

BOUNCERS - WOLVES IN INITIAL BATTLE TODAY

Gridsters Select Cheerleaders

The members of our two football teams, the Bouncers and the Wolves, served as judges to choose their respective cheerleaders from the group of girls who tried out.

The Bouncers selected Susan Harbison, Fran Blake, Jane Frazier, "Dot" Sharpton, and "Pete" Tyson as their cheerleaders. Randy Hines, Frances Hancock, Sax Newton, Eleanor Clarke, and Martha Ann Mauney were selected by the Wolves to lead their cheers.

means safety for our convoys. In his school at the Boston Navy Yard, he has been in constant contact with members of the American, British, Canadian and French fleets. Lieut. Howell reported for duty at San Diego after his leave. He will remain there for 15 weeks, after which he will report back to Boston for final training and to receive his assignment. Before entering the service, Lieut. Howell was professor of mathematics at Mars Hill.

Major I. N. Carr was here on leave from Atlanta, Georgia. Before entering the service he was dean of this college. He had been connected with the college since 1923. He was in the first World War and was a reserve officer when he was called to the service. Immediately after entering the service, Major Carr was sent to the West Coast, where he spent one year. Since last June he has had a special assignment in Pre-Induction Training and is now attached to the Fourth Service Command in Atlanta. It is his duty to contact principals and superintendents of high schools to discuss with them the needs of the army in relation to the prospective inductees. He works with college officials in connection with students under 18 years of age. Major Carr stated that the army is interested in a long range program of education.

Ensign James Cowan, who was formerly director of physical education for men, is now completing his training in Washington, D. C. Previous to this, he had two months' training at Dartmouth and two months' at Princeton. He then reported to Miami, where he will again report after he leaves Washington.

Mr. H. Raworth Walker, who taught chemistry here, is now a cadet in the army air corps. He is at Denison University, in Granville, Ohio. When he finishes his course there, he will report to one of the four leading universities which train specialists in meteorology. After that he will go into active service as a graduate meteorologist. There is a great need for well-trained men in this branch of the service, especially since every bombing mission and every air base must have its own meteorologist.

Euthalia

A predominantly lyrical program was presented by the Euthalian Literary Society on October 1. Bob Gellerstedt led off with a poetry reading, "America for Me." This was followed by an amusing quiz directed by Johnny Richardson. Don Hale, improvising on the keyboard, offered more pleasant entertainment. A quartet composed of Earl Vaughn, Jimmy Pegram, Ervin Cheney, and Jack Resico sang several Euthalian songs. A stirring declamation was then given by W. C. Byrd. At the close of the meeting thirty new members were sworn into the ranks of Euthalia.

October 8 again saw the doors of Euthalia swing open on the hall of the black and gold. Frank Gregory's humorous reading opened the program and was followed by a musical selection by Jimmy Pegram. The president, Bruce McIver, then delivered an oration on "Our America." Much to the C-I's discomfort the second degree was imposed in the business meeting following.

Nonpareil

???? C-I Impromptu!!! As the Nonpareils entered the hall of black and gold, there was a tense feeling of keen anticipation among all its members. In the silence of the hour as the secretary called on those "unsuspecting" speakers of the evening, the C-I's proved their abilities in debating, oratory, and impromptu speaking. They presented the following informal program:

I. Original Song, Mary Belle Norton, accompanied by Celeste Porter.

II. My Most Embarrassing Moment, Ruth Tilson.

III. Debate: Resolved, That of the two sexes men are the more deceptive.

Affirmative: Marjorie Bell and Phyllis Penley.

Negative: Helen Allen and Iula Newsom.

IV. Once upon a time, Clyde McLeod.

V. Vocal Solo, Margaret Hoyle, accompanied by Miss Lois Fisher.

in the Air Corps at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina. He is a link trainer. He received his basic training at Rantoul, Illinois. He was English professor and band director at Mars Hill before entering the service.

