

In Memoriam

Every once in a while there is a person with a character so strong and well loved that he leaves behind him wherever he goes an enduring impression which touches the lives of everyone who knows him. We at St. Mary's have been fortunate in that such a person has long been a part of our life here at school and, for many, at home also. This person was Bishop Edwin A. Penick, whose recent death was a blow felt in the Episcopal Churches around the nation. Bishop Penick, residing for years in the Bishop's House on the corner of the campus, became a vital part of the spirit that is St. Mary's. His presence was felt every day around the campus, and when we were so fortunate as to have him take time out from his constant duties around the diocese to come and speak to us in our chapel, his winning personality left a vivid impression on the spirit of the girls. Although he will not be with us any more at services or at graduation, we cannot feel that he is any the less with us in spirit, for indeed the work and influence which he left behind have become a permanent and unchanging aspect of life at St. Mary's. Bishop Penick will be remembered here as one of the great contributors to the development of our school, as well as one of the most universally beloved personalities it has ever been our privilege to know.

Let's Give Our Best To The Very Last!

The four years which St. Mary's covers in a girl's schooling are the most important years of our entire education, and each of these four years has an influence far greater than we realize on our future life. In a few short weeks every girl here will finish one of these great steps in her education and the maturing of her character, and she will leave it forever and unchangeably behind her. What sort of year will each of us leave in her past? What have we got to show for the past months? True, there are many who have worked hard and well and sensibly and who have the knowledge that they have used this opportunity to the best of their ability; but the majority of us students, if we are perfectly honest with ourselves, know that we could have studied a little harder, cared a little more, and gotten an even greater benefit out of this school year. Well, now it's almost over. More than ever, it will be tempting in these fleeting weeks to let our work slide, to let spring fever surround us with laziness, to tell ourselves that the damage is done, we can't do any good in this little remaining time. But it's not too late! There's no excuse for slackness now. We have the better half of a quarter left in which to make a better effort than we have made all year. This quarter is actually the most important of the whole year for the very reason that we have our last and greatest opportunity to pull ourselves together and finish the year successfully. Shape up! Stop sitting around idly feeling sorry for yourself and start doing some honest work. If each one of us did her best from now until the day we leave, the grades would rise, the spirit of the school would soar, and we would all have a happier memory to take with us or to leave behind for others of this '58-'59 school session. This is our last and best chance, so let's all, each one of us, give it all we've got!

Faculty Facts

Name: Carolyn Peacock Poole (Mrs. W. Gordon).

Birthplace: Northboro, Massachusetts.

Alma Mater: Meredith College, Oberlin College.

Greatest Grievance: That there is so little time to accomplish so much, and that what time there is is so often wasted.

Favorite Pastime: Keeping up with the activities of one State College son, two Needham Broughton sons, and one third grade daughter as well as with those of a busy husband.

Former Aspiration: To be a research librarian in the Library of Congress.

Campus Improvement: A new classroom building with adequate teaching facilities, leaving downstairs Smedes for a Student Union.

Name: Dr. Laurence Earl Hinkle.

Birthplace: Marshfield, Missouri.

Alma Mater: B.A., University of Colorado; M.A., Columbia University; Ph.D., l'Universite de Dijon (France).

Favorite Pastime: Walking. "Mrs. Hinkle and I walk all over creation—from one end of Raleigh to the other."

Former Aspiration: "To attend West Point and become a military man."

Campus Improvement: "I suspect more and better classrooms for the students; I think that the girls ought to have better facilities for study."

Comments: "I think St. Mary's is a wonderful school; I'm tickled to death to be here. I wish that we had an endowment of several millions of dollars to make this institution entertain thousands of students of the same kind."

Honors, Achievements, and Activities: Listed in International Who's Who, Biographical Encyclopedia of the World, Who's Who in American Education; President of N. C. Modern Languages Association, and other honors; founder, promoter and past president of Sigma Pi Alpha; contributor of several educational projects; author of many articles and public lectures; holder of several outstanding positions in the field of education.
