Saint Sallies

Everybody has big plans for this summer after exams are finally over.

Lucy Heilig is looking forward to the dance at Saint James. Someone special, Lucy?

Many girls are planning beach parties. Mary Lee LaFar, Barbara Seaman, and Libby Patman are go-ing to Garden City and Myrtle Beach. Second West Rock girls are going to sunny shores. Others who prefer the beach to the mountains are Betty Dry, Pearl Smith, Dewey Owens, May Holton, Eve Hargrave, Edith Gregorie, Sally Patterson, and Betty Sickles.

Sara Cobb and Skippy Nicolson have a long trip to California ahead of them.

Whitfield and Nancy Kathy Bowles are going to Tampa, Florida, to visit Hazel Gray, and Betsy Webb will visit her cousin there. They are planning to have glorious suntans when they return.

Myra Thayer, Frances Perry, and Libby Cart are excited about their trip to New York.

Jeanie Patterson is going to Kentucky to meet the "Daddy" at last.

Ann Nichols is headed for the hills; she will be a counselor at Yonahlassee this summer.

Many of those engagement rings will soon be joined by a band, for wedding bells will be ringing for fifteen Saint Mary's girls.

Happy dreaming 'til summer vacation arrives.

Cindy Ward, Susie Nicoll, Jerry Coslow, and Nancy Booth spent the week end of the tenth at Nags Head. Ann Ayers, Donna Bull, Haffey Sewell, Lane Buchly, and Frances Satterlee spent the same week end at Wrightsville Beach.

Sue Summerville will spend two months in Europe next fall. Lou Keller will spend two months in Europe this summer.

There Is Nothing More Perturbing Than Announcers Who're Disturbing

Have you ever wanted to take a cannon and aim it at a program that says this at the crack of dawn:

"Good morning, lovely people! This is Bright Dan, the Sunshine Man. Ho! Ho! What a luvy-ly day we have today. Just makes one want to jump out of bed and start the day right with a run around the block. Incidentally, it's 7:30— a.m., that is. Ha! Ha!"

Even worse is the program that says this: "Big news, ladies! The Princeton Glee Club is down for its annual concert. Any young ladies (particu-larly those of Saint Mary's) attending the city colleges are cordially invited this evening from eight until twelve o'clock."

(You happen to remember that you have a biology test to study for and there is some little rule that suggests that you cannot see men after six o'clock.) This program invariably comes on a cheerless Sunday afternoon:

"The next scene of this fascinating story, 'No Prospects of Sun,' takes place on a dismal street which looks as though laughter has never touched it nor sunshine ever warmed it. One sees a lonely, motherless child wandering down the street, tears streaming down his face." The real stab comes with this program that says about five o'clock when hunger pains wrack you!: "Hungry? Well, who isn't this time of day? Be sure to visit the 'Bite a Bit' Bakery Shoppe! Let me suggest the yummy toll house cookies and that everlasting delicious whip cream cake. There is only a limited amount; so hurry and get yours today."

LIBRARY NEWS

Going to Europe this summer? Or maybe just planning a trip abroad 'sometime in the future? If so, you will find a number of very interesting and helpful books in the library.

Invitation to Travel by Helen Dean Fish invites the reader to travel and tells him how to obtain the greatest possible pleasure from European travel. Miss Fish is a thorough guide to the sights she discusses. She tells the reader what to see in England, France, and Italy. She tells him how to prepare for his trip, both as to actual physical preparations and the preparation of his mind so as to get the greatest enjoyment from his trip.

Your Trip Abroad by Richard Joseph is a practical guide-book. It is planned to answer the prospective traveler's questions about traveling. Part One is a discussion of the mechanics of travel; it informs the reader about such things as what to take, what to wear, and how to cut red tape. Part Two is a discussion of all countries readily available to American travelers; it presents something of the spirit of the countries and practical tips about travel in them.

The Best of Times by Ludwig Bemelmans contains less of the practical side of traveling, but it presents a picture of the European countries today. Based on the author's prewar memories and his travels abroad since 1946, it is a rather humorous account of people and places in rela-tion to what survived World War II and what did not.

Any girls who are considering heading South America way might find Down That Pan American Highway by Roger Stephens interesting. Although not recommended for its literary style, it contains some lovely pictures of Mexico and Central America, and some valuable information about travel south of the border.

If it is possible, it can be done; if it is impossible, it must be done.---NAPOLEON.

Fifty-Two Candidates Work For Junior College Diplomas

There are fifty-two candidates for the junior college diploma and sixty candidates for the high school diploma ending the 1952-53 session at Saint Mary's. Seven girls, who are members of the 1951 high school class, are candidates for diplomas this year. The candidates are as follows:

Junior college:

Florence Virginia Allen of Warrenton; Anne Cary Benton of Wilmington; Mary Patricia Boesser of Winston-Salem; Julia Claire Boone of Arlington, Virginia; Martha Bridger of Bladenboro; Pearle Long Buchanan of Hendersonville; Au-drey Marie Campbell of Raleigh; Margaret Eleanor Davis Cheatham of Henderson; Elizabeth Coale Clarke of Goldsboro; Peggy Ann Costner of Lexington; Nell Boone Crofton of Lumberton; Edith Yarborough Cross of Gatesville; Nancy Bragg Dawson of Elizabeth City; Sandra Louise Donaldson of Wilson; Mary Minerva Dorsett of Ridgewood, New Jersey;