Mars Hill is indeed proud of these who have left our campus to join the gallant ranks in the fight for freedom.

PUBLICATIONS

Laurel

McClain

I. Brown

G. Brown

The Laurel staff has selected its leaders and is making plans for the 1943-44 edition in spite of difficulties brought about by the war.

Rachel McClain has been chosen as editor-in-chief. Assisting her are Harold Spangler, associate editor; Irene Brown, business manager; Mickey Cato, art editor; Grace Anderson, literary editor; Frank Gregory, sports editor; and Glenn Brown, advertising manager.

The only plans that can be revealed at this time are those concerning the senior pictures. Group pictures will take the place of individual ones and will consist of not less than three and not more than five persons per picture.

This year's Laurel will necessarily be a war time edition, but the students may rest assured that quality will be its chief characteristic.

Clio

Last Thursday afternoon at Clio Society meeting, members, prospective members, and visitors were delighted by the hilarious Minstrel Show put on by several excellent comediennes.

Clio is finding no shortage of new members this year. Fifty-two members returned from last semester, and, previous to last Thursday, one hundred and three were officially designated Clios. An approximate total of one hundred and seventy-five members is expected after the past week's tabulations are checked.

A highly entertaining program, the "C-I Impromptu," was given at the last meeting.

LeGrand

The Hilltop staff which has been elected for this year is as follows: editor, Merton Simons; managing editor, Wayne Richardson; associate editor in charge of organization, Maureen Lovingood; associate editor in charge of proof reading, Nina Guard; associate editor, Ted Hethcock; sports editor, Frank Gregory; business manager, Nathan LeGrand; advertising manager, Bob Gellerstedt; and circulation managers, Bob Chapman and Bob Waldrop.

Faculty advisers for the paper this year are Miss Logan and Mr. DeShazo.

Philomathia

The Philomathian Literary Society held its fourth meeting of the year on October 1, 1943. One of the most interesting programs of the year was given. Charles Franklin gave a number of reasons for joining the Philomathian Literary Society. A very timely query for debate was used: Resolved that President Roosevelt should run for a fourth term. The outstanding debater of the evening was Clinton Harris. After the regular meeting, the C-II's gave a trying and exciting initiation to the new members.

On October 8, 1943, a unique program was given. James

Intramurals Show Two Strong Teams

Mars Hill's first event in sports took this place this afternoon on the athletic field. It was a football game between the Bouncers and the Wolves.

The starting line-up was as follows:

Bouncers	Pos.	Wolves
Turner	le	Shoemaker
Westm'land	lt	Allen
Cooper	lg	O. Buckner
Gregory	c	Medlin
Taylor	rg	Kimberly
Baker	rt	Williams
Nolen	re	Simpson
Pitts	qb	Lee
Thorne	hb	Simons
Hale	hb	Anderson
Martin	fb	Wood

The student body evinced its school spirit by turning out in full force for this initial contest.

The second game of the season will be played next Saturday, Oct. 16.

M. H. Girls Plan Intramurals

A committee of girls, representing each dormitory, society, and class has met with Miss Clayton to organize intramural sports for the girls. These sports consist of soft ball, volley ball, tennis, basketball, ping-pong, shuffleboard, and soccer. Contests will be held during the months of October and November. Schedules will be posted outside Miss Clayton's office.

Taylor delivered a stirring declamation. Bobby Waldrop, the song bird of the Phis, rendered a beautiful selection. A Professor Quiz program was then presented, with the questions used centering around patriotism.

Mars Hill ... North Carolina

"Better Late Than Never???"

A certain train on a southern railroad had been late every day for years, but one day it gasped into the depot exactly on the dot. The marveling passengers got together and made up a handsome purse for the engineer and presented it to him with an eloquent speech, commending him for being at last on time.

The engineer refused the purse sadly, saying: "Gentlemen, it breaks my heart to do this, for I sho' do need the money, but this heah is yesterday's train."
