SUZY MAYNARD

POLITICAL POLL RESULTS Compiled by DON ROBERTS

Senator Edmund Muskie of Maine runs almost neck and neck with President Nixon In a straw vote taken at St. Mary's in December. Muskie received 44% of the vote to Nixon's 45% with 1% for Wallace and 10% undecided. In other selected contests President Nixon defeated Kennedy 54% to 30% with 2% to Wallace and 14% undecided, and the President outran Senator George McGovern 52% to 28%.

Participation in the Student-faculty poll totaled 220 or about 40% of the campus community, significantly below the 67% turnout earlier in the fall.

North Carolina residents were asked to pick among six listed candidates for governor of North Carolina and a full 33% expressed themselves as undecided. The leader, Lt. Governor Pat Taylor had 23% to 18% for Bowles, 14% for Gardner, 9% for Morton, 2% for Holhouser and 1% for Hawkins.

Political party identification on campus is still well divided among Democrats (43%), Reput Republicans (33%) and Independents (24%). 72% of the responses agreed that these is the two these were significant differences in the two major parties while 12% believe them to be the same. Self-labeling in political philosophy drew a surprising response: 11% conservative, 48% moderate, 30% liberal, 5% very liberal with 6% undecided.

Only 46% of the eligible voters on campus are registered. Only 10% of those polled Polled would consider running for office at

A three-day modern art seminar will be held February 8, 9 and 10 in St. Mary's auditorium. The topic of the seminar will be Classic and Romantic Influences in Modern Art. Sessions will be held Tuesday morning at 10:00, Wednesday evening at 8:00, and Thursday morning at 10:00. Miss Harriet Fitzgerald, a distinguished painter and lecturer, will be the speaker.

ART SEMINAR

A native of Danville, Virginia, Miss Fitzgerald is a graduate of Stratford College and Randolph-Macon. At the present time, she is a member of the Board of Trustees of SMIC. She will deal with "an inquiry and exploration of the relationship of art to sociological and psychological questions of the 19th and 20th centuries."

Miss Fitzgerald has travelled abroad extensively to further her knowledge of art, and has worked with the Art Student's League under John Sloan and others. Under the direction of the art program of the Association of American Colleges and Universities, she has been a visiting scholar and lecturer on many college campuses.

Also to her credit is the direction of the Abington Square Painters, a cooperative corporation of artists from all parts of the country. The corporation has headquarters, working space and other studio facilities on Abingdon Square in Grenich Village for its members, most of whom teach in colleges, universities and art schools. A travelling exhibition of their works will be on view the first three weeks of February in the library. Included in the 47-piece exhibit are paintings, pottery and jewelry, many of which are for sale.

. . . Every age, every culture, every custom and tradition has its own character, its own weakness, and its own strength, its beauties and ugliness; accepts certain sufferings as matters of course, puts up patiently with certain evils. Human life is reduced to real suffering, to hell, only when two ages, two cultures and religions overlap . . .
