N. W. SUPPLY COMPANY,

J. L. MARLOW, MANAGER.

In his service at the head of Yad-kin, he would be thrown as yoke fellow with Cleveland Coffee. Indeed the clerk of that old church which was organized about 1760 and was one of the constituent churches of the Lewis's Fork Association, was Thomas Field, a family name plentiful in Guilford county at this day. A neighboring church was soon organized at Catawba. Globe, Mulberry, Lower Creek and Yadkin were then in the bounds of Head of Yadkin, and these were probably the places visited by Elder McNeil at that early day. Mulberry Fields bears date 1777, Kings creek, 1779; Beaver creek, 1779; Three Forks, in Watauga, 1790; Cove Creek, 1799; Globe, 1796, and the Mountain District Association, in 1799. What a task it now is to take the tangles out of this long skein in which there is so much to say and such small compass to say it in. My paper for this article is almost exhausted, and we have left a thousand things unsaid.

Another name among the pioneers of Wilkes, although not a Baptist, deserves a mention among those who were Baptists. This was Elder Jesse Lee, whose brother, John Lee, lived and died in the upper Yadkin country. It was in 1784, the year before the Methodist Episcopal church was fully organized on this continent, Elder Lee was one of its pioneers and a mighty man was he. His Salisbury circuit then extended as far as Col.
Hendren on the Yadkin River. During the month of February 1785, Mr. Asbury was passing this way on his route to Charleston, and turned aside to preach for Elder Lee at his appointment at Col. Hendren's. Lee attended, delighted to see him as he had not met him since his appointment to the honor of Bishop. He was, however, much mortified as well as surprised when Asbury appeared before the congregation assembled at the Colonel's in full canonicals—black gown, cassock, and band. But elder Lee survived it, so did Col. Hendren. This illustrious christian man had a ministry to the bounds of our pioneer settlements, and did great good.

I notice the following Welch names found among our ancestry and their visitors of the Lewis's Fork, viz.: The Powells, the Joneses, the Thomases, the Owens, the Penrys, the Evanses, the Williamses, the Griffiths; and among the Irish there are the Bakers, Edwards and Fergus-sons. Other Scotch names occur as the Carmichaels, the Greggs, the Craigs and the Douglasses; and I have them all altho—some are Baptists now and some are not, and some of them never were.
