

Mrs. Barnhardt

NEW LOOK FOR PINKERTONS

by Mary Lawrence Hicks

The pinkertons have ordered new uniforms for next year. Instead of the traditional gray outfits they will be dressed in St. Mary's sweatshirts, gym shorts, sweatsocks and high top tennis shoes. They have planned a seasonal change from navy for winter to white for summer. The new high speed efficiency weapons on order are sling shots to be loaded with Grogan's meatballs.

In addition to the new uniform, the squad has decided to try using disguises for "hard to catch" offenders.

They now each have a collection of three disguises: a clip on mustache, a set of glasses with nose and mustache attached, and a pair of bright red lips. In the future the pinkertons intend to request several more Pizza nights so they may make their collection complete.

Merry Christmas

EXAMS ARE CANCELLED !!!

Exams for the fall semester at St. Mary's College have been canceled. The idea of canceling exams began at a faculty meeting several weeks ago. The topic of exams arose with the usual comments made. It was Harry Callahan, drama dept. head, that stood up in the meeting and said that he had decided not to have exams. The faculty responded with a loud applause. Other teachers followed Callahan's move. The teachers decided to all leave on a trip to Europe immediately following classes on Friday, December 10th.

We asked several of the St. Mary's faculty their reasons for canceling exams. The answers are as follows:

Elgiva Watson-"I don't feel that I've given the students enough notes for an exam."

Myra Beth Mackie-"I don't want to grade them. Instead, I'm baking all my classes fudge."

John Tate-"Well, I just said to myself, 'John, this is stupid stuff.'"

Hannah Scoggin-"Exams? Are we supposed to give exams? Oh, that's right, we are. Oh, we're not?"

Harry Callahan-"I've run out of easy questions."

Beatrice Greewalk-"Out of all my classes I have four people passing. I just can't risk it."

Rebekah Gunn-"I'd rather all my students go out and get rogered."

by China Doll

Seniors Receive Self-Determining Hours -For Graduation-

by Mary Lawrence Hicks

A petition was recently passed for seniors allowing them to determine their own credit requirements for graduation. Any student who is passing all the courses she is taking, whatever they may be, will be eligible for graduation. Those who have suffered through courses they disliked in order to graduate are somewhat miffed, but they are outnumbered by those who were planning to merely transfer. Cap and gown orders have picked up tremendously and the administration is working on hiring several more ceramics professors for next semester.

Song Writing Contest

We need a new school hymn. First prize - a weekend for two in Reno with Mr. Rice. Second prize - Rendez-vous for two with Lt. Poole. Third prize - a fun-filled night with Mr. Appleton. Hurry, hurry! We are almost to our limit!

ANNOUNCEMENTS...

- Planned Parenthood will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Ragland Auditorium. A film will be shown.

- The Forum will present I Am Curious Yellow on Monday at the regular time.

- The Gay Liberation Club will have their weekly meeting Saturday at 8:00 p.m. at International House of Pancakes. Dates are invited.

- There will be a Fire Drill on Wednesday at 4:30 a.m. Everyone please be on campus.

- Tryouts for Hair will be held Thursday afternoon in Pittman Auditorium. Mr. Callahan reminds those who are planning to try out to shave their legs.

- Lost--The Belles staff. If you find them, please call 834-1475. Thanks-Kathy Cairns. (A reward is offered).

- Place your bets on Dr. Watson's U.S. and English history exams. Call 834-1744.

- Hot exams: Campbell's - anatomy and Scoggin's - anthropology. Call 832-0041. Deals will be made.

- The Bar will open between 11:00 & 12:00 this week. 3rd Penick.