

Mars Hill Loses 20-0 To Davidson 'B' Team

Hunter swept around his own right end for a beautiful 20-yard run which brought the ball to the Mars Hill 18-yard line. After successive hard line plunges, Bolin plunged across for the final touch-down of the game. Hunter picked up the extra point on a line plunge.

With only seconds remaining to play, Edwards snared the kickoff and raced 46 yards for the most beautiful and longest run of the game. The final gun ended the scoring threat.

Hunter and Bolin were the highlights in the "B" team's backfield; White, Murray, and Edwards did most of the ball-toting for the Robertsmen. Captain Gianakos, Whitaker, and Grant stood out in the Mars Hill fore-wall. A new boy, Bob Finch, got into the game for a few minutes and turned in an excellent performance at his tackle post.

seem that the Phis should carry off an anniversary of unprecedented success. The sister society will, however, show its loyalty in a more substantial way when it gives its reception for the boys on the Saturday evening following the anniversary program.

J. E. Tate, regular term president of the Philomathians, expressed the belief that the spirit of friendly rivalry existing between the two boys' societies appears to be growing, and though the competition becomes more keen the bond of friendship grows, too.

SPORTING WITH THE LIONS

Hill students are looking forward to the cage season. Lettermen and hopefuls have been pumping up and down the floor at McConnell Gym for some time now and your columnist sincerely believes that when the opening game rolls around Coach Fred Dickerson will show us a team vastly improved over the last year's edition of the Lions.

The schedule is as yet incomplete but it is certain that it will include games with Brevard, W.C. T.C., Biltmore, Lees-McRae and other outstanding teams of this section as well as a trip to Chattanooga, Tenn., to enter the Southeastern junior college tournament next spring.

This week's bokay goes to the entire student body. The spirit at the games this year has been exceptionally good and we are looking forward to the nights when the entire student body will gather under the gym roof to cheer on the Lion cagers. How can the old Gym stand it?

When do we have a snake dance?

And while we are on the subject, why not renew the old Western North Carolina High School Championship tournament, formerly held here as an annual event? Of course, we realize we are pressed for room but most of the teams could return home at night and Wood cottage would hold the rest. We realize, too, that, with the advent of hardwood floors at most of the high schools of this section, the need which the tournament was created to fill has disappeared. But the tournament would bring many of this section's top notch players to Mars Hill and give them a chance to see the school. WHY NOT, COACH?

Bokay number two goes this week to our good friend Jim White. Jim was one of the shining lights in the Mars Hill backfield in the Davidson "B" game and made the most beautiful tackle it has been our privilege to see this year.

DON'T FORGET! ONLY 12 MORE DAYS UNTIL THANKSGIVING AND BREVARD! LET'S GO, MARS HILL!

a revival that would lead to the abolishment of such practices. Her prayers have all been answered; the boys' dormitories have been added, and it is related that the owner of the store that handled the illicit beverages was in some way brought to see the folly of his acts, and that he, in the presence of some of the college boys and some citizens, destroyed the remainder of the whiskey in his store and dedicated the store to the progress of Mars Hill.

Soon after this episode, Mrs Biggers and some twenty-four girls, accompanied by the pastor of the Mars Hill church, went again to Little Mountain and prayed once more for the land above mentioned, and then formed a circle and clasped hands in a united prayer of thanksgiving for the blessings already received. (To be continued next issue—prayer triumphed).
