Students To Give Weekly Broadcast

Vets Initiate Discussions On First Program

Starting with the October 11 broadcast at 5:15 p.m. over WW-NC and continuing each Friday thereafter for an indefinite period, Mars Hill College will engage in a number of radio programs.

As a part of the Columbia School of the Air series, a group of Mars Hill students, under the direction of Professor Ramon DeShazo, Chairman of the Radio Committee, will discuss current issues facing our country.

For the first program of the series Mr. Carl Isaacs, Mr. Harold Bennett, Mr. James Warren, and Mr. Elliott Donnels will discuss the subject "Veterans Organizations and Politics."

Students to give their opinions on "How Can We Check Rising Prices?" the second subject for discussion, and "How Can the Housing Shortage Be Solved?" the third subject for discussion have not yet been selected.

The newly-formed radio committee, which will be responsible for the broadcasting activities of the College, is as follows: Mr. DeShazo, chairman; Miss Underwood, bibliographer; Miss Glass, secretary; Miss Wengert, and Mr. Elwood Roberts.

Evelyn McLeod On Hardin-Baylor Faculty

Miss Gladys Evelyn "Red" McLeod, Mars Hill, N. C., has been added to the music faculty to Mary-Hardin-Baylor College for the 1946-47 term. Miss McLeod, a graduate with a Bachelor of Music degree from the Norman's College of the University of North Carolina, is teaching piano.

A member of Pi Kappa Lambda, national music society, she was also active in the State Young Composer's club of North Carolina, and the College Choir, for which she served as accompanist.

"Red," daughter of Professor and Mrs. McLeod, graduated from Mars Hill in the Class of '44. During her years at the college she took active interest in musical and Nonpareil activities.

BSU Greater Council Formulates Plans

The regular meeting of the Greater Council met Sunday afternoon after first shift dinner in the college auditorium. After Rolen Bailey, first vice-president for the council called the meeting to order, Mary Copeland presented an inspiring devotion with the purpose of creating spiritual unity and a closer relationship among all officers of religious organizations on the campus which is the purpose of the Greater B. S. U. Council this year.

Instead of reading minutes, Joyce Wheeler displayed by way of chart the accomplishments of the various organizations for the month of September.

Following these preliminaries as the division of the group into smaller groups according to office. The presidents who met with

Cecil Hill, Class of '41, Is Chapel Program Speaker

Homecoming Football Game At 2:30 To Climax Founder's Day

Commemorating ninety-one years of useful service as an institution of higher learning, Mars Hill College presents its annual Founders' Day program today in the chapel auditorium. This day, October 12, was originally chosen because it was the birthday of Edward Carter, who gave the land on which the college was started.

The highlight of the morning program is an address by Mr. Cecil Hill, attorney-at-law in Brevard, N. C. Mr. Hill, whose address will be based on citizenship, is a member of the Class of '41 of Mars Hill College.

During the program on which Mr. Hill will speak, Richard Moore will sing O'Hara's There Is No Death, accompanied by Miss Mary Stringfield. An ensemble directed by Miss Geraldine Hurry and consisting of Jean Gellerstedt and Alice Puryear, violinists, and Jean Dickman, flutist, will play Orientele by Cui.

The main event of the afternoon's program is a football game between the Mars Hill Lions and Gardner-Webb. This, the third game of the season for the Lions, will be played on the college field at 2:30 o'clock.

Glee Club Plans Activities

Glee club activities for Mars Hill College have started. Mrs. Grady Souther, director of the glee club, has given facts about coming engagements of the first semester. Regardless of the fact that there are more than one hundred students in the club, Mrs. Souther has planned to utilize all the members in as many performances as possible. The glee club has been asked to sing at Moore General Hospital some time before Christmas and also at the Naval Convalescent Hospital. They are expecting to use almost entirely new music. Shortly before the beginning of Christmas holidays there will be a program of carols put on by the glee club. In this program Christmas carols of all nations will be sung. Quartets are being chosen and trained in order to lead in chapel programs of religious music. The glee club has quite a full and interesting schedule ahead of it.

