Summer School Plans Announced Recently To College Students

Summer's Session Is Second Held At Mars Hill

LOGS READY APRIL 1

Diplomas Awarded Last Summer First Given At Mars Hill

Western Unit of the Wake-Meredith Summer School will open on June 10, this summer, the direction of Professor B. N. C., and the associate director, Dean I. N. Carr, of Mars Hill. The sessions will be as follows: the nine-weeks' session from June 10-August 8; the six-weeks' session from June 10-July 10.

Maximum credit allowed on the nine-weeks' session is twelve hours, and for the six-weeks' session the maximum will be ten hours. But not more than ten credits will be allowed on degrees in the nine-weeks' session. Credits may be earned on all State certificates—high school, the principal's, and the principal's, and also on degrees earned by the colleges.

County To Operate I. S. Summer School

Plans are being made by Superintendent of Education Wells of Madison County and members of the faculty of Mars Hill college to discontinue the high school summer school at the college.

It is hoped that it can be worked out in the county that high school may continue at the Mars Hill school building. Students desiring credit for summer school work should board in the college dormitories, meet classes at the high school building.

It is hoped that students desiring to work off in summer school will be able to come to the college, and through the cooperation of the faculty who come, this plan may be successfully worked out.

Mr. Watson Speaks On Chapel Program

Mr. Watson, attorney of Burns and chairman of the board of trustees, spoke to the college students on the chapel last Tuesday. This was Mr. Watson's first chapel address to the students this year.

Mr. Watson answering the query as to one should do with his life, and the students to make money, he told the student "not for the sake of money but for the glory of God and the service of man." Too many speakers agree to Mr. Watson, have advised students and others against the attempt to make money. On the other hand, Mr. Watson said youth should be instructed to accumulate wealth and use it in service. He cited as an example, James B. Duke, who has accumulated the millions which he accumulated in beneficences which are given to many people.

People who cannot themselves do the work of great teachers can do the work of money make possible the work of teachers and should receive a reward, Mr. Watson said. Those who use their money to do effective work of doctors, workers, and missionaries, deserve high rewards as those who do these tasks.

LETTER TO DEAN CARR FROM OLIVES TELLS OF EXPERIENCES SINCE LEAVING MARS HILL

Professor I. N. Carr has recently received an interesting letter from our former pastor, Rev. L. B. Olive, who is now again a missionary to China, telling of his experiences in getting settled in China.

Although the Olives sailed about the first of December, they did not arrive in Shanghai until the 4th of January. A day was lost on the sea because of a storm and because of staying over in Kobe on New Year's Day.

The Olives remained in Shanghai a week, buying furniture and other house-furnishings, Mr. Olive wrote. During that time they visited with the Marriatts.

Howard, the oldest of the children, is in the American school in Shanghai. Emily and Bruce are with their parents. Mr. Olive wrote that Bruce is already beginning to pick up a little of the Chinese language, and is playing most friendly with the Chinese children.

Mr. Olive also told, in his letter, of the churches in Shanghai. A meeting is (at the time the letter was written) being held in the "city" church, so-called because it is located in that part of the city which was inclosed with a wall.

Mr. Olive also wrote of the foreigner's necessity of keeping servants, especially native servants. The native servant can so much more easily and satisfactorily "go shopping" than the foreigners, that they are almost a necessity.

Georgia Ingle Voted Most Outstanding Debator At Forensic Council Meeting

Both Mars Hill Boys And Girls Win Second Place In Debating

HELD AT CHARLOTTE

Mars Hill Representatives Win Several Awards In Other Speaking Contests

At the annual meeting of the North Carolina State Junior College Forensic and Speech Tournament held this year on March 5-6, at Charlotte, Mars Hill was well-represented by eight debaters and five other speakers.

The group went in the college bus, leaving here Thursday morning and arriving in time for the debate contest that afternoon. The affirmative teams that made the trip were G. G. Morgan and Bill Fleming; Georgia Ingle and Priscilla Pendleton. The negative teams were Lucille Hartley and Ethel Davis; Ernest Harrill, Haynes Brown, Miss Gladys Johnson and Mr. Oakes sponsored the debaters, since there was a requirement that our coach or judge must accompany each four debaters.

Dramatic Club Makes Plans For Festival

Casts For Two Plays To Be Presented At Dramatic Festival Are Chosen

In the six years which the Mars Hill Dramatic Club has submitted original plays by its members for presentation in the State Dramatic Festival at Chapel Hill, four have been accepted. Two years ago "Sign of the Zodiac" an original play by Miss Janie Britt was not only accepted but given the grand prize as the best among all the classes of plays. This year the original play by Howard Richardson, "Top Hats and Tenebrisms" will be presented at the Festival.

