Education Week Closes

Hear Missionary From Korea

Donald Wilson, representative of the Society of Friends, spoke to the students in chapel Friday morning, April 9. Wilson, of North Carolina, came to us under the auspices of the Carolina Conference of the International Religious Education Board. His address, entitled "The Post-War World," revolved around the following points: Americans must have a better understanding of the background of the war; we must sympathize with the suffering of the war; we must correct our attitudes toward the Japanese American; we must hold public opinion; we must help war victims; we must work for the establishment of peace; we must hold our gains; we must study the post-war world; we must develop youth for the future. He ended his address with a plea for a peace treaty, of reconciliation, and of cooperation, rather than revenge.

Mr. Erskine, owner and manager of the Weaverville Telephone Company, opened a series of vocational lectures in chapel Monday morning, April 13. His lecture, "Business as a Profession," stressed the necessity of setting a goal and reaching it. Mr. Erskine stressed the importance of character and integrity for success.

Dr. J. D. Bigger, principal of the University of North Carolina, spoke in chapel Tuesday morning, April 13, on the subject of "The Rising Need of Education." He stated that after the war the field will have a greater demand than ever.

Dr. Bigger, Presbyterian missionary to Korea, addressed the students and faculty Tuesday morning in chapel on the subject, "Medicine and the War." Dr. Bigger was a member of the Japs for nine years, having returned to Korea only last summer. He stated that the medical mission is now, and will be, in greater demand than any other type of mission.

Seniors Are To Be Presented In Expression Recital The Twelve-Pound Look To Be Produced

Tuesday evening, April 20, in the college auditorium, Miss Bonnie Wengert, head of the speech department, will present three students in their graduation recital. The program will begin promptly at eight o'clock.

Callie Noland will open the program with a dramatic reading, Dark Victory, by George Brewer and Bertram Bloch. Emily Jeanes will present an arrangement of the play, Susan and God, by Rachel Crothers. Russell Jordan will conclude the first part of the recital with the last scene from Maxwell Anderson's Elizabeth the Queen.

The second part of the program will consist of an English comedy, The Twelve-Pound Look, by Sir James M. Barrie. Russell Jordan will portray "Sir" Harry Sims; Emily Jeanes, Lady Sims; Callie Noland, Kate; and Gordon Mathews, Tombs. Barrie describes the scene as follows: "If quite convenient you are to conceive that the scene is laid in your own house, and that Harry Sims is you."

Jane Lee, Nena Barr, Jeanne Wall, and Mary Elizabeth Gaines will serve as marshals.

Dean's Office Announces Scholarships

The Dean's office announced this week that Ethel Heinbuch of the senior class had been awarded a $200 scholarship to the American University at Washington, D. C.

Other scholarships to be awarded are: Meredith college, $100; Mercer University, $100 and a ministerial aid; Wake Forest college, two $50 scholarships; Furman university, two $75 scholarships (one to a boy and one to a girl); Coker college, $100.

The winners of these will be announced during graduation. Any student planning to enter any of these schools this summer or fall should go by the Dean's office and leave his name.

B.S.U. Election Returns

Florence Gordon Elected President

The B.S.U. officers for the coming school year were elected recently by the student body. The results are as follows:

President, Florence Gordon; first vice-president, Bruce McIver; second vice-president, Jane Lee; recording secretary, Geraldine Farrar; corresponding secretary, Frances Pope; treasurer, Earl Vaughn; Sunday school superintendent, Vivian Parks; Y.T.C. representative, Beulah Hill; Volunteer Band representative, Lucille Sawyer; Y. W. A. president, Irene Glass; and town representative, Evelyn McLeod.

Brides-Elect Honored At Afternoon Tea

Miss Mary Logan, of the Mars Hill college faculty, entertained at an afternoon tea Thursday, April 15, in the Edna Moore parlor, complimenting Misses Marjorie Francis and Carolyn Lambeth, brides-elect.

