

The Belles of St. Mary's

Vol. XXXVII, No. 5

RALEIGH, N. C.

December 3, 1973

SEE NO EVIL . . . Freshman pres. Ann Woodroof, sophomore pres. Valleri Tullai, and junior pres. Bonnie Ford anticipate a problem-free year.

Students Choose Officers To Lead Class Activities

Begun after Fall Break, class officer elections produced the following results:

Freshmen Officers
 President . . . . . Ann Woodroof
 Social Board . . . . . Ann Isenhower
 Leg. Body . . . . . Libby Jones
 Vice President . . . . . Jill Rice
 Secretary . . . . . Lena Johnson
 Treasurer . . . . . Leigh Gaither
 Dance Marshal
 . . . . . Ellyn Faircloth

Sophomore Officers
 President . . . . . Valleri Tullai
 Honor Board . . . . . Mary Dombalis
 Social Board . . . . . Kay Castlebury
 Leg. Body . . . . . Becky Davis
 Vice President . . . . . Candy Bunn
 Secretary . . . . . Bennett Wellons
Junior Officers
 President . . . . . Bonnie Ford

Honor Board . . . . . Susanne Owens
 Roland Elliott
 Social Board . . . . . Sallie Shuping
 Leg. Body . . . . . Melinda Byrd
 Gaither Kelly
 Vice President . . . . . Yorke Wooten
 Secretary . . . . . Sally Betts
 Treasurer . . . . . Sally Lewis
 Editor's Note: Sophomore treasurer and sophomore and junior dance marshals had not been elected when The Belles went to press.

Circle Completes Second Eerie Walk

If you happened to be looking out your window Tuesday night, Nov. 6, around midnight, do not worry, you were not seeing things. It was not the Ku Klux Klan or some stray Halloween ghosts that you saw — it was the Circle making its second walk of the year.

With the torch leading the way, the traditional circle was formed in front of Holt. The members thought they really had us fooled this time, but no white robes or lowered hoods could disguise Becky Clark, Anna DuBose, Gail Goforth or Sue Summerhayes. These four upper seniors are the latest additions to the club. But the Circle's gain is our loss in that our two top spies, Becky Clark and Anna DuBose, have turned traitor and will no longer take part in the devious methods of "circle-watching." It will be a tricky business to get the inside scoop about the next walk.

So keep your eyes peeled and your ears opened, especially near the end of January. If a little circle mysteriously appears on the board in Smedes or Ellen Henson wears a bra, then you will know it's that time again.

Stamey Portrait Presented to SMC

by Karen Rose
 St. Mary's final production of "The Boyfriend" proved exciting not only for the Father-Daughter Day guests but also for Mrs. Nancy Stamey. At the conclusion of the performance, Mebane Ham, Drama Club President, presented to St. Mary's a portrait of Mrs. Stamey, painted by Greg Moll. Mebane introduced to the audience this "grand and gracious lady" who has served St. Mary's for 17 years and expressed her feeling that "her personal concern for each individual student is unparalleled by anyone I have known."

Dr. Pisani presented Mrs. Stamey with a bouquet of long-stemmed roses and daisies. He explained that although one rose symbolizes love, 12 roses symbolize the love that many people have for her.

After honoring Mrs. Stamey with a standing ovation, the audience joined her in the dining room for a brief reception. While enjoying refreshments, she was given a hand-tooled silver service.

The Drama Club wishes to express sincerest thanks to all who helped make the evening a success. Without the help of the students, faculty, administration, and alumni, the occasion would not have been possible.

COMPLETELY SPEECHLESS . . . Mrs. Stamey views her portrait as Dr. Pisani brings her a bouquet.

SMC Fights Cystic Fibrosis

by Gail Shackelford
 Through the Sociology Department at St. Mary's, students were informed of a carnival that was held Saturday, Nov. 3, for the Cystic Fibrosis organization. Many students from N. C. State, Meredith, Peace College, and area high schools as well as adults volunteered to help.

