Carson-Newman Falls Before Mars Hill Rush 14-0

Lions Use Strong Offensive Against Fighting Parsons.

The Mars Hill Mountain Lions took the measure of the fast Carson Newman eleven Saturday to the tune of 14-0.

Mars Hill, as usual, took the defense in the first quarter and failed to register any first downs at all. Carson-Newman made one first down in the initial quarter. It was in the middle of the second quarter that the game shifted.

The Lions took the ball on their own 45-yard line. Here Jimmy Albritton, the latest addition to the backfield, went over right tackle for 12 yards. Dick Anderson hit the line for 10 yards, and Jimmy hit it for 6 more and another first down. After two passes had failed and only two yards had been made through the line, Cam Cz passed to A. Albritton, who had come in for Grether, who went 18 yards for a touchdown. J. Albritton kicked the line for the extra point.

International Relations Club Reorganizes

The International Relations Club met at the home of Mr. Grubbs Tuesday evening for the purpose of reorganizing for the coming year.

The following officers were elected: president, Hattie Sue Whitesides; vice-president, Pattie Moore; secretary, J. Edley Martin.

Many interesting problems were discussed concerning the work of the club during the year, and the following program was finally decided upon for the next meeting:

Every one seems to be deeply interested in the work of the club, and with such leaders as Professor Grubbs and Dean Carr they cannot help receiving much pleasure and benefit from the club. The club is also hoping to be able to add several new members at the end of the first semester.

Leonard England Is Chosen President of the S. C. Club

Eighty-nine Members Comprise Club.

At the meeting of the South Carolina Club, on Thursday, October 23, Leonard England was chosen as president for the coming year. Other officers elected were as follows: vice-president, Eloise Carroll; secretary, Mamie Kelley; treasurer, Ruth Cooper; and reporter, Margaret Allen. Mr. McLeod was chosen as the sponsor upon the resignation of Mr. Blackwell.

After much discussion and consideration, the members decided to have "The Greenville News" for their club paper.

The eighty-nine members of the club hope to establish a good reputation for the Palmetto state this year.

Mars Hill Sends a Large Delegation to B.S.U. Convention

Twenty-three Leave for Greensboro Friday.

The Baptist Student Union convention at Greensboro holds a high place among the Baptist colleges of North Carolina. The students of these colleges meet in order that their respective campuses may maintain a better Christian spirit. Ideas and ideals are exchanged; thus a greater brotherly love is created for each other. Christ is held as an example for students to follow. His teachings are observed; and His precepts made more clear.

The president of the State Baptist Union is Charles E. Maddy, a former student of Mars Hill. He was the president of the local chapter of the B. S. U. while a senior in college. Through his matchless leadership the State B. S. U. has had a most successful year.

Two of our own students will appear on the program. E. M. Leonard, Jr., will speak on "Stewardship of Life" Saturday afternoon. The following Sunday morning Miss Mamie Perry will give a vocal solo.

The convention started Friday at 7:00 p. m., and will continue until Sunday noon.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT UNDER WAY

9:30 Section Leading

The basketball tournament among the gym classes is now in full sway. There are four teams representing the 8:30, 9:30, 10:30, and 3:30 sections respectively.

At this writing the 9:30 class seems to be the superior. Yet after all the upsets in football games, who knows but that the frail looking 8:30 class might emerge the victor. The 10:30 class seems to be the strongest on paper. Yet they fell before the 9:30 group and required an extra period to trounce the 8:30's.

The afternoon class is the dark horse. This team may upset the dope and win. Although the 10:30 class has lost to the 9:30 aggregation, it is the belief of this writer that they will win the tournament.

A good crowd has turned out to see the games, and everyone is highly enthusiastic over one team or another. Coaches Hundley, West, and Jordan are each trying to turn out a winning team.

Biggest Year in History of Intercollegiate Debating Faced by Mars Hill

Leaders Plan for Triangle Debates Among Junior Colleges for State Championships.

Perhaps the biggest year in the history of debating at Mars Hill College is faced by the debate squad this year. The men who will debate under Mars Hill colors have not as yet been chosen from the student body, but will be selected November 12 and 13.

Only four boys, namely, W. C. Capel, Scott Buck, Wade Baker, and James Cherry, remain from last year to fight the opposing teams. Bessie Stevenson is the only girl back.

There will probably be twelve boys and eight girls chosen for the debates, and some of these will be alternates. There have been some thirty-three names posted by the boys for whom tryouts will be held on November 12 and 13, from three to six each afternoon. Some fine material has come into the school this fall. Many debaters have represented their schools in debates held at Chapel Hill.

It seems, however, that the girls have fallen short this year and are not taking the interest they should. If the girls are going to hold their own they will have to be able to speak in public. They ask for a place in public affairs and then turn down their opportunities to learn the most essential thing. Mars Hill intercollegiate debating teams give everyone a chance.

