

ALUMNI

Dr. R. G. Wilson, of Asheville, has been reappointed a member of the Come County board of charities for public welfare, to cooperate with the state board in matters of public health and welfare.

Senator T. L. Johnson was a speaker at Leicester and at Asheville in the Democratic rallies held in October.

Mr. W. H. Hipps, a successful attorney of Asheville, expresses a love and interest in, and a desire to help Mars Hill. He is always a friend of the school.

Miss Ollie Moss, who graduated at Mars Hill and then became a nurse, recently with a patient at St. Joseph Hospital at Asheville. Her home is at Gaffney.

At Wake Forest the former Mars Hill students are E. F. Baker, R. K. Field, E. L. Bradley, Wade Bostic, A. Britt, Wade E. Brown, R. Paul Dill, Walter Crawford, Robert Schfield, Gwyn Gamble, Edwin Jones, S. W. Hughes, Chas. Edwin Troy Jones, W. B. Kemp, Raymond Long, Charles Maddry, Robert Ore, Jasper Morgan, L. D. Melvin, Tom McLeod, G. B. Murphy, O. J. Rphy, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Claud body, Warren Omohundro, Henry Herman, Raleigh Alford, B. B. Parker, Percy Parker, Simon Parker, Sir Stroupe, Ula Stroupe, James th, Lowell Taylor, Bruce Tomber, Craig Vaughn, Hubert Reading, Clyde Yates, M. L. Kestler, Mer-Bachelor, Ben Strickland.

Mr. W. R. Anderson has been the county farm demonstration agent in its main county for nearly a year. He has helped the people who found employment scarce to get a good return from their soil.

Miss Kathleen Elmore, a graduate in 1925, received her degree at the University of North Carolina in 1927. She has been teaching Spanish in the Hanover High School in Wilkesboro. This is the second largest school in the State. Miss Elmore reports their enrollment this year as 1927, with fifty-two, on their staff of 22 teachers and three hundred and thirty students in the Spanish department.

Dr. William Chivous Bostic, Jr., married October 20, at Carlton, Virginia, to Miss Elizabeth Van Cleave. After a trip to New York they will make their home in Forest Grove, where he is associated with his father in the practice of medicine.

A few weeks ago Dr. and Mrs. C. Bennett moved into their new home at 386 Kimberly Avenue, Asheville. Their friends came to help celebrate after their arrival.

Dr. D. L. Young of China, is teaching chemistry in the Chee Lou University, Tsinan, Shantung, Chia. Dr. Young graduated at Mars Hill a few years ago and finished his work at the Forest, the University of North Carolina, and N. C. State College. He was unable to return to his home because of political conditions in China. He sends his regards to all his friends at Mars Hill.

Mr. R. R. Mallard, who was in college here in 1913-15, was a recent visitor to the campus. Upon finishing his studies Mr. Mallard went to Wake Forest where he received his B. A. degree in 1919. The following year he attended the University of Virginia School, since that time he has been very successful in Chicago as a financier, a dealer in stocks, bonds and insurance bonds. We are glad to hear of his success and welcome him to the campus again.

Mr. McLeod (during English lesson): "Mr. Graham, what part of the word is 'egg'?"

Mr. McLeod: "Noun."

Mr. McLeod: "Is it masculine, feminine, or neuter?"

Mr. McLeod (embarrassed): "Can't tell."

Mr. McLeod: "Is it masculine, feminine, or neuter?"

Mr. McLeod (looking wise): "Can't tell it is hatched."

Choral Club Gives Excellent Program of Christmas Music

The delightful program of Christmas music that the choral club had labored over so faithfully in order to present to the students and general public in the church the last Sunday night before the Christmas holidays proved not to have been prepared in vain, even after it became necessary to close school before the date announced for the program.

It was given in the auditorium for the benefit of all who wished to attend on Friday night, December 14, on the night before school closed. It was very well attended by students, faculty members, and townspeople. The program was opened by a few brief remarks about the meaning of Christmas to the Christian and a prayer by our pastor, Mr. Owen. Such an introduction put the audience as well as the performers in the mood of true worship to respond to and enjoy the program.

Everyone who heard the program seemed to leave the house with a deeper and greater appreciation of the true and only real meaning of Christmas.

A Nobler Womanhood At Mars Hill College

(Irma Henderson)

Stop! Think! every Mars Hill girl. Your influence cannot die. Your good cannot die, neither can the divine in you die. They are immortal, eternal, everlasting. Here, at the beginning of this year, are you preparing to write a page in the annals of your life that will enrich and enoble the lives of others, and please God? Are you going to make our nation a safer place for children, a truer place for homes, a better place for womanhood?

