THE NEW AGE BOWS: FRESHMEN AT TWO SCHOOLS ARE THE FIRST IN THE COUNTRY REQUIRED TO BUY COMPUTERS IN ORDER TO ENROLL.

Entering freshmen at Stevens Institute of Technology in New Jersey and Clarkson College of Technology in New York are the first in the U.S. who have to buy microcomputers from their schools as a condition of enrollment.

Clarkson students, who registered Aug. 25th & 26th, pay $200 a term extra for the computers, which they'll own after four years.

If they drop out or transfer before that, they lose the machines.

Five hundred Stevens frosh will pay a total of $1800 extra for their DEC Professional 325 micros. They picked them up Sept. 1st and 2nd.

COLLEGES WILL SPEND ABOUT $89 BILLION THIS SCHOOL YEAR, THE DEPT. OF EDUCATION REPORTS.

In its annual "back to school" report, the department predicted public colleges and universities will have total budgets of $59 billion.

Private campus budgets amount to $30 billion, the department said.

"TEACHING IS IN CRISIS IN THIS COUNTRY," SAYS CARNEGIE FOUNDATION PRESIDENT ERNEST BOYER.

The foundation's study - released last week - said education majors typically had lower S.A.T. scores than average students.

Average teacher salary, moreover, dropped from $10,164 to $8926 from 1973 to 1983, when inflation is figured in.

A MALE PROF WINS SEX BIAS SUIT AGAINST BROWN BY ARGUING FEMALE PROF'S "MERIT PAY" RAISE WAS UNFAIR.

Brown wanted to stop Art History Prof. Catherine Wilkinson-Zerner from jumping to Northwestern, which wanted to increase its ratio of female professors.

A $9700 pay raise convinced her to stay at Brown, but colleague Rudolf Winkes said the raise constituted sex discrimination against him.

Last week a federal court agreed, awarding Winkes $23,800 in back pay for doing the same work as Zerner, adding Brown had used no "objective standards" in determining Zerner's work merit.

Campus rape rate higher than reported

AUBURN, AL (CPS) - The real number of campus rapes and sexual assault cases may be many times higher than officials have traditionally believed, according to a new Auburn University study on sexual attitudes.

Nearly one out of every six male students questioned admitted to forcing women to have sex with them, the study of over 200 sophomores found.

Moreover, 20 percent of the female students surveyed said they had been forced to have sex even though they objected.

Surprisingly, "very few of the women defined such situations as rape," notes Auburn psychologist Barry Burkhardt, who helped direct the study.

"None of these men were ever arrested or charged with rape, and as far as I know none of the women had reported what happened to them," he says.

The reason, it seems, is because all of the incidents involved what experts are now calling "acquaintance rape."

"We're finding the acquaintance rape is a very frequent type of incident that takes place on campuses," says Dan Keller, director of public safety at the University of Louisville and president of Campus Crime Prevention Programs, an independent campus law enforcement association.

"It could typically involve a girl and guy who meet at a party, then the guy invites the girl home and physically forces her to have sex. The guy just won't take no for an answer, even if it means using force."

The Auburn study shows that most of the time neither male nor female considers that rape has occurred, Keller continues, "because of the traditional concept of rape as a situation where somebody grabs you off the sidewalk and attacks you."

Burkhardt calls the results of his study both, "surprising and distressing" because "they indicate that there's still a great deal of rape sentiment among males in our society."

Keller believes that for every case of reported student rape by a stranger, "there are dozens of cases of acquaintance rape that weren't reported."

Burkhardt agrees, saying that despite the 40 rape cases disclosed by his study, "campus police have had only two rape cases reported in the last several years."

"I WOULDN'T TREAT MY BIKE THE WAY YOU TREAT YOUR BODY."
- Judy Lafferty

When Judy Lafferty prepares for a race, she checks every part of her bike.

Because she checks her body the same way, she discovered a lump in her breast a few years ago.

She discovered it early. And these days, 85% of early breast cancers can be treated successfully.

Judy has since had reconstructive surgery, too. And she feels like herself again. Alive, vibrant, ready to get on her bike and take on the world.

Judy Lafferty is living proof of the progress we're making against cancer.

The American Cancer Society takes some credit for that progress. But credit won't finance our work.

We need your money to help us win this race.
