MARS HILL DEFEATS BILTMORE 19 TO 0 ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Dashes Fifty Yards Through Bulldog Team For Touchdown

More Unable To Stop Mars Hill In Turkey Day Classic

When Roberts' Mars Hill Lions led to victory Thursday afternoon in Memorial stadium over a weak fighting group of Biltmore Juniors College Bulldogs, 19 to 0.

led by Albritton, flashy quarterback, the Mountain Lions crashed through with a touchdown in the first period and added another in each of the next two. The final quarter both teams taking to the air with little or no results.

aid by Albritton and a pass, Albritton to Stephens, good for 26 yards, the ball was placed on the nine yard line and after failing to kick through on three plays Albritton stepped back and flipped a touchdown pass to Lumley, end, for the final tally. Fox plunged through the line for the extra point.

Pass Nets Gain
Another pass, Isenberg to Stephens for a 12 yard gain put the ball in scoring position again in the second quarter and interference on a pass put the ball on the three yard line where Fox hit guard for touchdown. This marker came just before the half ended. A lateral pass for the point was stopped by Biltmore. In the third period Biltmore started off with a bang but soon let up and Mars Hill took command of the situation near midfield. The ball shifted back and forth with neither team making headway but finally, on a fourth down and something like four yards to go for first down, Fox was given the ball on an off-tackle play and managed to run 50 yards straight through the Biltmore team for touchdown. Fox attempted to run for the point but Biltmore spoiled the effort.

It was the second victory of the year for the Lions and the last—the season ended Thursday. Cullowhee was the other team to fall before Mars Hill.

Eu's Celebrate Fortieth Birthday

followed by a practical oration, "Our Needs," Tom Moore, Caldwell. The Eu orchestra then entertained the audience with a popular selection which was well received.

The climax of the evening came when the debate decision, "Resolved, That Great Britain Should Grant Immediate Independence to India," was awarded to the negative team composed of Larry McLendon, Duplin, and Willard Griggs, Mecklenburg, over the affirmative, represented by Ben Cox, South Carolina, and Robert Burnet, Georgia. The debate was presented in a masterful manner and was received with keen eagerness. Before the decision of the judges was announced Max Hamilton sang "I Passed by Your Window," a love song by Taylor and Brodie, and was accompanied by Willard Reece.

The Euthalian again played a selection which brought the regular program to a close.

When the curtain opened for the last time all the Euthalians were seen arranged in an attractive manner on the stage. After singing their Euthalian song, the curtain was almost closed, a spotlight thrown on the opening. The members then marched out two by two, to the tune of "The Stars and Stripes Forever," and brought the anniversary to a close in a most impressive way.

LIONS TRAMPLE CULLOWHEE IN 33-0 VICTORY

Team Shows Improved Attack In Best Game of Season; 85-Yard Run by Stevens Is Feature.

Playing their best game of the season the Mountain Lions ran roughshod over the invaders from Western Carolina Teacher's College here November 14, 33-0.

The Lion's attack has been improving steadily all season and reached its peak Saturday in turning back the Yodelers. With the forward wall functioning smoothly and with the backs clicking off yardage almost at will the Lions were easily able to master the situation throughout.

The entire line played well, while in the backfield the play of Albritton, Stephens, and Fox was the feature of the game. Isenberg, the fourth man in the backfield, playing his first game as a regular, turned in a nice performance although his work was not as spectacular as that of his running mates.

The outstanding feature of the game was an 85-yard dash by Stephens in the final quarter. Taking the ball on an end run from the 15-yard stripe Steve easily got by the forward defense and continued down the field shaking off a host of would-be tacklers, single-handedly. During the last 40 yards of his jaunt he was assisted by Coffee, veteran guard, who ran interference for him, shielding him from two pursuers, who would in all probability have brought him down. Albritton brought the crowd to their feet in the third period when he slipped through tackle for 63 yards to put the ball in scoring position. He also contributed several other nice runs and was on the tossing end of three passes that went for tallies. Fox, with his consistent short gains, furnished the dynamo of the Lion attack.

Thomas, diminutive halfback, led the Cullowhee offensive with several nice runs. Cooper Gretter and Harry Sams, former Lion stars, were also seen in action.

In the latter stages of the second and fourth periods Coach Roberts ran in his entire second string against the invaders. In the second frame they were a little nervous and unsteady, allowing the visitors to out-play them. However, in the fourth quarter they reversed matters running up five first downs in about four minutes of play. They were in the shadow of the goal when the game ended and would, in all likelihood, have scored, had time permitted.

Only in two stages of the game did the Yodelers threaten to score. In the second quarter on a barrage of passes they advanced to the ten yard line against the second team only to lose the ball when a heave fell into the inzone. From the twenty yard line Lyday led his men out of danger and had the ball near midfield when the half ended. In the final quarter the invaders advanced the ball, on a series of passes and line plays to the 10-yard stripe where they lost possession of the pigskin on downs. At this juncture Stephens made his long dash to get the Lions out of danger.