Mary Ann Eaddy of Raleigh; Frances Marian Faison of Greens-boro; Henri Ann Fitzgerald of Princeton; Jessamine Gant of Danville, Virginia; Sarah Latham Hackney of Wilson; Agnes Ann Harless of Edenton; Janet Harris of Raleigh; Laura Madura Hays of Durham; Mary Alice Hicks of Faison; Laura MacDonald Holoman of Raleigh; May McLaughlin Northrep Holton of Wilmington; Letitia Ann House of Beaufort; Alice Venable Jones of Warrenton; Gillie Braughn Martin of Richmond, Virginia; Katherine Curry Melcher of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Nancy Anne Murray of Raleigh; Ruth Ann McCul-loch of Bluefield, West Virginia; Ann Purrington Nelson of Lenoir; Ann Patterson of Edenton; Jean Ann Patterson of Concord; Mary Jo Paul of Washington; Elizabeth Ann Penton of Wilmington; Marjorie Willard Penton of Wilmington; Lois Spruill Perry of Windsor; Anna Ingram Redding of Plandome, Long Island, New York; Sarah Ernestine Robinson of Concord; Shepherd Amelia Rustin of Gastonia; Sue Antoinette Sadler of Tarboro; Helen Boykin Sanders of Charlotte; Helen Esther Setzer of Hickory; Anne Marshall Stewart of New York, New York; Margaret Malvina Stewart of Birmingham, Alabama; Barbara Gebert Taylor of Gulfport, Mississippi; Mary Du-Bose Watson of Raleigh; Janyce Wilkinson Winders of Kenly; Ann Lane Buchly of Tryon; Cornelia Edwards Edwards of Snow Hill.

High school:

Ann Scott Anderson of Wilson; Frances Louise Atkins of Lillington; Martha Kay Baker of Timmonsville, South Carolina; Jane Chamblee Blythe of Charlotte; Alice Lyerly Bost of Hickory; Ann Fain Bowen of Tryon; Anne Louise Bransford of Greensboro; Sylvia Callaway of Pinehurst; Élizabeth Montgomery Cart of Spartanburg, South Carolina; Cathryn Eva Cheek of Smithfield; Sara Borden Cobb of Goldsboro; Harriet Dillingham

Conger of Edenton; Ferebee Fenner Cooper of Richmond, Virginia; Mary Elizabeth Cullen of Painter, Virginia; Diane Dashiell of Pensacola, Florida; Carolyn Elizabeth Duncan of Winchester, Virginia; Shirley Epting of Charlotte; Laura Powe Ervin of Morganton;

Ebba Susanne Freund of Raleigh; Mary Linda Garriss of Margarettsville; Nancy Barclay Glenn of Manhasset, New York; Leon Brandt Gold of Hickory; Mary Wingate Gray of Waverly, Virginia; Mary Gwendolyn Grizzard of Branchville, Virginia; Jean Abney Groves of Gastonia; Betty Jo Hansen of Raleigh; Hazel Chamblee Herring of Raleigh; Margo Erwin Hester of Tryon; Sara McClair Hope of Honea Path, South Carolina; Elizabeth Davis Jones of Pensacola, Florida; Freda Louise Keller of Charlotte; Mary Lee Nelson LaFar of Gastonia; Isabel Custis Lee of Rocky Mount, Virginia; Ellen Glenn Lightsey of Columbia, South Carolina; Isabel Van Rensselaer Master ton of Hillsboro; Mary Lenoir Michal of Boone; Ella Joanne Moreland of Spartanburg, South Caro lina; Catherine Hollister Morrison of Gastonia; Anne Moss McCabe of Greensboro; Emma Stevenson Mc-Cotter of New Bern; Katharine Anne Nichols of Dur ham; Ann McCulloch Nicolson of Rockingham; Elizabeth Ann Patman of Siler City; Emily Frances Patton of Chapel Hill; Julia Anne Pearson of Gastonia; Frances Coop er Perry of Windsor; Elizabeth Gray Proctor of Marion; Jane Suth erland Reinecke of Fayetteville; Beverly Grace Rutter of Ormond Beach, Florida; Barbara Watson Seaman of Warrenton; Pear Weathers Smith of Shelby; Ann Everette Stevens of Rocky Mount; Susan Horton Summerville of Char lotte; Mary Jane Swinson of Lake land, Florida; Myra Lynette Thay er of Louisburg; Marie Hollings worth Timmons of Columbia, South Carolina; Barbara Ann Tribble of Wake Forest; Sue Cosby Trinkle of Richmond, Virginia; Louise Trot ter Wooten of Goldsboro; Lorrie Ingram Clark of Candor.

Members of 1951 class:

Martha Allen Combs of Raleighi Rebecca Ann Gordon of South Hill, Virginia; Freta Ann Jones of Ra leigh; Lucille Christian Overton Jane Newport News, Virginia; Vir Lambdon Maddux of Marshall, Vir ginia; Adeline Bacon Neal of Sara sota, Florida; Patricia Bagley Dau iels of Kaleigh.

Great men never feel great. Small men never feel small.-Chinese Say ing.

A perfect faith would lift us com pletely above fear.-McDONALD.

The best place to spend your vaca tion is just inside your income. Andirons.

May 30, 1952