GLEANINGS

(Continued from Page 2)
have a native of Australia."

The visitor stared at it in horror.

"Good gracious!" she said, "and to think my sister married one of them."

—Balance Sheet.

Dear Tom:

Come tomorrow evening sure. Pappa is at home but he is laid up with a very sore foot. See? Mary.

Dear Mary:

I can't come tomorrow evening. I'm laid up on account of your father's sore foot. See? Tom.

—Balance Sheet.

"I tell you I won't have this room!" protested the old lady to the bellboy who was conducting her. "I'm not going to pay my good money for a closet with a measly little folding bed in it. If you think that just because I'm from the country—"

"Get in, lady, get in," the boy cut in wearily. "This isn't your room. This is the elevator."

—Balance Sheet.

First Old Maid: "I shiver every time I think of a man kissing me."

Second Old Maid: "And here I've been thinking you had St. Vitus dance all these years."

—Pieces O' Eight.

Foolosophy:::

It has been said that an unwise man can ask more questions in ten minutes than a wise man can answer in seven years. Wonder how long some profs think we've got to spend in school anyway:

Do you know what???

An insane Jap with an insane father is?

A tired Indian in a borrowed tepee?

(Author: Cute huh, more later.)

Once two smart morons were on the bottom deck of a double-decker bus. The first moron, being an inquisitive chap, decided to amble up to the deck. He did and immediately dashed madly back. "Don't you dare go up there," he said to his colleague. "There isn't a driver up there."

—Hatchet.

As If you didnt know—

A slap-happy Jappie with a wacky pappy.

A spent gent in a lent tent.

(Ed. Note. Dear reader: We of the Hilltop staff feel that an apology is due you for the Gleanings this week. The author is extremely unfunny. So Sorry.) (Author s Note: Don't let the big lug fool you. He's the only one—He's the only one dizzy enough to read this far.)

'Dear Mom!'
SEE OUR MOTHERS' DAY
GIFTS
MARS HILL PHARMACY
Mars Hill ... North Carolina

Second Alumnus

(Continued from Page 1)
advertising manager of the Laurel, president of the Philomathian Literary Society, winner of the Philomathian Oration Medal, and writer on the Hilltop staff. He worked in the news service with Mr. McLeod, who says that his efficiency in that capacity has not been equalled.

Having been graduated from Mars Hill, Dover went to Chapel Hill, where he studied journalism and creative writing and held a responsible position on the news bureau. Here he achieved more scholastic success, becoming a member of a scholarship honor society. Finishing at the University in 1937, he went to Kent, Ohio, where he was connected with the Davy Tree Surgery Company, working first in the field, later at the home office in the public relations department. He did such outstanding work in this capacity that the company lent him as publicity manager to one of the candidates in a recent Ohio gubernatorial race.

Lieutenant Dover enlisted for the Army air service in December, 1940. He was graduated as a second lieutenant on August 15 from Kelly Field, Texas. After receiving his wings he was sent to the air base at Orlando, Florida, and was later transferred to Westover Field, Massachusetts.

The funeral rites will be observed in Shelby tomorrow. A uniformed squad from the state guard, a representative from Lieutenant Dover's unit, and members of the Warren Hoyle post of the American Legion will participate in the military burial.

Lieutenant Dover is survived by his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. George Dover; two brothers, Paul, of Fort Myers, Florida, and Grady, a former Mars Hill student now at Chapel Hill; a sister, Nancy, who is now a student at Mars Hill; and a half-sister, Miss Mary Ann Dover of Shelby.

From Sandwiches
To Banquet
Service
TINGLE'S
Broadway Asheville

Dramateers

(Continued from Page 1)
cerity and simplicity of her characters.

Mrs. Sinclair is an instructor of English and dramatics at Flat Rock high school. Originally from Georgia, she now lives in a beautiful home on Kanuga road, Hendersonville.

"Storm on The Mountain" was presented in the Mars Hill college auditorium last Saturday evening. The theme of the play is the battle of Kings Mountain. Mrs. Sinclair was pleased with the presentation of the play, as well as the stage setting and costumes. She stated that the dramateers "gave an excellent preformance of the play," and that "the costumes and stage setting were as I had pictured them."

Mrs. Sinclair did much research in preparation for the play. She visited the locale used and became acquainted with the customs and speech of that section and period of history. She visited the scene of battle many times and "fought the battle again."

She handles historical facts with imagination, yet with thoroughness. In "Storm on The Mountain" interest is maintained throughout the play. Its well-planned plot adheres strictly to the theme, which is to arouse patriotism in the face of the present crisis. Proof of the success of her plan was shown when the audience broke into spontaneous applause after some of the speeches by the characters. There was no reference to the present crisis, yet there seemed to be an undertone in relation to it.

The lesson of the play suggests that America has faced many perilous times in her history and has come through them, and there is great promise of braving the present one or others to come. The patriotic theme strongly impressed the audience.

HAVE YOUR Cleaning DONE WITH CONFIDENCE
MARS HILL
CLEANERS
Mars Hill ... North Carolina

PONCE-DE-LEON Missed The Fountain Of Youth
Because He Didn't Look At ROY'S CAFE
Soda Service
Mars Hill ... North Carolina

She Snoops To Conquer

(Continued from Page 2)
Now Peninger's taken "Ducky",
And Spurling's up in the air.
Too bad Georgia couldn't accompany her sister to society.
Tough luck, Brissie!

But, Carter, they say, is Dublin up on the way he Combs his hair.

Why doesn't somebody:

Put a telephone in Melrose?

Ask Eli what he did when he went to Boone?

Make Richie unclench her fists?

Ask "Shorty" what she thought when Hamlett dated Delia?

Ask Delia " ", " " "?

Ask Hamlett " " did " " " "?

Give Mr. Walker a double typhoid shot?

Crack Crackie? (and so to bed).

Band Concert

(Continued from Page
ville high school, Fletcher school, East Flat Rock school, and Weaverville school. This will be the time the band has playe Henderson county, but for past two years it has pl in Madison, Buncombe, cey, and McDowell cou

The second concert to tentatively scheduled for 23 and will include Grace school, Haw Creek high sc Swannanoa high school, Black Mountain high scho

Compliments o
Donald Caldwell
Manager
Dixie Home Sto
Number 145
QUALITY GROCERIES
Lowest Prices
Mars Hill ... North Carol

THE VARIETY SHOP
Gifts For Those High School
Graduations
MARS HILL NORTH CAROLIN

ECKERD'S
DRUG STORE
OUR SERVICE AND OUR PRODUCTS ARE MEANT TO PLEASE
PATTON AVENUE ASHEVILLE, N. C.