Starring You

"Everything that people do is known." Mark that famous quotation up for this corner. Unless you are the most isolated type, meaning that you do your wooing away from MH and if anyone sees you, it's bound to turn up somewhere. Which means that you may be starring this issue. Take a looksee . . .

The Milky Way:

Lou Hoots is very much a woman. Last week Seth was walking around in a love-sick stupor, but now she has amended things . . . Stuart Heideck is looking on the brighter side of life, too. Mag dated him last Sat. p. m. . . . Jerry has a job with Mack Harrell. She's trying to be true to Tush . . . Sonny Montgomery has possibilities of becoming a world famous writer, judging from his personal notes in Bible class. Just ask Peggy Chesson, the chief recipient . . . Joyce Wheeler, the Floridian, has cast her net and look what came up—Dub! . . . That football wonder man, Flack, has been wowing Margaret Anne Runyon . . . He's so fasten-ating . . . It seems that Charlie Harris always did have an affection for college profs' daughters . . . Theme Song of the Week dept: ". . . I'm gonna learn to be a hermit . . ." fits Henry Crouch to a little buttonhole. When there are women around Henry's not to be found . . .

Galaxies:

Roland Bailey is on the run now; Genie Jo is hot on his trail . . . Jim Kelly, football, and Jean Walker seem to go swell together . . . Margaret Lee is agile as a rabbit. She hops from man to man like a Mexican jumping bean. Her latest is Tip Eames . . . Sam McGuire and Sybil Melton must have liked the cinema last week. At least, they observed it very closely . . . Lib Foster has the longest string of H. T.'s on the campus. Is there anyone else who can match her record? You'll have to see her about the exact number . . . Is there any logical reason why Termite Gouge and Margaret Gray are seen together so much? Could it be because they're engaged? . . . Zip's new woman is really a "Snowball" . . . Martha has taken a Swann dive for Danforth Hill . . . If you were at the Phi meeting last week, you probably heard this: Harris masculine has fallen for Harris feminine.

Nebulae:

Notes are flying free and fast these days. Lloyd Young and Boots are head over heels. At least Lloyd is . . . Kent Brooks and Doris Jones make a nice looking couple while they're meandering over the campus. Lamar Brooks is martyring along. Last week he went to Asheville to see Stoney, here he studies. John Dixon is going Lulu over the fem of the same name.

SEE TWO

At Mars Hill, the Nelsons find little time for recreation beyond jaunts to the cascades and long walks.

"Chiefly," says the collegian-minister, "we go to school, eat hot dogs and conduct services." They have a formula for domestic compatability which they think might well be adopted by other couples.

"When I'm blue and discouraged, Anne sings for me and it always cheers me up," says Nelson. And ice-cream never fails to placate what he refers to as his "larger half."
