New Cheerleaders Tapped In Assembly

On Monday, October 17, cheerleading try-outs were held for all new and old girls. The chant, "Go Red (or Blue), Go White, Go Team, Fight, Fight," could be heard across campus as approximately 35 enthusiastic girls practiced the cheer.

After dividing up into their own athletic associations, Sigma or Mu, the girls tried out in groups of three or four in front of the old cheerleaders. Pep, spirit, and volume, as well as co-ordination, were considered as the old cheerleaders made their choices.

After careful evaluation of the basic qualities of a good cheerleader, the following girls were chosen: Sigma—Barbara Jones, Caroline Green, Carey Hancock, Sue Miller, and Laura Whitley; Mu—Torrey Green, Ava Stout, Pris Edwards, Cheryl Lee, Jane Marzoni, and Beth Thomson.

These new cheerleaders were "tapped" in an assembly held on Monday night, October 17. The old cheerleaders were the instigators of this spirit-rendering pep rally.

Sigmas Lead Speedball Competition

In the first game of the Intra-annual season on Monday, October 4, the Sigmas, led by captain Nancy Wood Foreman, won the speedball game against the Mus, led by captain Betty Davenport. The score was 6-2. The second speedball game, played Wednesday, October 26, was also won by the Sigmas, this time by a score of 10-4.

The Sigmas seem to be following their motto, "Get that plaque back!" However, the season has just begun and the Mus have no intention of giving up the plaque without a struggle.

The year promises many interesting and exciting games, and each student is urged to go out every Monday and Wednesday at 4:00 and cheer for her team.

FAMOUS PIANIST HEARD IN CONCERT

Mr. William Masselos, pianist, appeared in concert Monday, October 24, in the St. Mary's auditorium. Mr. Masselos appeared as a part of the St. Mary's Artist Recitals for 1966-1967.

A program in four parts was presented by the pianist to St. Mary's students, faculty, and guests. The guests included faculty members from East Carolina College, Wake Forest College, and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

According to Mr. Donald Peery, a music instructor at St. Mary's, many of these guests attended the concert in order to hear Mr. Masselos play his first number, Aaron Copland's Sonata. Mr. Masselos is famous for his presentation of this Sonata.

"He is undoubtedly the finest pianist that will be heard in Raleigh this year," said Mr. Peery. "We were fortunate to hear him in our auditorium, because it is acoustically the best hall in Raleigh."

Miss Mary Ruth Haig, another member of the St. Mary's music department, played second piano with Mr. Masselos on Ballad from Opera 19 by Gabriel Faure which was followed by Davidsbundleranze from Opera 6 by Robert Schumann.

The pianist concluded his program with Sonata in B Minor by Franz Liszt, a piece which is known for its dramatic force and expression.

Mr. Masselos, a graduate of Juilliard School of Music, has recently made a tour of Europe and Mexico. He is playing this winter with the Little Orchestra Society at Lincoln Center in New York City. He has also appeared with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and is a member of the faculty at Catholic University in Washington, D. C.

Following the concert Dr. and Mrs. Stone held a reception to honor Mr. Masselos.

Seniors Present Fashion Show

By Claudia Davis

On Thursday, October 27, the Senior Class presented in Assembly a unique fashion show.

The MC for the Fashion Show festivities was Miss Choo-Choo Weaver, one of the better fashion co-ordinators in the South. The first model was Miss Anne Garwood, who wore the typical attire of new girls at St. Mary's. Of course this included a handsome pocket book for her class necessities. Next, Miss Weegie Martin displayed the latest rage in swim suits—an 1849 original on which St. Mary's has a monopoly. Miss Kathy McLanahan then came out wearing a beautiful new monogrammed London Fog which looked divine over flannel nightie for breakfast.

Following Kathy, Miss Winkie McGowan displayed the proper accessories that should be worn with our attractive, starched gym suits. Miss Jocelyn Strange looked simply ravishing in her matching yellow dress coat and clod pants, a must for any St. Mary's lady who is to be properly dressed for church or concert.

Miss Garwood then reappeared fully accustomed to life at St. Mary's. This time she wore a stunning St. Mary's sweatshirt, but she apparently had lost her handsome pocket book.

The next model, Miss Meredith Maynard, gave us a glimpse of that horrible Thursday afternoon look—a drab, black dress accentuating powderer white hair. Especially noticeable was the grand composure with which Miss Maynard carried herself! Then Miss Laura Whitley modeled for us that wonderful basic black dress which is worn for almost all occasions.

Next, models Sally James, Lucile McKee, and Margaret Stevens instructed us in the proper dress for a faculty member of St. Mary's.

This concluded the on-campus fashions, but the show wouldn't have been complete without some of the Unique Halloween Festivities Held

Monday night, Mr. Bell and the lunchroom staff gave their annual Halloween supper. The gym was decorated in the traditional orange and black.

Hamburgers, french fried potatoes, and cokes were served.

The surprise of the evening was the combo, Al Simmons and the Twilighters from Raleigh. They played throughout supper and provided entertainment for everyone.

The combo, with their singer Pauline, played after supper until the party ended.

Seniors Honor Juniors With Open House

Tuesday night, November 1, the Senior Class, led by Lucile McKee, gave a spooky Open House in the gym for the Juniors. Several halls were taken to the gym each half hour by a few senior "goblins" where they were greeted by hoots and howls.

The first program was the "Hoot Show" in which various talented groups appeared. Such groups were: Lee, Scott, and Don (better known as the LSD's), Margaret and the Magnolias, the Go-Go-Getters, Baby Blimp and the Beddy-byes, and a one act play entitled "The Story of the Storm." Lynn White was the master of ceremonies, and George Christoph was the entertainment committee chairman.

The next attraction was the Freak Show whose chairman was Sue Gelston.

Kathy Flannagan was in charge of the food committee which provided the juniors with caramel-cov-
