

Saint Sallies

This summer has a lot in store for most of us.

Peggy Smithdeal has already left school for New York where she and her family will fly Pan American Airplane to Paris, France. They will remain there for two weeks and then will make a tour through Switzerland, France, England, Germany, Italy, Austria, Belgium, and Holland. She will be gone for two months. Peggy Mitchiner and Deedee Davenport are also making a tour through Europe this summer with a lot of other young people from the surrounding colleges. B2 Nash is also planning to sail the high seas with her grandmother. Ann Applegate Bynum will follow right behind them, only she plans to go but half way. She and her family are going to Bermuda.

Going in the opposite direction Alice Bost, Lane Harvey, Mary Lee LaFar, Dewey Owens and Betsy Webb will leave from Charlotte and will travel in a modern pullman car all over the western part of the continent. They will be in Los Angeles for six days and then will travel up the coast after visiting the Grand Canyon, the National Forests and other spots of interest. They will follow the coast line into Canada and plan to return to North Carolina by way of the Great Lakes. They will be gone for about five weeks and, as you can imagine, are looking forward to the day they leave.

Camp is calling many girls to Camp Sea Gull on the Carolina Coast. Robin Fuller, Pat Cowden, Jean McConnell, Harriett Ann Braham, Shirley Habel, and Joyce Sparger are among the many girls who will be there from Saint Mary's. Chapel Hill has its eye on several of the seniors, or I should say, they have their eye on it. Cockie Smith, Nell Eley, Beckey Gordon and Laura Dean Matheson will be on hand to really "live it up." (In case anyone else is interested there is no man shortage on the Hill in the summer.)

As always there will be many SMS brides during the summer and early fall. Haffye Sewell, Iris Thomas, Betty Byrum, Janet Taylor, Bet Allen, and Barbara Carter are the gals who will soon be walking up that aisle. Nancy McIver, Gene Overbeck, Doris Ann Lineberger, and Donna Bull plan to be on hand to see Haffye in her biggest moment. Paula Whitaker, Libby Huffman, Susie Nicoll and Syb Hamer will drive down to Atlanta for Barbara's wedding.

Nags Head will find Sally McMullan, Margaret Rose, Ruth Watkins, Sumner Parham, Mary Bern Wolfe, B2 Nash, Frances Perry, H. Conger and probably many more SMS girls throughout the summer. Morehead and Wrightsville, Ocean Forest and Myrtle Beach will attract the rest, but wherever you go, have a wonderful time, do a lot of partying, and Saint Sallies will see you again in the fall.

Summer Styles Depend On Neatness, Freshness, Economy

Yes, it's hot weather and it's vacation time! Wherever you are going you will want a travel suit or dress with a jacket in washable cord, denim, or celanese acetate, or anything that will look fresh after much wear. The new custom, travel separates, will see you through anywhere, even after the trip is over. A pastel coat is a must if you are going where the weather is problematical. Black and white prints, checks, pencil stripes, or bold stripes or half-and-half is smart summer dressing. Oh, how you will depend on bare dresses with stoles or jackets for versatility! And let's not forget woman's best travel friend, nylon. Pajamas, blouses, and undies as well as your best party dress will give you no laundry worries.

How about accessories? Do you have a straw bag? Then you are all set. Now for shoes. Washable plastic or fabric shoes for beach time. Remember, if you are going to be walking, you'll want cushion soles, even in your sandals. Beige seems to be the new shoe color in kid, linen, or canvas. Hats? They're up to you, but you'll see a lot of small casuals in cotton to match the favorite dress or playsuit.

Now for what you are really interested in: getting into the swim or sun. This season there is a bathing suit style for any type of figure. For one thing, the skirts are coming back for those who prefer them. You can choose your most flattering material from cotton prints, nylon taffeta, piqué, faille, lastex, orlon, and acetate or combinations of these fabrics. The swimsuit field is wide open. Take your pick. You will want a strapless rubber cap and a big terry cloth robe that doubles as a towel.

The theme of all American girls is to be neat, practical, and economical. On the beach, in the mountains, in the city, or touring all three, you'll want to remember these watchwords to good grooming.

To a college grad: "Were you fired with enthusiasm when you tackled your first job?"

"Was I! I never saw a man so glad to get rid of me in my life!"

Neighbor: "When is your sister thinking of getting married?"

Little Brother: "Constantly."

The sailor had arrived home after a long cruise. "By the way, Mother, how did you like the parrot I sent you?"

"Well, it was nice and plump, but, my, it was tough."

What some people don't know about driving would fill a hospital.

Harriet Harris Gives Certificate Recital

Harriet Harris was presented by Russell Broughton in an organ recital on Sunday, May 17, in the chapel. Harriet played with statefulness, great depth of tone, and magnificent interpretation. Particularly in the most intricate passages of the "Bach Fugue," Harriet played with adeptness. Her pedal work was flawless.

Barbara White Gives Certificate Recital

Barbara White, soprano, presented her certificate recital in the school auditorium on Thursday night, May 14, at 8:30. Barbara is a student of Miss Geraldine Cate. She was accompanied by Mrs. L. S. Winton. Barbara's numbers included French and English songs. "Doue Sono" by Mozart, "L'Ane Blanc" by Hue, and "Pourquoi Rester Seulette" by Saint-Saens were among her selections. She concluded her beautifully delivered program with several English songs.

School for the Blind Gives Annual Recital

Tuesday morning, May 12, the Raleigh School for the Blind presented their annual Band recital. The band played several numbers composed by the members of the band and the band leader. Harvey Miller played two selections at the piano. One of the selections, "The Clam," was his own composition. The program was very enjoyable.

Some Hopeful Young Lasses Attend Their Last Classes

Ring-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g.

Ho-Hum! Another day — did I say another day? Quick, Myrtle, get out of bed! Know what day this is?—Last day of classes you dumb dodo! Can you believe it? Did you ever think you'd see this day after nine long months? ? ? Bet the teachers will really be nice to us today. Don't you know they hate to see us go. Whom will they pick on this summer? Yessir, boy, they really hate to see us go!

Ring-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g! ! !

Goodness! ! ! Time for class already. That's all right; this is one day I'm not dreading. Mr. Moore just has to be nice to us today. After all, it is our last class.

What's that? Pencil and paper? A test? My gosh, Mr. Moore, don't you realize that this is our last class? You can't, just positively and absolutely cannot give us a test today! Is there no human kindness in you? —Pretty hard test!

Ring-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g! ! !

Oh boy! Art class! Miss Morris will probably give us a party, or something. She really loves us. Can't you just see the tears come in her eyes when she wishes us all a nice vacation? Yessir, this class is really going to be fun.

Miss Morris, what are you doing? Giving us a test? But we haven't had a test in here all year? That's why you're giving it? Because this is the last day? And to think that I used to think you were different from all the other teachers.

Ring-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g-g! ! !

Well, this class is bound to be different. Dr. Browne is always ready to have a little fun. Anyway, didn't he say we were his favorite class? That's what I thought.

Oh, no, Dr. Browne, not you too! A test? But why? Why are all the teachers giving tests today, of all days? Because it's the last day?

Heck! I give up!!