Fellow Mars Hill girls, we hold the key to the character of the womanhood that goes forth from our campus. Let us no longer have it said that Mars Hill is a place where they make only men. We want it said that Mars Hill is a place where they make men and women. Mars Hill girls, do you realize that Mars Hill's womanhood is only your womanhood and my womanhood? What your womanhood is and what my womanhood will determine what Mars Hill's womanhood will be. Shall we make it nobler? Cherish your visions, your ideals, the beauty of your imaginations, the loveliness that drapes your purest thoughts and give them to the world that it may be enriched by them. Do not seek facts alone to give you a masterly knowledge of life; learn from life itself, and you will have a learning that will in the end mean much to you. When I think that the womanhood of Mars Hill College depends on us, I can scarcely imagine that we would squander that womanhood in useless extravagances and unrighteous living. Let us look around to see what we can do to contribute something to making Mars Hill womanhood ever more noble and more lovable than it is now:

1. As our lives touch those of the boys there is often a word we can speak, a look we can give that will cause a boy to stop some ungentlemanly act.

2. Our character and personality find expression in the clothes we wear. Let us make them all that true beauty, modesty, and culture could require.

3. We should turn to our Bibles daily to complete the dress of a true womanhood from that great source of inward culture that will be certain to find expression in our lives.

4. Through our little everyday acts and deeds we may lead others to purer living.

5. One of womanhood's great charms is sympathy. May we not smile and cheer and sympathize with those who are downhearted?

6. In our hands we hold the power of making the world more reverent toward God and toward higher, finer things. May we exercise that power at church and at public gatherings.

7. Our minds are wells of hidden thoughts. May we do everything we think of to make Mars Hill greater because of its womanhood, and the world greater because of Mars Hill.

Mars Hill womanhood shall live on in purified homes, in better school systems, and finer communities. Mars Hill womanhood shall live on in influence given, in finer words spoken, and in the humbler deeds of everyday life. It shall live in the thoughts of the noble, in the deeds of the pure, and in the souls of the true, as one who taught and lived the teaching. It shall live as one who testified, and yet whose character was a finer testimony. Mars Hill womanhood shall live in the hearts of little children in the cleansed life of regenerate men, and in the exalted position of womanhood.

"No life can be pure in its purpose, and strong in its strife, and all life not be purer and stronger thereby."

Mars Hill Awakened By Shrill Tootin' In the Library

It happened Saturday afternoon, December 1, about 2:00 o'clock. Mars Hill, before the accident occurred, was quiet and peaceful. A wonderful setting, indeed, for the tragedy which followed! Then, as a thunderbolt out of a clear sky, a series of tootin's rent the air (Please don't misunderstand me. I mean that the tootin's of Tuten rent the air.) The campus immediately became all ears. How deathly still it was! Toots from the direction of the library attracted those who were passing. One of Mars Hill's "Balls of Smoke" was sent to summon Mrs. Rampey, the librarian. She arrived, innocent enough, and unlocked the library. The sight therein would have filled any man's heart with fantastic horrors never felt before! There, almost in the jaws of death from not enough air and more than enough exertion, lay Senior Tuten, of Furman University.

There is the news story, ladies and gentlemen. Immediately following this you shall be given the causes and results, the why with and the what for of the whole drama.

You see, it was just like this: Mr. Tuten was visiting (friends?) in Mars Hill. He, as an innocent visitor, went to the library to read some beautiful lines from Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet. (He was in urgent need of the lines as it was then 2:00 o'clock.)

The results were very destructive to the library, as was learned after the drastic affair was over. The reports are that, when Mr. Tuten discovered he was a prisoner, he unleashed his temper in a heated fury, breaking the back of Caesar, defacing Cicero, abandoning Romeo and Juliet, and completely annihilating The Tale of Two Cities. A movement is now under way to recorder for the library these much needed volumes there are in Mars Hill with that fatal "Cupidian Malady."

I would like to add that, in the opinion of the writer, one should play safe and leave the library 30 minutes before closing time because Mrs. Rampey is still on the war path.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

(Being a complete column about nothing in particular)

It's queer how far some boys will go for a girl. Who would ever think that Floyd Williams would ever take sewing lessons.

Floyd Williams has resigned as janitor of the Science Club because it carried too many honor points. That's too bad.

We wonder if.....

Mr. Moore reads this, and if so, whether he likes it.

Mrs. Roberts ever had to study French as hard as ye editor does.

The boys have stopped going to Asheville.

We sincerely hope.....

That Walter Chiles will get to Government class on time for a change.

That Lloyd Allison will stay awake on class one time.

That we will have a good basketball team.

Overheard on the Campus

Logan: I had a dream about you last night.

Jordan: Yeh? What was it?

Logan: I dreamed that you were walking down Patton Avenue yesterday leading a donkey and singing "Me and My Shadow."

Barny Ipsinwithz.

Don't forget to let me know any dirt on your neighbor.