Recently I received a letter from Rantland Grice, nationally known sports writer, asking me to send him my selections for all-southern grid honors. Mr. Grice also asked several other outstanding sport writers to send in their selections and from the whole batch he will select his mythical eleven for the South. Here are the first and second team choices that your sports scribe submitted:

FIRST TEAM	Pos.
Smith (Ga.)	L E
Patton (Sewanee)	L T
Leathers (Ga.)	L G
Lodrigues (Tulane)	C
Fysal (U. N. C.)	R G
Leyendecker (Vandy)	R T
Dalrymple (Tulane)	R E
Downes (Ga.)	Q B
Zimmerman (Tulane)	L H
McEver (Tenn.)	R H
Cain (Ala.)	F B
SECOND TEAM	Pos.
Haynes (Tulane)	L E
Cobb (N. C. S.)	L T
Hickman (Tenn.)	L G
Sharpe (Ala.)	C
Maddox (Ga.)	R G
Saunders (Tenn.)	R T
Hall (Fla.)	R E
Dawson (Tulane)	Q B
Kelly (Ky.)	L H
Slusser (U. N. C.)	R H
Felts (Tulane)	F B

As I was not able to see quite all the conference teams in action I was forced to base some of my selections from what I read in the papers. However, I made a very careful survey of the qualifications of the various candidates before picking my teams and I am sure they will meet the approval of the gridiron fans. If, for any reason, any of the followers of this column do not agree with my selections you are requested to send in your ideal for an All-Southern team. And while we are picking mythical elevens maybe there is someone who would like to try their hand at an All-American eleven, or perhaps an All-State, All-County, or what have you. If so, send in your choices to the Sport Editor, The Hilltop, 1313 College Drag, Mars Hill, N. C. No entries will be taken after Dec. 4, and the three best selections will be printed in the next issue of the HILL TOP. For the best selection we will give a free subscription to the HILLTOP for the remainder of the school year. For second best, a pass to all dances held in the gymnasium in the near future, while the winner of the third prize will be entitled to free admission to all talking pictures shown in the auditorium. Make your selections and be sure they are mailed in by Dec. 4.

Speaking of All-American teams your sport editor recommended to Mr. Grice that Smith, Leathers, Dalrymple, Downes, Zimmerman, and Cain be given serious consideration for his nationwide eleven.

Wednesday morning the campus awoke to find legends reading, "Beat Biltmore," painted on the sidewalks, in numerous places, by some individual or individuals, who had an overflow of school spirit. However, this action was quickly blotted out by those in authority and was denounced in chapel as not being the Mars Hill spirit to want to "beat" another team in an athletic contest. There is a desire in the heart of every individual, entering into a game, debate or any kind of contest, to triumph over the opposition. This is only human nature, so why shouldn't we want to win over Biltmore or any other team we play? What makes a contest exciting is the fact that both teams are in there trying hard, to win. It should be the desire and determination of a team to win all the games possible and when a team gets to the place where they don't care whether they win or lose it is time to check in the equipment.

But suppose the word "beat" is a little too barbarianistic to use. Let us see what Mr. Webster has to say about it. He defines "beat" as, "To overcome in a contest, game, etc.; to vanquish or surpass." Let us substitute "surpass" for "beat" and see how that sounds. Surpass Biltmore! Well, did we? I'm asking you.

BOSTON ENGLISH OPERA COMPANY

Saturday night, Nov. 14, Mars Hill College was host to the Boston English Opera Company. The company carries everything complete—scenery, costumes and orchestra—fourteen in all. In the cast were some of the foremost English singing artists, including Florence Tennyson, leading prima donna of the Boston English Opera Company.

The opera was divided into three parts, Robin Hood, Bohemian Girl and Cavalliera Rusticana. The performance opened with the gay and rollicking Comic Opera, Robin Hood, acknowledged the greatest of all American Comic Opera. Its story of love, adventure and comedy holds the interest every minute.

Next comes Cavalliera Rusticana, pronounced the most intense and dramatic opera ever written. This proved a most unusual treat.

The performance closed with The Bohemian Girl. This needs no praise as every one knows the Bohemian Girl with its delightful ballads.

These are all done in costume with scenery and stage effects, thus presenting three entirely different operas in the space of one.

This opera was well received by students and professors alike.

After the performance when all the Mars Hill students and teachers were congratulating the opera members on their successful presentation of the evening, Mr. Faison Butler, our most serious Mars Hill critic, walked boldly up to the director and in that high pitched voice of his said "your baritone was fine except for one thing—he did not have enough volume." We Mars Hill students are hoping that this baritone does not lose his position on account of this remark.

"How sick is our nation when our jails from the state of Washington to Florida have in them 5900 under twelve years of age?"—L. D. Newton.

"We can invite our companions on the campus to Sunday School and perhaps to Christ."—Mary Lowder.

"If you get one worth-while sentence out of a book, it is worth your money. Grenfell said: 'There remains the terrible fact that if I had not met Jesus in the tent that night, I might have been driving a Rolls Royce in exclusive London today.'—J. L. Hill.

"I would walk a long way to meet a freshman who came to college with a purpose."—J. L. Hill.
