CLIO

A very interesting program was rendered in the Clio Hall Thursday October 14. Some of the numbers on the program were:

A piano solo which was played very beautifully by Miss Mamie Lee, a story, "The Weak Little Oyster," by Miss Myrtle Blevins; also, Miss Vista Stines told some very interesting jokes.

Every member of the society is at work on something; therefore, each member is being trained, although she cannot take part on the program very often. The two hours, from four to six o'clock on Thursday, are hours of joy for every Clio.

A long business meeting followed the program, and on account of a lack of time a called meeting was held at 12:30 Friday to re-elect officers.

NONPAREIL

In the program of the Nonpareil Literary Society for Thursday, October 14, the Nons showed their enthusiasm for society work and their determination to make it enjoyable as well as profitable. The original program for last meeting took us back for a short visit to the old-fashioned village school. Vonnie Whitaker made a typical old-fashioned teacher, while several girls became little school children again, giving to the members of the society much amusement by their songs and speeches. The program was thoroughly enjoyed by every one present.

For the meeting of October 28, we are planning an interesting program on the life and works of Wordsworth, and we are sure it will be worth while to those taking part and those listening. We give a hearty welcome to all.

PHILOMATHIANS

A noticeable growth is seen in the spirit of the Philomathian society. During the two last weeks we have had regular programs of interest. We are looking forward to great success with definite plans for wonderful improvements during the year. Our president, newly elected, has an overcharge of the Phi spirit and is leading right along just as though he had been president for a long time.

Keep your eyes and ears open and you will hear from us. We extend a hearty welcome to you to pay us a visit any time. If you are a young man in school at Mars Hill and have not joined either of the societies visit us next Friday evening at 7:15 o'clock.

EUTHALIAN

The old Euthalian spirit and pep are being sounded in a high key, as we proceed with the work in the society. It seems as if never before were so much enthusiasm and vigor expressed on the part of the new students as well as old ones to do some real work. This being true, it is a settled fact that a very fruitful year will be the result.

At the regular meeting on Friday evening, October 8, our sisters, the Nonpareils, presented to us a beautiful table as a token of their love and good wishes. This gift was highly appreciated by each member, and a more useful gift could not have been selected. The Euthalians are proud of their sisters and are always ready and willing to lend a helping hand to whatever task they undertake.

Anniversary Representatives Entertained.

The officers of the Nonpareil Literary Society delightfully entertained the Euthalian anniversary representatives in the society hall immediately following the program.

Those attending were served with punch as they entered the door. They were then seated, and a delicious salad course was served. The quartette ren-

PREACHERS FAMILIES PLAY

Announcement in the Ministerial Conference Thursday of the approaching picnic for the married ministerial students, wives, and families made some of the unmarried ones wish that they, too, might be included. In fact, some asked if "those contemplating marriage" might attend; but the number was too great! Therefore they were eliminated. However, Friday afternoon, October 15, Mr. Hamby's pasture, the scene of the picnic, could scarcely have held more. The new ministerial families were the guests of the old ministerial families. The hour was spent in playing games, performing stunts, and frolicking in a joyous manner. An abundant supper, the last part of the picnic, was served as the final event.

HIGH SCHOOL SQUAD BRINGS HOME GLORY!

Right proud we are of our amateur eleven. Friday, October 15, an interesting conflict between Mars Hill High and Canton High was staged on the Canton gridiron with Mars Hill bringing off the scalps. There is some splendid material in this plucky squad of young fighters as is shown by the score of 11-0 in their favor. This score was won off the strong Canton team which has a reputation for winning.

MARY CARTER ENTERTAINED

Pleasant surprises are always welcome, especially so when they are in the form of a surprise birthday party. At least, Mary Carter thought so Monday, October 11. In honor of her nineteenth birthday, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Carter, invited a number of friends to spend a delightful evening with her. After a charming social hour, delicious refreshments were served. Those present were: Mrs. Owen and son Francis, Misses Ona Woody, Katherine Anderson, Lucille and Mary Hamby; Messrs. Harry and George Carter.

P. T. A. AT WORK

The Parent-Teachers' Association of Mars Hill held a very interesting meeting on Tuesday of last week. Under the efficient leadership of Mrs. Elmore, it continues to improve. Plans were made for the continuation of such advancements. It is hoped that the Association will accomplish much this year. We are, indeed, glad to learn that Mars Hill High School is now an accredited high school; there are only three in the county. One of the aims for the coming year is to make the elementary school accredited also. The banner for having most grades present was won by the first grade.

ANOTHER SURPRISE PARTY

Mrs. A. C. Hamby also comes in for some surprises. Tuesday night a number of ladies gave her a birthday party and handkerchief shower. During the social hour attractive music helped to entertain those present. The refreshments were served in the dining hall. Those giving the party were: Mrs. E. F. Baker, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. Pruett Hartsell, Mrs. Leatherwood, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Poole, Mrs. Roberts, and Mrs. Reese.

The community people have enjoyed having with them Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powers, Jr., and small son, of Jacksonville, Florida. Mrs. Powers was formerly Miss Inez Tillery, formdered several selections which were enjoyed by all.

Among the guests were Mrs. Wilkins and Miss Howell, who were recognized and spoke a few words of encouragement and love to the representatives and officers.

After the evening had been enjoyably passed, the presiding officer, Mr. Charles Roper, expressed in behalf of those who were on program their appreciation for the kindness showed them by their sisters.

er expression teacher of Mars Hill College.

The young people of the town are doing their part in the work of the community; in the B. Y. P. U. they are training. The girls in the Y. W. I. have the true spirit of service and loyalty, grasping the opportunities that come to them.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Coates attended a meeting of the J. R. Watkins Co., which was held in Salisbury, N. C., October 8, 9, and 10. Mr. Coates is a salesman of the company. While on the trip they visited Charlotte and other places of interest in the east.

is faculty advisor of this club. The officers elected were Knolan Benfield, president; Ona Woody, vice-president; Irene Willis, secretary; and Agnes Harrell, treasurer. The first meeting was held on a date near Riley's birthday. The president gave a summary of James Whitcomb Riley's life and the other numbers of the program were selections from his writings.

On Tuesday evening, October 19, Halloween will be celebrated by the club. The program is as follows: (1) Pantomimic Farce, "The Light Went Out," Bessie Snyder, Ruth Barrs, Ostelle Warren, and Gyn Gambill. (2) Reading; Sarah Blackwell. (3) Short Story, Edward Harrell.

Among the thirty-nine enrolled in the department, a great deal of talent is found. Public programs are to be given from time to time. A play, given by the students, is scheduled for December 18 as a number of the lecture program. The expression studio has been redecorated and new furnishings are to be added.
