ginger Mowery . . . a hot dog stand in New Orleans.

Those Classy Lasses From West Rock Are On The Beam; They're Really Hot

The girls in West Rock are tops, you'll agree;

Come with me now and meet the menagerie.

Downstairs, first, we will go;

Rooming in 103 there is Jo;

She is our valedictorian and wow!

Our Jo really deserves to take a bow.

Also in 102 lives Alice Hicks;

There's not a problem in the world she can't fix.

Next, in 100, we see Barbara Clark;

She is our clever and versatile spark. Laura Davis lives in 100 too—

See her in her bed? That's Dunc for you!

The inhabitants of 103 are Sanders and Dorsett;

If you ever need a laugh, there you don't force it.

104 harbors Beeps and Sal;

Across the hall live Ann and Mal.

All find studies a little bore,

But they get their work done and a little more.

In 106 are Littleton, Lynn, and Harrison, Sue;

Lynn says Sue will dance for you.

In 101 is our favorite Kay;

She'll be a writer some day.

In 208, upstairs, to the left door,

Room Grace and Al, with their friends by the score.

May Holton and Suzie Harris live in 206;

They are full of fun and prankish tricks.

Sue Woodward and Sandy Donaldson live in 204;

There are no two better athletes the campus o'er.

In 205 live Kent Thompson and Betsy Dunn—

Two mischievous redheads; they're full of fun.

Mary Leavell and Betsy Clarke inhabit 202;

Any problems they'll gladly solve for you.

In 203 we see Dwyer and Martin sitting;

These are two girls who don't sit around knitting.

Next in 201 live Hazard and Trant, Who often move in with Cross and Gant.

And this concludes our little trip, But first let us give you a little tip—To know a jolly old crew of brains and bums

Over to West Rock we invite you to come.

Pika has faithfully consoled Alice May during her campus . . . Martha DeHart is eagerly awaiting the fifth of June . . . 'nuff said . . . Shep Rustin is torn between the KA's and the SA's. Just how unfortunate can one get? . . . Ann Harless finally received that long-awaited phone call . . . Laura Davis and "Gillie" Martin have a mutual interest . . . Jean Lang was most excited about a visit from her Virginia lad last week end . . . A certain A.T.O. has been occupying a great deal of Lynn Littleton's time lately . . . "Ginger" Mowery, Margaret Ann Sasser, Ann Patterson, and Laura Hayes had a très gai time at the S.A.E. party several week ends ago. It's rumored that Grace Gordon has more dates than she knows what to do with. To her, life must be very trying.

"Kitty" Melchor will spend her summer making up for lost time with her devastating Brazilian . . . "Liz" Whitly will migrate to Cherry Point where she plans to keep an "I" on her marine . . . Anne Rixey, "Frankie" Allen, and "Mazie" Strickland are prospective authorities on the latest Paris fashions.

FAREWELL TO THEE . . . Here's wishing a grand vacation to all of you "Sainly Saints" and lots of luck to the graduating classes. Au revoir til September.
