

ALUMNI NEWS

Miss Hattie Roberts, a recent visitor at Mars Hill, is now at work with the Central Bank of Asheville, N. C. Miss Roberts graduated in Art at Mars Hill. She is thinking at present of going North to study interior decoration.

Miss Edna Elmore, who graduated here in Expression, visited Mars Hill last week-end. She is now teaching near Gastonia, N. C.

Among some of the other visitors at Mars Hill are: Miss Daisy Franklin, who is teaching Music at Cullowhee State Normal; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Cox, of Winterville; and Misses Lucile Dryman and Lucy Bennett, of Candler N. C.

Mr. Bruce Hildebrand, who, after finishing here, graduated at the University of North Carolina, is now in the furniture business at Marion, N. C. It is reported that he is making a great success. Mr. Irvin Berry, who is studying medicine at Wake Forest College, was also a recent visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hill announce the birth of a daughter, Nonnie Sue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lytton announce the marriage of their daughter, Lucile, to Mr. Roy L. Feemster on Sunday, April 17, 1927, at Gastonia, N. C.

Miss Mabel Smith, of Morganton, another 1926 graduate, spent Easter on "The Hill."

Miss Virginia Lawrence, a 1925 graduate, who is teaching at Walnut, N. C., was a recent visitor at Mars Hill.

Messrs. Ople Wells, Wm. Grubbs, and J. F. Furches, all 1925 graduates; Chas. Huskins and Gilmer Graham, 1926 graduates of Mars Hill, from Wake Forest College, were week-end visitors at Mars Hill.

Miss Bernice Hamrick was married to Mr. C. R. Holy, Jr., on April 5, 1927, at Shelby, N. C.

Mr. Noah Hollowell, a recent editor of The Hendersonville Times, is a deacon and member of the finance committee of the First Baptist Church of Hendersonville, of which Rev. Arthur Jackson is pastor. Miss Vada B. Orr is superintendent of the Junior Department of this same church.

Mr. R. B. Sams, a former trustee of Mars Hill College, who has been in the work of the government as divisional chief of the prohibition department in the Pennsylvania territory for 29 years, recently died at Trenton, N. C.

On December 26, 1926, Miss Lela Tillery, of Marshall, N. C., was married to Mr. Corry Wallin, of White Rock. They will make their home at White Rock. Miss Tillery was a teacher at Point Rock.

Rutherfordton has a new lawyer in the person of McKinley Harrill. Mr. Harrill is a Mars Hill man; he studied law at Wake Forest College and passed the state board in 1925.

Miss Madeline White is director of the B. Y. P. U. work at West End Baptist Church of Asheville. Rev. R. O. Arbuckle is pastor of this church.

Mrs. J. P. Gulley, formerly Miss Bertha Olom, died recently. Mrs. Gulley was a fine Christian character; she made her home until her death at Crozet, Va., where her husband was pastor of Crozet and Hillsboro Baptist Churches.

It was reported that Mr. Sol V. Greene was dead; this was a mistake, we are pleased to state. Mr. Greene is married and living in Orlando, Fla.

Mr. E. LeRoy Carter, a 1918 graduate, has been teaching at Wingate Junior College, Wingate, N. C.

WHERE WAS MOSES WHEN THE LIGHTS WENT OUT?

We suppose he was in the dark as was the fate of the Science Club last Monday night. The meeting was postponed, however, until Monday, April 25, at 7:30 o'clock.

Every member is looking forward to the program with great interest, especially those primarily interested in science. A discussion on luminous bacteria will be given by Walton Kitchen, and "Our Growing Debt to Science" will be discussed by Fred Drake. And, furthermore, snappy extemporaneous speeches by different persons will add to the interest of the club. These speeches deal with such subjects as, "The Science of the Soup-line," and "The Use of Sodium Stereade Economically."

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

On Saturday evening, April 23, the Junior class entertained the Senior class with a formal banquet given in the dining hall. The hall was beautifully decorated in rose and gray, the Senior colors. The tables were placed in three rows the entire length of the dining hall, and were decorated to carry out the Junior colors, green and white. The waiters were dressed in blue coats and white trousers, while the waitresses wore solid white dresses with green and white aprons and caps.

At 6:45 the Juniors and Seniors of both the College and Academy assembled in the auditorium where they were delightfully entertained by a mock wedding, presented by the students of the Academic department. After this, the college students formed in a line and followed Mr. P. C. Stringfield, honorary member of the Senior class, into the dining hall. Here the receiving line, composed of officers of C-I class and several faculty members gave each student a hearty welcome.

When those present had been conducted to their assigned places, Raymond Long, president of Junior class, delivered his speech of welcome, to which R. Festus Welch, Senior class president, gave a response.

The first course was served, during which the C-I orchestra gave some excellent music. Next came a toast to the faculty, by E. L. Bradley. This brought forth a humorous, instructive, and altogether delightful response from Mr. Stringfield.

During the second course, the C-I quartet, composed of Messrs. W. S. Hughes, Edward Harrell, Frank Kirby, and G. T. Cornwell, rendered a beautiful selection.

As an encore they sang two very snappy pieces which met with hearty applause. A toast to the trustees, by C. H. Sullivan, received an instant response by Mr. Gibbs of Mars Hill. The third course was served, during which the orchestra again played. Then came the address given by Mr. L. M. Lee.

During the last course, a play was given by several members of the Junior Class. This play portrayed, in part, the lives of some of the Seniors ten years hence. The cast of characters was as follows:
 R. Festus Welch.....Lethco Brock
 Mrs. Festus Welch (nee Gage Morrow).....Audrey Byrd
 Paul S. Grady.....Ed. Haynes
 Paul B. Brown.....Troy Jones

Old Maids' Convention

Fun! Yes, the Clios had fun April 14. Several interesting numbers were given, but the outstanding feature of the program was the Old Maids' Convention.

The old maids were: Gilma Baity, Maryon Hoffman, Myrtle Barnette, Myrtle Blevens, Luna Cranfill, Edith King, and Emma Hartsell.

Different ways of attracting the attention of bachelors, young men, single men, and married men were discussed. The continuous powdering of the nose and winking of the eye were decided to be essential.

Encouraging reports were made by all the delegates at the convention. Several of the clubs had not been very successful; but two of the clubs had succeeded in getting three ladies married within ten years.

The ladies discussed changing the name of the convention. It was voted on and in the future it shall be known as "The Ladies-in-Waiting Society."

After several matters of business were negotiated, the president of the convention asked all the ladies who had dates for the evening to stand. Only one lady responded to the call, Miss Myrtle Barnette. It was rumored that she had an engagement with a member of the faculty.

"The Ladies-in-Waiting" adjourned to "doll up" for the Bachelors' Banquet that was to be given in the O. E. Sams dining hall that evening.

FORMER PERSIDENTS VISITS PHILOMATHIAN

The doors of the Philomathian Literary Society stand open to friends and visitors who desire to hear interesting programs, consisting of literary numbers, such as orations, declamations, and debates. Some of our recent visitors were Miss Mary Louise Mundy, Mr. Frank Furches, and Mr. A. B. Kenny. Miss Mundy came from Virginia Interment College, representing that college here in the Intercollegiate Debate. Mr. Furches and Mr. Kenny are old Philomathians. Mr. Furches is a former president of the Philomathian Society; he is now studying at Wake Forest College, where he is winning honor for himself and for Mars Hill in athletics. Mr. Kenny left us early in the spring for State College, where he is continuing his study in electrical engineering. We are always delighted to have old Philomathians return after they have left us to follow their various callings of life. We extend to everybody a cordial invitation to visit us on Friday evenings.