Last year Mars Hill won nine and lost two debates. They won twenty-six out of thirty-two votes. The schedule last year was rather difficult, but this year it is more so. The girls debate Virginia-Intermont and Milligan; and they have also entered the state triangle debate for junior colleges where they will meet the best teams of the state.

The boys debate Carson-Newman on the question of the cancellation of the German war debt. They also meet the teams of Milligan, Wake Forest, and Tennessee Wesleyan. The boys, too, will enter the state junior college triangle debates where they will debate several times. The plans for these triangle debates have not as yet been fully made, but are well under way by the leaders. Boone, Weaver, Biltmore and several other junior colleges are almost certain to participate.

Readers and Declaimers Contest Is Announced

The fourth annual Readers' and Declaimers' Contest will be held at Mars Hill College December 13 and 14. The preliminaries will be held the 13th.

Last year there were twenty-four schools participating. Much interest was shown and the contest as a whole was extraordinary. Both cups were won by the Lees McRae Institute of Banner Elk, N. C., by Miss Harriet Hand and Mr. C. L. Stucky.

The rules governing the contest are as follows:

1. No contestant may be under 13 nor over 21 years of age.
 2. Each speaker shall have at his or her disposal not more than eight minutes.
 3. Preliminaries for the contest will be held Friday, Dec. 13, between 2 P. M. and 5 P. M. when the five best declaimers and the five best readers will be selected for the final contest.
 4. The final contest will be held in the college auditorium Saturday morning, December 14, at 9:30 o'clock.
 5. Each high school is entitled to send one boy and one girl to compete in the preliminaries.
 6. The name of each contestant, the subject of the declamation and of the reading, and a certificate from the principal of the school, stating the ages and that the representatives are bona fide students, together with a copy of the reading and the declamation, shall be filed with the committee by noon of December 10.
 7. Free entertainment will be provided for the two contestants representing each school, and for the principal or chaperone.
 8. All contestants will be expected to reach Mars Hill by one o'clock December 13.
 9. Awards: To the school winning each contest, a silver loving cup will be given, with the name of the representative engraved thereon. This cup may be held for a period of one year, or until won by some other school. If any school should win the cup two years in succession, it shall become the permanent property of that school.
- A letter with the copy of the rules is being sent to all the principals of high schools in Western North Carolina.

Science Club Program Given Over to Insects

The Science Club held its first regular meeting for the fall semester Tuesday night, October 29, in the Science Club room.

The program was given over to the biology department. Miss Allen had worked out a very interesting article on "The Age of Insects." Graves Mumford told some interesting facts about the boll weevil in his article, "A Report on the Boll Weevil." Gladys Farmer then brought the club some interesting things about the silkworm and the development of silk in her article, "The Silkworm." This fine program should be an incentive continuing such during the rest of the semester.

The various science departments will put on programs representative of their fields from time to time.

Although the number of members is rather small at present all hope to have a fine membership as soon as the new ones are taken in.

ATHLETIC RULING WILL GUARD AGAINST PREVALENT ABUSES

TRUSTEES COMMITTEE OUTLINES POLICIES IN ATHLETICS AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

A protest against abuses prevalent in intercollegiate athletics and a clear statement of the policies of Mars Hill College in regard to athletics and physical education is found in the report of a committee of the board of trustees, made public this week.

To Forestall Abuses

The statement of the committee, prepared in collaboration with members of the faculty after careful study of the positions of other colleges, will govern the athletic policies of Mars Hill College and determine largely the status of the physical education department. While Mars Hill has been relatively free from the abuses confronted by many colleges, the action of the board is designed to forestall such problems as might arise. The trustees propose also to establish the department of physical education in accordance with the more progressive tendencies in education.

W. C. McConnell, of Asheville, chairman of the committee, has been for many years active in strengthening the work in physical education at Mars Hill College, the McConnell gymnasium on the campus bearing testimony to his efforts.

The Recommendations

The recommendations of the committee, which will be submitted to the board of trustees at their next meeting, are as follows:

1. It is the opinion of this committee—(1) That many of the present-day practices in connection with securing student athletes is unwholesome and unsound in principle; that for a friend, an alumnus, or an alumni organization to pay the expenses of a student for the primary purpose of securing his athletic ability is an irreparable injury to that student's scholastic possibilities and lowers the general appreciation for learning and for things of a spiritual nature in which any academic institution surely believes. (2) That a further mistake is made when one or several members of a college faculty connive at or participate in such transactions as referred to above. (3) That all our colleges, either individually or collectively, should decide upon a plan whereby present-day practices may be corrected either by elimination or a frank and above-board procedure in hiring, securing, or making gifts to such athletes as an institution may enroll.
2. We affirm our established position—(1) That we offer no financial inducement for a student's athletic ability; that athletes may have