The Dramatic Club members will also present at Chapel Hill the second, third, and fourth of April, the production play "The Man with the Bowler Hat," a farce by A. A. Milne.

The spring study for the Dramatic Club as a whole will be on continental drama. Under the able direction of Miss Wengert, the Club for the past year has been divided into three groups, each of which concerns itself with some particular play and presents it at the Club meetings. These groups are at the present led by William Hill and Wylma Flynn and Jane Pope. Two of the plays now being prepared by the groups are "The Rococo," an English farce, and

Spring Holidays Start Thursday; End Today Week

Spring holidays will begin at 11:15 A. M. next Thursday morning, and close at 1 P. M. Tuesday, March 31. This gives the students a vacation of six days.

This is the second year the college authorities have thought wise to give the students a short vacation in the spring. The six day layoff from studies marks the middle of the second semester and comes at the conclusion of mid-term exams.

The decision to give the students a spring vacation was made last year as a method of preventing so many weekend trips home. Though this innovation has not proven as successful as it was hoped, still the policy is being continued this year. It will be continued next year as it has in the past though the definite dates have not been decided upon.

Printers Receive Copy For Laurel

Annual To Be Off Press In Hands Of Students By May First

Most of the copy for the Laurel with the pictures has been sent to the Charlotte News Printing Company in the past few days and the rest will be sent before the Spring Holidays begin. All the material was scheduled to be into the printers on or before last Friday but the inclement weather and unforeseen difficulties held up the staff.

The cover design was received by Editor Livingstone Stallings over the

Athenian Music Club Sends Resolutions Urging Music Stamp To James A. Farley

It will be of general interest to know that the Athenian Music Club of Mars Hill College is fostering a resolution to be recommended to state and national federations of Music Clubs of America for consideration and adoption. This resolution states that a petition be sent to Honorable James A. Farley, Postmaster General of the United States, urging that the Post Office Department issue a special series of stamps honoring music.

The Athenian Music Club believes this proposal will advance a major objective of the American Federation of Music Clubs, that of increasing the interest and information and love

B. S. U. Officers For Next Year Are Chosen With Ernest Succeeding Fulk As President

Professor S. B. King Left For Nashville Last Sunday Morning

Will Spend Spring And Summer Months In Study At Peabody College

TO RETURN IN AUGUST

Spencer B. Will Complete Work On Master's Degree In History

Professor Spencer B. King, of the Mars Hill college history department will spend the spring and summer months at Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee, completing his work for his Master's degree.

Mr. King left Mars Hill last Sunday and went directly to Peabody College in time to begin the spring quarter there. He has been working on his Master's degree for several summers and expects to complete his work on it during the spring and summer. He will not return to Mars Hill until he finishes his work, sometime in August. For his major subject Mr. King is studying history, and he is minoring in social sciences.

Mr. King has taught several courses in both the high school and college during his years here. He has been active in religious work of all forms, teaching a Sunday School class and being faculty advisor to this year's B. S. U. Council. In addition to these he has assisted coach Roberts with football and has been coach of the track team.

Mr. King has become one of the best loved of Mars Hill's younger professors in the three years he has been on this campus. He will sincerely be missed especially by the members of the graduating class who will not be in school when he returns.

Annual Recital Of Orchestra Saturday

Was Held In Auditorium At Eight O'Clock Saturday Evening

At 8 P. M. on Saturday, March 21, the Mars Hill College Orchestra presented its annual recital at the College Auditorium.

The Orchestra was directed by Mrs. Caroline Paul King, assistant director, Herbert Sebrén. They were assisted by the Male Quartet and Herbert Sebrén, solo clarinetist, accompanied by Earl Brockman.

Although this is not the only time the Orchestra plays in public, it is the climax of the year's work, and the most important exhibition of the term.

The members of the Orchestra are: Frances Shuford, Margaret Pattilo,

Carson-Newman Choir Gives Church Program

Under the able leadership of Luther Carter the twenty-five members of the Carson-Newman A Cappella Choir, Sunday, March 1, gave a program of vocal music in place of the usual morning worship.

This choir, consisting of twenty-four singers, an accompanist, and the director, was organized in 1913. Since that time it has increased in ability and fame. The choir has often traveled over Tennessee, Kentucky, and North Carolina since its inception, and since 1932 has often broadcast over station WSM at Nashville.

The story of the Choir's entrance into radio is interesting. Unwilling to make the long journey to Nashville for an audition, they sent their voices over the telephone, and were accepted.

The Choir arrived Saturday afternoon and was entertained at a party that night by several of the faculty who are Carson-Newman Alumni.

The entire church period was taken up Sunday by the Choir in a recital of old and new religious hymns.

On Sunday afternoon they returned to Jefferson City, Tennessee, and Carson-Newman College.
