

The Hilltop

Published By The Students Of Mars Hill College

Volume XVI.

Mars Hill, North Carolina, November 8, 1941.

Number 4.

EUS OBSERVE 51st ANNIVERSARY NEXT SATURDAY

111th State Baptist Convention Held; Education Session To Be Featured Here

Dr. Moore To Lay Cornerstone Of Dorm

President Blackwell Will Preside

Between 1,000 and 1,500 persons are expected in Asheville November 11, 12, and 13, for the 111th Baptist State Convention. Sessions will be held at the First Baptist church of that city with one exception, an afternoon program at Mars Hill college terminated by the laying of the "New Dormitory" cornerstone.

On Wednesday afternoon, November 12, one session of the convention will hold an education session in the college auditorium. The theme will be "The Local Church and Our Christian School." President Blackwell will preside. The Mars Hill glee club will appear on the program.

A welcoming committee chosen from the girls of the senior class will direct the visitors about the campus. Open house will be held in Edna Moore Dormitory, the new dormitory, and various other buildings.

At approximately 4:20 the convention will assemble at the new dormitory where the cornerstone will be laid by Dr. Robert L. Moore, president emeritus of Mars Hill college.

Program:

2:30: "Hindrances in Creating a Worship Atmosphere," E. P. Sullivor, Hickory.

2:45: "The Local Church and Our Seminaries; Baptist Bible Institute," P. H. Anderson; (Continued on Page 3)

News Flashes

Report Cards

What will your parents say? Report cards were sent home yesterday.

Play

Tonight in the college auditorium the Dramatic Club is presenting "The Importance of Being Earnest".

Football Games

Today the Lions are playing Iwawasee, and November 14, they will play the Wofford freshmen at Spartanburg, South Carolina.

Honor Clubs

Tuesday night, November 11, the honor clubs of the campus will meet.

Student Election

Nominations for C-I and C-II officers were made yesterday. Next Friday the election proper will be held.

Convention Here On Wednesday

Girls, sweep under the bed. 's open house!

EU-NON ANNIVERSARY LEADERS

Above are the Non-Eu Anniversary officers. Top, left to right: J. C. Jones, Euthalian president; Wallace Parham, secretary; and Everette Spurling, censor. Bottom, left to right: Maureen Coley, Nonpareil president; Iris Willis, secretary; and Mary Frances Finch, censor. Left side: Bob Brissie, Eu vice-president. Right side: Beverette Middleton, Non vice-president.

You Asked For It

You asked for it! Dozens upon heart-breaking dozens have begged for a six-page Hilltop. We have asked for more "entertaining" material to be balanced with the news carried by our school paper. You have suggested this and that, not taking into consideration that the Hilltop is bound by certain financial restrictions such as your Christmas present is.

The only way the Hilltop can possibly do this is through additional advertising, which in turn will require harder work. Kenneth Davis, with his assistant, Brundy Melvin, has been working faithfully. They are willing to do their part in the endeavor to produce a six-page Hilltop. We are all willing to work toward this end. If this cannot be accomplished, just reflect that if dollars were daughtnuts, it would be easy.

The Hilltop will receive gratefully any suggestions that you may have to offer.

The Editors..

Mars Hill Shines At Student Legislature

Mars Hill stole the show in the fifth annual Student Legislature held in Raleigh on October 24 and 25. Of the many schools which sent delegates none was more adequately represented than Mars Hill, from both the present enrollment and alumni now in other colleges.

At the opening of the as- (Continued on Page 4)

MR. BLANTON SPEAKS FROM EXPERIENCE

In Rutherford county, 1898, a very vital and forceful personality which was to influence many lives had its beginning. Rev. Sankey L. Blanton, who is now pastor of the First Baptist church in Wilmington and who last week conducted a revival on Mars Hill campus, grew up on a farm as one of ten children. From earliest childhood his greatest ambition was to be a minister. Always it had been assumed by his Christian par- (Continued on Page 4)

Nons Are Excited About Reception

"Who's your date?" "May I borrow your black evening handkerchief?" "Oh—my hair didn't get dry!" These and similar feminine observances will be heard from 7:00 until 8:00 o'clock on November 22. Why November 22? That is the night the Nonpareils shine. So long anticipated by the old members, so long a puzzle to the new members, the Nonpareil reception will at 8:00 o'clock be a reality.

The Eus look forward to a memorable Anniversary, the (Continued on Page 4)

Honor Clubs Meet Next Week

The honor clubs will hold their second meetings on Tuesday night, November 11, at 7:30.

The Scriblerus Club will hold its meeting in the parlor of Edna Moore dormitory. Several of the members will present a creative program on the subject of autumn. The following (Continued on Page 4)

Today's Society Grew From Early Literary Club

Euthalia Upholds Past With Pride!

Since the incorporation of Mars Hill as a college in 1857 the literary society has been an integral part of the college organization. For a number of years, until 1891 to be exact, the society was known as the Mars Hill Literary Society. We are told that men would walk for miles from the surrounding country to participate in the debates.

In the year 1891 it was decided to divide this organization and create two rival societies known as the Euthalian and Philomathian Literary Societies. T. M. Hufham was the first sponsor and A. F. Sams became Euthalia's first president.

From the outset, Euthalia became one of the leading organizations on the campus. In oration, debating, and declaiming, she became second to none. The first inter-society debate contest query seems extremely bizarre to us today, but it was fought with zeal and fury. It was: "Resolved that the United States shall perish from the earth as the nations of antiquity have."

Down through the years Euthalia has stood by its motto of Dignity, Simplicity, and Conservatism. These three words are synonymous with the word Euthalia. From the halls of black and gold great men have come to take their places as leaders in the state, (Continued on Page 4)

STUDENT ELECTIONS

Poll System To Be Employed

This year, officers of both C-I and C-II classes are being elected under a new system. The new plan, under the guidance of Dr. Carr's government class, consists of two phases. The purpose of the first phase, which was held yesterday, was to nominate the candidates for the offices. The second phase will be held on Friday November 14 and will determine which of the nominees shall hold the offices.

The following regulations have been suggested for the election. Only C-II students shall vote for C-II officers, and only C-I students shall vote for C-I officers. The ballots shall be counted by a committee of seven students selected from Dr. Carr's government class under the supervision of the honor point system. A candidate must hold a (Continued on Page 4)