Recently the glee club officers were elected. The newly elected officers are as follows: President, Ham Boyd; Vice-President, Joyce Harrell; Secretaries, Nell Thornton and Milton Bliss; Treasurer, Albert Hodge; Librarians, Paul Wilson, Bill Fuller, Polly Yandell, and Lois Hunter.

C-II Picnic Scheduled For Next Saturday

A C-II Class picnic in the form of a "food-hunt" will be held next Saturday, October 19, Henry Crouch, class president, has announced.

The hunt will begin in front of Spilman Dormitory promptly at 2:30 P.M. Miss Biggers has given her permission for the girls to wear dungarees.

222 Students Join Societies

This past week Clio-Phi welcomed one hundred six new members, while Non-Eu topped this enrollment by securing one hundred, sixteen.

The Nonpareils under the direction of Pollyana Gibbs, vice-president, presented a humorous program featuring a debate. The query was "Resolved: That a country gal would make a better wife than a city gal."

The Clio program, under the direction of Martha Jean Pope, vice-president, was entitled "Complete Character Development in Clios." The program showed the different aspects of Anniversary, Reception, weekly meetings and commencement contests.

Forensic Calendar Mapped

The Forensics Club held its first meeting Monday, September 23, at 8 o'clock, in Moore Hall. Mr. Ramon DeShazo, the advisor, reviewed the requirements and objectives of the club; and the group elected Merle Stevens president and D. T. Carowan secretary. The regular meeting was set at 8 o'clock each Monday night.

Plans for the year include sending a group to the Dixie Tournament held in Charlotte the first week in December, participating in the Grand National Tournament held the last week of April, and engaging in debates with nearby colleges. The National debate query is "Resolved: that labor should be given a direct share in the management of industry." Those interested in any type of speaking and have had any experience are urged to take part.

Dr. Melton Opens Week of Revival Here Tomorrow

Dr. S. W. Melton

Mars Hill welcomes to the campus Reverend Sparks White Melton, of Norfolk, Va., who will conduct a series of revival meetings the week of October 13.

Dr. Melton was graduated from the University of Richmond and from Crozier Theological Seminary. At present he is serving as alumnus trustee of both institutions. Dr. Melton holds a D.D. degree from Mercer and the University of Richmond and has been pastor of the Freemason Street Baptist Church of Norfolk for forty years.

The work of Sparks White Melton has been appreciated by people of all denominations throughout his state. His personal charm has won him many close friends in all walks of life, and he is affectionately known in his own city as "The Bishop of Norfolk." In a series of devotional talks, published under the title of "Will He Find Faith," the true nature of Dr. Melton's character is revealed.

Services will be in the Mars Hill Baptist Church at the chapel period and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock—Monday through Friday. They will begin at the regular services on Sunday, October 13.

YTC, Volunteers For Christ Hold Meetings

The Volunteers for Christ, an organization for persons who have given their lives for full-time Christian service, held its first meeting on September 24 in the Non-Eu Hall. The newly-elected president, Betty Fay Trotter, presided, and the evening devotion was led by Frances Orr, devotion leader. Other officers for the year are Audrey Haines, social leader; Audrey Blevins, chorister; and La Verne Austin, reporter.

Kathryn Eley, mission leader, made clear to the group that love must abide in each heart before any service can be rendered. She also gave the group an idea of the mission of work for the year. Later in the meeting several girls reported on the work they did this summer in Vacation Bible schools. The meeting was climaxed by a report from Ruby Riley, who has worked among the French Indians in Louisiana. As she told about the poor living conditions and lack of knowledge in that isolated section, she challenged the members to use their lives in helping others.

The Youth Temperance Council held its first regular meeting on September 16 in Moore Hall. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Margaret White, secretary; Nell Pleasant, director of active service; Dorcos Tate, director of social service; Jan Zimmerman, director of news service; and Faye Jenkins, historian. Plans for the year's work were presented by the president, Virginia Terry.