In the parlor Miss Mary Logan presented the guests to the receiving line, Mrs. Pearl Reid and Dr. Ella J. Pierce. Serving were Misses Caroline Biggers and Lois Fisher. The parlor was attractively decorated with spring flowers carrying out the green and white theme.

Miss Francis, college bookkeeper, was graduated from Mars Hill college, where she majored in accounting. Upon the resignation of Miss Estelle Rush, she accepted the position of college bookkeeper in September, 1941.

Miss Lambeth, of the English and music departments, was graduated from the University of North Carolina. She joined the Mars Hill faculty in September, 1942.

Shhh! It's A Secret!

The Clios are at it again. From all indications the annual May Day festival will be memorable events for the Clios and the campus in general. We can hardly wait.

College Marshals Announced

Spurling Appointed Chief

The Dean and Registrar of the college announced the following appointments of college marshals for the school year 1943-44: Carroll L. Spurling, chief; Helen Teague, assistant chief; Grace Anderson, Mildred Cherry, Jane Johnson, Lucille Sawyer, Frances Pope, Harold Spangler, Clyde Hardin, Norfleet Hardy, George Taylor, and Arthur Wood.

These marshals are chosen on the following qualifications: scholarship, campus citizenship, social activities, and general character. As in most colleges, this is one of the highest honors obtainable on the campus.

Mars Hill Is Represented At The Southeastern I.R.C. Conference

Four Mars Hill students attended the 20th Southeastern International Relations Club conference at Meredith college, Raleigh, March 26-27. The theme was "America and the Post-War World."

Henry Huff, Bob Harris, Glenn Brown, and Julian Hamrick represented Mars Hill. Harris led a round-table discussion of "For What Do We Fight?" Huff led a round-table discussion of "The Future Peace."

Huff was elected vice-president of the Southeastern International Relations clubs.

Irene Glass To Head Y.W.A.

Irene Glass, of Greensboro, was recently elected Y. W. A. President for the school year of 1943-1944. The Young Woman's Auxiliary is fortunate in finding such a capable leader to fill the office of president.

Our thanks and congratulations go to Harriet Orr who has served faithfully and successfully in the position this year. The $200 offering at Christmas and the $100 Annie Armstrong offering for home Missions are tangible evidence of the energy and interest that have gone into the work this year. The intangible evidence is daily evidence on the campus.

Mars Hill Speakers Win Six Grand Eastern Scholarships

Huff, 3; Gordon, 2; Floyd, 1.

Four students from Mars Hill represented the college at the Grand Eastern tournament, which was held in Charlotte, April 4-10. Those making the trip were Florence Gordon, Edith Floyd, Henry Huff and Bob Harris. This tournament is held annually and is sponsored by Winthrop college, Rock Hill, S. C. There were thirty colleges entering the tournament, including twenty-seven senior colleges. Harris and Huff placed third in the big five debaters for boys. The University of Florida and Wake Forest college were first and second place winners. Contests other than debating were also held. Out of these, six Grand Eastern championships were won by Mars Hill. Harris won a round of problem solving, Florence Gordon, two rounds of address reading and the finals and also a round of poetry reading and the finals. Both rounds and the finals of the girls situation oratory were won by Edith Floyd. Huff won two rounds of impromptu and the finals, two rounds of situation oratory and the finals, and one round of response-to-the-occasion and the finals. To sum up the results, Mars Hill won six Grand Eastern Championships, taking nineteen first places.

This is another bright chapter in the story of Mars Hill forensics. For years Mars Hill has been highly recognized for the superior quality of speakers going to tournaments. Often it has been the only junior college invited to participate in major tournaments. There has been a consistent record of victories and fine records, and the group this year has surely added others of which we are justly proud.

NAVAL V-I AND MARINE EXAM. APRIL 20

Dean Lee announced this week that the Naval V-I and Marine examination would be given to college students April 20, in Wall 44. For full information you should see Dean Lee.
