

New Dormitory To Be Dedicated May 26

 it is to be especially noted that all bills have been paid in full to date. There is at present no debt whatsoever on the building. Not a day passes without some gift being received to help in the work. These donations have kept this clean record in finances. One friend of the school has recently increased his large gift of $1000 to $5000, thus showing the true spirit which has made the needed dormitory a reality.

Work is going forward every day toward the completion before the Dedication Day in May. All outside work is virtually finished. The subroof has been completed and the roofing is on. The building is thus covered and work is going forward now in placing windowpanes and in completing the construction inside. When the furnishings have been installed, it will accommodate about 120 girls.

During the spring, further details of the program for the christening and dedication will be announced as they are made.

APPRECIATION

The Hilltop would like to express a word of deep appreciation to all of those who so generously contributed to the movement sponsored in fighting infantile paralysis. This is one of the many things in which the students have cooperated with the sponsors, and rendered service at all times when called upon.

College Groups Give Two Entertainments

Miss Wengert and her expression group, supplemented by the orchestra, have presented programs at Flat Creek and Beech Glen.

At the Flat Creek entertainment, Miss Wengert gave "Betty At The Baseball Game", by Walter Ban Hare, and "The Wild White Rose", by Eleanor Willys. The orchestra rendered "Rakoczy March", a Hungarian melody, a march from "The Nutcrackers Suite", and a Gavotte from "Paris and Helen."

At Beech Glen, Council Pinnell gave "Formality at Siwash", by George Fitch, and "Between Two Loves", by Thomas Daly. There the orchestra played "Rakoczy," the Gavotte, the Intermezzo from "L'Arlesienne Suite", by Bizet, and the "Hungarian Dance Number Five," by Brahms.

Eller Elected New Dramateer President

Ruth Eller was elected president of the Dramateers Club at the business meeting of the club on January 25. She succeeds Billie C. Henderson. Other officers chosen were: Catharine Etheridge, vice president; David Hooks, secretary; Daphne Penny, treasurer; Horace Chamblee, reporter; and Lou Alice Hamrick, Cynthia Jane Hemke, Emith Johnson, and Mary Gail Menius, group captains.

These officers were installed at the next meeting of the club, February 1. Martha Ellen played the part of Melpomene, the muse of tragedy, and Libby Deese played the part of Thalia, muse of comedy, in the regular installation service. This service is given at the beginning of each semester when new officers take their places. New groups were formed and plans for the spring were announced. The play selected for spring production is "Headed for Eden," a comedy in three acts by Sydney Duval. The premier production of this play was given last year at Louisiana State University.

Forensic Team Enters Tourney At Boone

 teams, two boys' teams, one orator, and one after dinner speaker will represent the Mars Hill forensic squad, according to Mr. J. B. Huff, debate coach. Institutions from a wide territory will be represented in this tournament. Meets scheduled for the latter part of the season include the State Junior College Tournament March 4 and 5 at Catawba College, Salisbury, and the Southern Tournament around the last of April.

SPORTING WITH THE LIONS

 end of my brief career as a sports columnist, I should like to relate an incident which transpired recently. Those present at the basketball game between Cumberland and our team just prior to the Christmas holidays will undoubtedly recall that the score was tied when only 45 seconds of play remained in the game. A Cumberland player was fouled and was given the opportunity of trying to score a point that would, if made, practically assure his team of victory. Some audiences would have behaved in a manner tending to disconcert the player with the intent of causing him to miss the shot and thereby give the home team a chance to win the game in an extra period. You know the rest of the story. Coach Boswell of the Cumberland team was so impressed with this display of sportsmanship that his remarks after the game were confined to references to it rather than to the play of the two teams. It is a mark of distinction and one that Mars Hill students may well be proud of.

 rules just as well. A player can wear himself out or take his time in any game under any rules. I don't notice much difference in the scores under the different rules."

Coach Roberts: "I like the new rules best, and I think that a majority of the coaches do. I like the present rules better than the old ones, but I think the ball should be thrown in at the center of the court as in the girl's game, instead of at the end of the court."

Captain Gene Alexander: "Yes. A player has to be in better condition. It adds science to the game."

C. G. Ray: "I agree with Gene. It makes the game more interesting for the spectator. Dribbling the ball from the end of the court to the center stripe doesn't mean much."

Howard Roberts: "I like the new way all right, but it doesn't make much difference."

Clyde Peek: "I like the old way best. The new game is too hard on the player."

Joe Jelks, high school coach: "Yes. It gives the small team a chance."

It will be noticed that of the four players and three coaches interviewed, nearly all are definitely in favor of the new rule. All the players were interviewed, but, due to lack of space, all opinions cannot be published in this issue. However, all, with the exception of a few, are highly in favor of the new ruling.
