US CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY TONIGHT

Missionaries To Visit Mars Hill

Be On The Campus For A Week

A week of December 6-11 bringing to Mars Hill campus Southern Baptist missionaries. This group is representative of worldwide interests. Dr. Lindley Wiley, a native of Indiana, a graduate of the University of Chicago and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky, has been a missionary in China for more than twenty years. Another representative from the Orient is Dr. J. B. Dewey, an alumnus of Mars Hill and Wake Forest colleges and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky. From the "dark continent" comes Miss Susan Johnson, for some time associated with religious work in Someland and for the past twenty-four years a teacher in Africa. Dr. Dewey has served in Italy for twenty years and is a North Carolina college and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville. During the week these people are to present at the chapel hour, various classes, and at other meetings. They will also conduct seminars to discuss problems facing Christians in the present and future economic and social conditions of the world, and to impart information concerning the work, opportunities, and prospects of the Christian fields.

This week should prove of importance and lasting value if it is met with sincere interest and open minds and hearts.

Mars Hill To Send Forensic Team To Dixie Tournament

The Team Made A Good Showing Last Year

On December a group of forensic-minded students will go to Charlotte, North Carolina, to participate in the Dixie Forensic Tournament.

For the past six years our college has sent representatives to this important meet. Last year our students won seven out of fourteen first places. The group representing us this year promises even greater honors.

Heretofore this activity has been under the able leadership of Mr. J. B. Huff. This year, however, because of Mr. Huff's absence from the campus, the forensic council, debate committee, and speech department are working together in arranging for our students to make the trip.

John F. West Wins Mazagine Contest

John Foster West, junior journalism major at the University of North Carolina, has received a check for $50 from Thrilling Wonder Stories magazine for taking a top place in the publication's amateur story contest.

The story, "Moon Trap," a 5,000-word fantasy describing a scientist's adventure on the moon, will probably be published in the June, 1943, issue. Oscar J. Friend, science fiction editor of Thrilling Wonder Stories, paid for the story upon acceptance instead of the usual procedure of payment upon publication.

Tumbling & Boxing Added To Phys. Ed.

Great Interest Is Shown By The Boys

Two new phases of the physical education program, tumbling and boxing, have been opened to the boys with a great deal of interest shown.

The tumbling team will be made up of thirty boys. Coach Roberts plans to have about four exhibitions, which will be given between the halves of basketball games. The boys who pass the set requirements in this sport will receive monograms.

Boxing is open to aid the boys in getting in better physical condition. If some of the boys wish to take it up more intensively than it is taken up in the physical education classes, they will be given a chance to do so. "Pug" Green, an experienced boxer, is instructing the boys and giving them points about the sport.

A Ringing Welcome!

Our two visitors from Bowling Green Thursday remarked that they certainly did enjoy the "ringing" welcome they received in chapel that morning. There's nothing like southern hospitality, is there?

Correction!

In the Nov. 14 issue of the Hilltop Miss Logan, teacher of freshman English, was misquoted. The article quoted Miss Logan as saying: "It is better to have loved, much better." Miss Logan said, "It is better to have loved and lost, much better." We, of the Hilltop staff, apologize for this inexcusable error.

Nonpareil Reception December 5th

Committees Appointed Have Begun Their Work

The Nonpareils are already at work on their reception, which is to be held on Saturday evening, December 5, at eight o'clock. This annual event is always held by the Nonpareils in response to the anniversary program which is given by their Euthalian brothers.

Committees have been appointed to carry out the various duties that enter into the making of a successful reception. The program committee has perhaps the heaviest responsibility of all of the various committees. This committee is headed by Eleanor Israel, assisted by Augusta Reece, Mozelle Gross, and Eloise Autrey.

The decorations will be a very important factor in the success of the reception. Maureen Bennett has been appointed as chairman of the decorations committee. Lighting will go right along with decorations as a vital part of the effectiveness of the event. Gwendola Pierce has been placed in charge of this committee.

Patsy Keeter is in charge of refreshments, which also play an important role at reception. Nonpareil's musical talent will be under the direction of Frances Elam and Evelyn McLeod.

Euthalians, these Nonpareils already begun to work, and they can't be stopped.

Occasion Marks Eus' 52nd Year

Eus Under Leadership Of Gulley

The Euthalian Literary society presents its fifty-second anniversary program in the college auditorium tonight at eight o'clock. All students and faculty members, as well as many outside friends, are anticipating a memorable evening.

The Euthalians go forth tonight under the direction of capable officers. Marcus Gulley of Alexandria, Va., will preside. With him at the desk will be Bob Clodfelter, secretary; and Charles Harris, censor. Forest Denman, vice-president, is chairman of the program committee and to him goes the credit for the interesting programs and innovations during the anniversary term.

Working with Marcus in coordinating the activities and spirit of the brother-sister societies are Grace Westmoreland, president of Nonpareil, and her supporting officers. The campus has been buzzing this week with strings of new songs and with hints of secrets which the Nons and Eus will reveal only tonight.

Euthalians are keenly conscious on this anniversary of the great hosts of their brothers across the waters who are standing with them in spirit. From their successes of past years and from their continued loyalty, the Eus of '42 draw inspiration as they try to perpetuate the high standards which their predecessors have upheld. In a particular way, the Euthalians who are presenting the program tonight are remembering their brothers who only in the last few weeks have left the campus for active patriotic duty.

Joint meetings have been held for the past two weeks and the Nons and Eus have truly exhibited a remarkable society spirit. Committees have been constantly in session and every minute detail is in readiness for the great event. Euthalians have been guarding the auditorium carefully, and the entire campus is eager for the program to begin.

The first opening steps of anniversary will be the presentation of flowers in the amphitheatre at 6:30 p. m. Then at eight o'clock the Euthalians will reveal the perfected results of weeks of concentration and hard work. Great success is anticipated by all.