Four St. Mary's girls helped put on a puppet show. Margaret Williams, Kay Carpenter, Annette Kerlin and Gail Shackelford worked for the charity carnival which featured Captain Kangaroo. Laura Grimes, editor of the Stagecoach, helped to organize this project with Ms. Hancock.

It was estimated that more than 10,000 children attended the carnival which was set up in the lower level parking lot of Thalhimer's in Cameron Village. This event featured a magic show, puppet show, train ride and many different booths containing various activities and prizes for the kids. All the money went to Cystic Fibrosis research.

The girls really enjoyed helping with this project, although it was hard work. A puppet show was put on every 30 minutes from 9:00 - 4:30; each show lasted about twenty minutes.

These were hand puppets that acted out a story on a tape recorder. A similar show was used to entertain the children from the Governor Morehead School.

Mrs. Celeste Bennett of Raleigh put the show together and taught the girls how to work the puppets.

Five Seniors Join Phi Theta Kappa

by Mary McGranahan
 Donning their Sunday best, five seniors were inducted into Phi Theta Kappa, the college honor society, Nov. 14, bringing the club's membership to 15.

The new members are Mary Smith who has recently moved from Goldsboro to Shelby, N. C., Pam Hardage from Norlina, N. C., Denise Howell from Bennettsville, S. C., Beth Ellington from Burlington, N. C., and Diane Terrell from Lynchburg, Va.

Phi Theta Kappa President Leslie London presided over the ceremony, assisted by secretary-treasurer Katie Hill.

Miss Beth Mackie, Mrs. Georgette Campbell, and Mrs. Hannah Scoggin advise the group.

Vestry Aids Blind School

by Gaye Isenhour
 The Vestry, headed by Neal Johnson and Becky Clark, sponsored a party for 42 elementary-age children from the Governor Morehead School of the Blind on Nov. 19.

At 4:30, girls from each hall went and picked the children up. Then, a scavenger hunt was held when the children looked for rocks, leaves, thread, etc. The first five children to come through the cafeteria line won prizes for finishing the scavenger hunt early. In addition, the last two to go through the line won prizes for their hard efforts.

Students Remember Father-Daughter Day Fun

by Velda Carter
 Daddy's day came and for most of us it was lots of fun and excitement. All the rooms were scrubbed and polished waiting for the arrival of their favorite guy. Clothes and shoes were stuffed under the beds to keep daddy from fussing about messy rooms. Each hall was uniquely decorated and struggled to be a bit better than the others. The unlucky artists on the halls were stuck staying up half the night finishing up the decorations.

Four halls were chosen to be the winners. The best decorated hall among the Freshman class was 2nd Middle Smedes. Each father was given a cigar by the stork when he arrived. Through their drawings, they illustrated their lives from childhood to college. The Sophomore hall winner was 1st West Smedes. They portrayed a beautiful story book land featuring Charlotte's Webb, Sleeping Beauty, Wizard of Oz, and others. There must be quite a few art majors on this hall because it all appeared to be professional work.

The most outstanding Junior hall was 3rd Cruik. These girls showed a great amount of time and work in their portrayal of Disneyland. The winning Senior hall was 3rd Holt. Their jungle really attracted the daddies' attentions, especially the monkeys hanging from the ceiling. All the halls were really cute and original.

One of the main attractions of the day was the tennis tournament. The father of Molly Jordan, Tom Jordan, from New Jersey and Miss Jones challenged Pauline Betz Addi and Burt Steins, father of Mary Jo Steins. Jordan and Jones won. Mrs. Addi was a four time winner of the Forest Hills tournament and one time winner of Wimbledon. 40 father-daughter teams participated in the tournament with Laura Fanjoy and her father the champions.

Each year Father-Daughter Day brings a little more excitement to SMC campus. The girls don't really ever get tired of being with their dads and the dads love to spend the whole day with their little girls. Even though we have all climbed out of our baby cribs and given away our bottles, daddy will always be one of our favorite guys.

Day Fun

A PROUD DADDY . . . All the way from Utah, Mr. Walt Summerhayes watches his daughter, Sue, perform with the Cold Cuts.