

I SPY

Richard Goodman only has eyes for a certain blonde glamour gal on this campus! . . . What's New at the King's Dot? Could it be Larry?

Flash! Hero C. C. Hope rescued Dr. Pierce and bevy of feminine students from a foot-long snake in the English conference room. Shivering in the middle of Mr. DeShazo's desk, he glared the reptile back into a crevice of the wall . . . That dreamy, dazed look D. C. Martin recently wore was caused by four—count 'em!—special delivery letters from Ohio . . . Here's a special to Mary Long Griffin: Dear Mary Long, Mars Hill's colors are blue and gold, and we're the boys who won the game Saturday afternoon. Sincerely, Football Squad.

We have, in our wanderings, observed an epidemic of sleeping sickness in Mr. Huff's 7:30 English Class. Our best wishes for a speedy recovery to Lowell Miller, Alma Moore, and John McMurray . . . Beth Hildebrand seems to have Luck in a Jackpot . . . And have you noticed how Becky Gulley's literally Bud-Ed out this year? . . . Local Boy Makes Good: Kay Walker prefers Harold (Sot) Trentham.

Lost and Found Department: Lost, one fragile brunette. Finder please return to Frank Venters . . . Lost, in chemistry lab, hunk of brown hair sufficient to fill one pincushion. Finder please notify Joanne Baldwin and claim reward . . . Found, five pounds on Mars Hill campus. Anyone needing same apply Ruth Rabb . . . And we might add that Bill Craven looks lost.

Oh-Oh! Wasn't that Bob Beall with Betty Lee Spainhour Saturday night? . . . Jimmy Jennings, the Mars Hill representative of the Johnny Clyde Escort Service, reports that business is improving . . . And it's whispered that Charles Logan is that way about buttermilk!

A typical postman, Bobby Jones spends all his spare time at Edna Moore, and claims that Frances will Shumaker your heart pound . . . Morris: Get out of that back seat! . . .

Campus Personalities

Kay Kyser's "Friendship," Government, and LaPlaya type. Says C. C. concerning griping people, "If Mars Hill weren't different it wouldn't be Mars Hill." A congenial chap, he is true to his friends. His most outstanding trait is his earnest manner of speech characterized by the wrinkles in his handsome brow denoting deep thought.

Frank H. Venters

President of the C-II Class, officer in Forensic Council and Philomathian Literary Society, and member of other organizations, he hails from Elizabeth City, N. C., where he graduated as salutatorian from High School. Frank has been a debator for three years, and is known as one of the best speakers on the campus. Incidentally, Frank is the second boy from Elizabeth City to be elected C-II president in three years. His pleasant manner and his abilities make him popular in both classes. His don't especially-care-fors include "No Name Jive, II," beef, laundry service, and coppers. He likes good clothes, chocolate sundaes, and brunettes. "Next to the coast, I like Mars Hill first."

Cecil J. Hill is quite willing to take over Bruce Brown's place—any time . . . Julia Smoak is having stiff competition with Walter Harrellson since he nosed out Shive as S. P. Number One . . . No one can tickle those ivory-less keys on the Spilman piano as dramatic as James Dendy can. For particulars, see M. Ailstock . . . We really feel for Alice Reid Smith, for Paul Myers claims that, "As they say in Egypt, 'It Sphinx.'"

But maybe he's right! 'Bye now.

Founders' Day Program

participate in the dedicatory program. Mr. Wall was the leading figure in having the beautiful structure erected. He is chairman of the Building Committee. Other members are Mr. R. C. Huffman and Mrs. Rush Stroupe. The Science Building is a fireproof, three-story brick structure that houses the Mathematics, Chemistry, Biology, Physics, and Home Economics Departments of the College.

Erskine College freshmen football squad invades Mars Hill to meet the Lions at 2:30 P.M. in another feature of the annual Founders' Day program. The South Carolinians will be out to avenge the setback handed them by the Lions last year.

All local and visiting alumni of the Euthalian and Philomathian Societies will assemble at 7:30 P.M. for the dedication of the new halls in the Science Building. The halls of both societies are beautifully constructed and many returning friends will be able to see them for the first time.

A hearty welcome is extended to all students and friends of the College to join in the activities of Founders' Day and to make this day one to be long remembered among fond memories of Mars Hill.

that "Margies" do not grow in the middle of football fields.

The Lions will clash with the Erskine Freshmen for the third time this year in the Founders' Day game, Saturday, Oct. 12. The kick-off will be at 3:00 P.M. The Lions scrimmaged Erskine on Saturday, Sept. 7. The score would have been tied, one touchdown apiece, but for a technicality which lost the Lions their score. Mars Hill played far more superior ball than the Seceders despite the score. The average was 4 to 1 in first-downs in favor of the Lions.

The following Friday, Sept. 13, the two teams scrimmaged again. The Seceders came back in an improved condition, but the Lions held their ground well, considering individual experience. All in all, we are due for an interesting game on Founders' Day.
